

GREAT NEED OF FACTORIES IS FELT EVERYWHERE ALL OVER THE COUNTY OF MULTNOMAH

Portland Improvement Club Is Promoting a Movement for the Establishment of Many Large Factories, in the Eastern Part of This County.

PORTLAND, June 9.—(Special)—Need of more made-in-Oregon articles is being felt everywhere and especially in and about Portland. There are available sites for factories all over Multnomah county, especially toward the east, along Johnson creek, Sandy river and Columbia slough. Too much attention and effort are given to the exploiting of real estate and not enough toward the installation of factories with pay rolls. There should be small factories at Gresham, Troutdale, Fairview and other points in Eastern Multnomah where sites may be had not at great cost.

To promote the installation of manufactures in the zone adjacent to the main line of the O.-W. R. & N. eastward from Sandy boulevard representatives from a dozen improvement club gathered in the hall at East Seventy-second and East Gilsan streets Saturday night. Frank Motter, president of the East Twenty-eighth Street Improvement club, presided and delivered a talk on the need of more manufacturing establishments in Portland. L. M. Lepper reviewed the industrial situation and declared that Portland must have more manufacturing establishments and a longer pay roll, and that while real estate interests had been exploited the installation of manufactures had been neglected. Mr. Lepper pointed out that the zone tributary to the main transportation line of the O.-W. R. & N. for several miles was particularly adapted for manufacturing purposes, and declared that there should be a concerted effort to locate factories in that part of the city.

Similar talks were made by W. H. McMonies, former president of the Portland Manufacturer's association; A. N. Searles, of the Montavilla Board of Trade; J. Fred Larson, of Umbdenstock & Larson Company;

Floyd J. Campbell, of the Rose City Park club and others.

F. B. McClean, of the Beaver State Automobile company, announced that his company will install a large automobile manufacturing establishment in north Montavilla or vicinity provided a five-acre site is provided and $25,000 of the stock of the company is taken. He pointed out the tremendous possibilities of the automobile business in Portland and vicinity and said that Portland should have such a factory where Oregon made automobiles and supplies can be manufactured right at home. Mr. McClean said that his company had been offered a site in Vancouver, but that his company preferred to locate in Portland if it can be done.

After further consideration a special committee on manufacturers was appointed on the matter of locating this automobile factory in Portland, composed of W. H. McMonies, Frank Motter, Floyd J. Campbell, A. N. Humphrey, J. Fred Larson, L. M. Lepper and R. A. R. Delano. This committee will meet Monday afternoon at the office of Frank Motter to discuss and outline a plan of action.

Representatives were present at the meeting from the East Side Business Men's Club Greater East Side Club, East Halsey Street Club, Montavilla Board of Trade, Rossmore Club, Center Addition Club, Rose-City Park, and East Twenty-eighth Street Club, and a campaign for the installation of factories was started.

Would it not be feasible for the Commercial Clubs of Gresham, Fairview, Troutdale to take part in this campaign for the installation of factories? This campaign will not be confined to any one locality, but will cover the entire county. Sites might be secured in these suburban places.

IMPORTANT FEATURES OF THE PORTLAND ROSE FESTIVAL

Sweet nurselings of the vernal skies,
Bathed in soft airs and fed with dew,
What more than magic in you lies
To wake the heart's fond view.
Relics ye are of Eden's bowers,
As young, as fragrant and as fair
As when ye graced the sunshine hours
Of happy wanderers there.

Portland's annual rose festival is in full flower with roses everywhere. Nature was good this year and brought forth her treasures at just the right time to lavish them upon a whole city full of devoted subjects and a hundred thousand visitors.

The festival spirit is upon the people and the night of mirth crowds close upon the day of jollity. A varied program is being enacted pleasing alike to all who are fortunate enough to witness it, but some will see only the day scenes, while others will follow the lures of the glare of the electric lights. It is a fairy scene in its enchantment and will leave a memory of its charm in the minds of all who are "happy wanderers there."

Yesterday the reign of Rex Oregonus began when he came on his royal barge from Fairyland to establish his summer kingdom in the big city. From everywhere came delegations to greet him. The United States cruiser, St. Louis was in the harbor and saluted his arrival with salvos of artillery; thousands welcomed him to their festival and the river craft that escorted the king was a pageant that lined the channel for the whole length of the city. He landed at high noon and was given the keys of the city, and then the festival week was on until it closes in the din of trumpets and the glare of lights next Saturday night.

