MORE ROOM NEEDED.

The striking need of a more commodious assembly hall in Gresham was noticeable on Thursday evening at the graduating exercises of the Gresham high school.

While the need of a larger hall is becoming necessary, especially on the most important occasions there is the problem to face of how to get it and make it pay for its own support.

With the growing sentiment that would permit the use of schoolhouses for all sorts of public functions—a good idea in our estimation—a larger assembly room in the new high school would be ample for the growing needs of Gresham in that direction for several years.

Clackamas county voters are seeking to recall County Judge Beattie and one of the county commissioners, one of the charges being that a contract awarded to Nease & Co., for cruising the timber lands of the county was excessive and unwarranted.

Some of our exchanges are advocating the formation of a county court cabinet to act in connection with that body. The plan is to have one man in each precinct chosen to make up a board of advisers.

Portland has appropriated $2000 to be used in cleaning out the Columbia slough. The work will be done during high water and will be only preliminary to the greater work of opening it up as a steamboat channel and drain for the peninsula sewers.

Graduating exercises are on this week and next at the Oregon Agricultural college. The Outlook acknowledges receipt of invitation to be present.

Definite Plans Made to Aid Settlers From North Europe.

A splendid foundation has been laid by the State Immigration commission in the work of attracting farmers to Oregon from the countries of Northern Europe. A series of conferences with Germans, Norwegians, Swedish and Danish people has resulted in outlining the work to be accomplished and in securing the complete co-operation of substantial people of these various nationalities now resident here.

More interest is being shown in eugenics, the science of growing perfect babies, throughout the state since the first eugenics show was held last year at the State Fair. The first test of babies has just been held by the Parents' Educational bureau, of Portland, and this promises to become a regular institution.

That the Willamette Valley is the one section of the United States that can raise sheep equal to those of England, was the statement made by Prof. Thos. Shaw, agricultural expert for the Great Northern Railway, in a recent talk at Salem. He also said that here in this state conditions are such that pork can be produced for less cost than is the case in the corn belt of the middle west, while butter can be produced for 50 per cent less than in New England.

A new universal language called "Velt lang" has been invented by a professor who says that 5000 words are enough for any vocabulary. He uses 3000 English words as a support for the other 2000 and infers that he has put up a job on the dictionary that the whole world will stand for.

The Outlook was the only paper in Multnomah county that couldn't take a hand in Portland's election yesterday. It was ours to sit on the fence and see the procession go by.

How easily we converse with a good listener!

"THE BRIDGE OF SIGHS."

On the rock-lined shore
Where the waves sing low,
Where the waters ebb
And the waters flow;

We toiled in our sport
As the sun rose high,
Nor watched the hours
As they glided by;

The years may come,
And the years may go,
And the same free waves
May ebb and flow

Loganberry One of Best Business Propositions.

"From a strictly commercial point of view the loganberry seems to be one of the best business propositions that is open to the small fruit grower of the northwest at the present time," says Prof. V. R. Gardner of the Oregon Agricultural College.

"If an average of five tons is obtained, this means an income of approximately $400 an acre," he continues. "With an average yield of only four tons, a very moderate estimate indeed, the income an acre would be $320. The cost of picking amounts to about 25 cents a crate, or $20 a ton. This leaves a very good margin to cover the cost of production and for profit upon the amount of capital invested."

"Heretofore the demand for loganberries has been more or less limited. The fruit is comparatively soft and not suitable for long distance shipments. With the development of the canning trade and with the discovery that the fruit can be dried to advantage, a very large market is open to it. Canneries are willing to pay about four cents a pound or $80 a ton for the fresh fruit, the same price that they pay for raspberries and strawberries. They are able to pay this price because they can sell it to practically the same trade that takes these fruits, and it is no more costly to put on the market in cans. Furthermore, it seems very likely that they will continue to pay this price for it, for the prices of strawberries and raspberries will tend to establish a level below which it cannot well drop."

Salem has set its dates for the annual Cherry fair for July 4 and 5, and it will include a patriotic celebration. Steps have been taken to make this year's event the most elaborate affair of its kind ever held.