A lengthy program has been prepared for every waking hour of the week. Today the rose exhibit at the armory was on, with races and other amusements, ending tonight with the electric parade.

Tomorrow will be the auto pageant at 2 o'clock, followed by "A Night in Rosaria" under the auspices of the fraternal orders, at night.

Thursday will be taken up with revels at the Oaks and Council Crest and with the vehicle parade at 2 o'clock.

The shower of roses from a train of ten cars will take place on Friday at 2 p.m.

Saturday will see the end of the festival with games at the Multnomah field, ending with a repetition of the electric parade and the farewell of Rex Oregonus.

F. D. Hunt Attains New Honor.

F. D. Hunt, traffic manager of the Portland, Railway, Light & Power company, was elected president of the Portland Electric club at its annual meeting held on Wednesday night. The Electric club was organized four years ago and is made up of employees of the street railway and electric light company. The annual meeting was well attended.

B. S. Josselyn, the retiring president of the Portland Railway, Light & Power Company, gave an informal address and announced that he had received many offers to engage in business or direct the destinies of some corporations. So far, he said, he had not made up his mind as to just what he would do. He was, however, contemplating a trip to Europe.

Other officers chosen for the ensuing year were as follows: Vice-president, J. R. Wood; secretary, W. T. Buchanan; trustees, A. P. Campbell, Fred Cooper and G. J. Kelly.

Wouldn't all that program set you to thinking that the Fourth of July in Gresham is going to be something of a hummer. When the Caledonian set out to celebrate the natal day of these United States and combine their own national sports with a patriotic demonstration in honor of their adopted country there's going to be something doing all the time. And that time is going to be spent in Gresham this year.

Of course there is going to be music and feasting and all the other things that our Scottish friends can think of except long winded orations and "sich," which everyone will be glad to dispense with for once, while enjoying with them the festivities of the day that is as dear to them as it is to all American citizens.

Every preparation is being made for the occasion, and a long experience dating back for many years has qualified the various committees to act with foresight and promptness, so that the day is going to be one grand rush for everyone—and everybody is invited to be with them and take a part in the celebration.

Transportation arrangements have been arranged over the two railroads entering Gresham, and there is going to be such a crowd here on the Fourth that it will eclipse anything ever seen here before in point of numbers, and in an enthusiastic celebration of the greatest day of all the year.

WILL MOTOR AND CAMP WHERE FANCY DICTATES

G. H. Dammeier and O. W. Tarr, of Gresham; Fritz Sechtem and William Mortenson, of Portland, all accompanied by their wives, are planning an automobile tour and camping out existence in which they expect to be gone about a month.

They expect to get away in about three weeks and will motor to Newport first, where they will camp for awhile. From there they will go leisurely to Corvallis, and Eugene and then start across the mountains by way of the Foley hot springs and the McKenzie river, ending their tour in Prineville. Then they will come back the same road to Eugene and from there home.

They have provided a camping outfit that may be carried in their machines. It will include tents, stoves, beds and all sorts of provisions except what they may be able to buy along the route. Each of them will take along an outfit and set up their little town of tents wherever their fancy tells them to stop and they won't care if they never come back.

FAIRVIEW SUN DIALS WIN A HOPELESS GAME IN THE LAST HALF OF THE LAST INNING

Defeat Turned to Victory. Townsend Strikes Out Sixteen. Both Teams Do Some Very Brilliant Work. Score and Line-up of the Team.

When the Sun Dials, and the Modern Maccabees went to the bat last Sunday on the Fairview diamond there were even bets that the time pieces would get theirs. Everybody felt that they were just due for a walloping and that they were going to be paid off. Even the catcher, Milo Coons, wagered the remnants of his last week's salary—and lost.

The opening good luck of the previous Sunday had made up its mind to stay over another week, probably to show the boys where they needed their strongest props for the coming games, and they got away with the big end of the score. At the beginning of the last half of the ninth the tally showed six to four in favor of the fraternal and everybody was preparing to hand over the bouquets to them when the tide turned and the Sun Dials threw four more shadows on the score board, closing the game with all the bases full and only one man out.

The first four innings was good ball, just the kind that makes the rooters sit up and take notice. Two goose eggs, one straight mark apiece and another goose egg for each side was the sum total when the lodge members went to the bat in the fifth. They made one tally and Coons thought he saw his money returning with 100 per cent on the investment; but he was loyal to his home team in all his work and held everything that came to his mit which proved to be a score of three strike-outs for Townsend. Then the Maccabees got rattled over their little victory, went up in the air and allowed the shadow chasers three runs.

In the middle of that canto the two clubs had switched umpires and there was some loud jeering at the visitors. Ed. Heslin had guided the destinies of both teams at first, while Frank Burns had watched the plays in the field. He was behind the catcher when the three runs were made and did all he could for his team and called two men out on strikes during the inning which was a romp for the batters from start to finish. That little frolic seemed to be the end of the game for the mill feeders for the next three innings was a batters' and fielders' game for them with nary a score. The secret society made a run in the sixth and three more in the eighth the score standing at that time just six to four in their favor. That was high water mark for them, as they passed out a blank in the ninth and only had to do likewise for their opponents and claim the victory.

Then something happened! Just what it was no one will ever know, but the Sun Clocks got to work. Then they made a run on a daisy minutes with only one man out. Then they moved a run on a daisy clipper and still the bases were crowded. It only needed one more tally to tie the score when Coons came to the bat and the base runners got busy when he sent the ball out balloon chasing and then there was a tie and the prettiest wrangle ever seen on the diamond.

Coons went to first all right and stayed there. Earl Stanley went to second and as the man on third galloped home he thought it would be a two bagger and went to third. The man who had deserted second for third thought better of it and resolved to stay on third, so there were two men at that station. Stanley got back to second just in time to save his bacon but the fraternal claimed that he was out because he had touched third. After about ten minutes lost in a jaw fest and in looking up the law it was decided by Ump Heslin that he had a right to go back to second and that he wasn't out on third because the third base guardian didn't have the ball there at the psychological moment when two base runners were holding down the bag.

Then mighty Townsend came to the bat and he hit the first ball for a two bagger that let in two men for tallies and he trotted clear around the diamond chasing Coons ahead of him. They didn't wait to put the other two men out and the score stood eight to six in favor of the Sun Clocks.

Features of the game were the strike outs by Townsend, who retired the first seven men and scored sixteen altogether. Tucker, for the Maccabees struck out eight. Several two baggers were made and several beautiful flies were picked out of the air, the best one being at first base by R. Jones who ran fifty feet and held the ball.

Following was the line-up:
Maccabees Position Sun Dials
Tucker ..... p ..... Townsend
Huelat ..... c ..... Coons
R. Jones ..... 1st b ..... Emery

The Fairview baseball grounds are being enclosed with a high board fence and will be made as convenient and attractive as possible. The two games played there this summer have demonstrated that the public appreciates good, clean sport and there is no likelihood of any disturbance; but the management will have a deputy sheriff appointed as a contingency against any rowdism, the grounds being outside the corporate limits of the town.

The fence will cost something, but it will soon pay for itself in the increased gate receipts, as many rubbernecks who now view the game from the road will be compelled to put up or miss seeing the sport.

FIRE DEPARTMENT BOYS MEET TOMORROW NIGHT

The regular monthly meeting of the Gresham volunteer fire department will be held tomorrow night in the fire hall. The meeting was postponed one week owing to the burning of the Pleasant Home Mercantile company's store last Wednesday night, the Gresham firemen going to Pleasant Home to render any assistance they could.

A full attendance of all firemen is desired as there is much important business to be transacted, necessitated by the tournament.

GRESHAM SUMMER HOME OF MINNEAPOLIS PEOPLE

Geo. E. Towle and son, of Minneapolis, Minn., arrived in Gresham, Saturday and the rest of his family arrived today. They have put up some tents and will live there during the summer.

Mr. Towle, with Geo. F. and W. F. Honey bought the property west of town owned by Fred Fieldhouse. Mr. Towle is now singing his praises of Gresham and the nice piece of land he secured. He does not expect to build on it this year.

Milk and cream from my dairy can be had at B. F. Rollins' confectionery store, Gresham. P. J. Neururer. If
