"The Linotype Way is the Way that Wins."

Official paper of the Town of Gresham, Oregon.
Official paper of the Town of Fairview, Oregon.

Entered as second-class matter March 3, 1911, at the postoffice at Gresham, Oregon, under the act of March 3, 1879.

SUNDAY OBSERVANCE.

The religious sect known as the Seventh Day Adventists have always been opposed to the passage of Sunday observance laws on the sole grounds that Saturday is the Sabbath. While they are not seeking to have Saturday laws passed they are not in favor of being denied the privilege of devoting Sundays to any amusement or labor that they see fit to indulge in.

At the session or camp meeting just closed in Portland some of their ministers were plain spoken in their views concerning Sunday laws, and Elder Martin openly declared that the sole object of the Second World's Christian Citizenship Conference which opens in Portland this week was to further the advancement of laws affecting Sunday observance. He characterized the convention as being brought together for "political action and religious legislation."

Speaking further he said: "I asked one of the ministers what they were going to do about it," said Elder Martin. "The reply was: 'We are going to take the laws to the people by the initiative. We cannot overcome your lobby at the legislature.' And so that is the plan. We have moved up a peg, for we have popular government here in Oregon—the Oregon system. When a law is passed by the people it stands. It cannot be vetoed by the legislature, and the plan is to get the Sunday laws, defeated at the legislature, enacted by the people through popular government under the deceptive title of reform and morally."

"One of the main reasons for holding the Second World's Christian Citizenship Conference in Portland and Oregon is because of the Oregon system of popular government. The declared purpose of this conference is to develop a force for religious political action that will be all-powerful."

Probably Elder Martin is considerably mistaken. Not every resident of Oregon is an Adventist but there are other thousands who will not vote for a curtailment of their Sunday prerogatives. Those who believe in blue laws are in a hopeless minority, nor is it believed that the members of the conference will seek to abridge rational Sunday enjoyments even though they may have the Oregon system to help them to bring their laws before the voters.

That there is too much Sunday "enjoyment" in the nature of revelry is apparent, but the kind that would be curtailed by law is not of a kind that Seventh Day Adventists should object to. Riotous performances, and desecration of the day are not in the Adventist creed, yet they are fearful of Sunday legislation more so than ever since the enfranchisement of women.

Commercial Paper in Banking.
When a merchant gives his paper to the bank for a loan, it may not be salable outside the merchant's community, because the merchant's standing may not be widely known. That is why so much of the paper our banks deal in is of strictly local character, and is valueless as an asset when the banks need funds to accommodate customers. If we had a system for giving such paper a national market, as it has abroad this difficulty would be removed. At present our banks prefer stocks and bonds to commercial paper as security, because they can more readily convert stocks and bonds into funds when in need. No reform of our banking system will be fair to the merchant or to the whole business community which does not put commercial paper in the place it deserves, as the very best basis of credit.

New text books are to be chosen for the public schools before the fall term begins. Just another burden added to the high cost of living. Where is Parkinson?

Perverters of Our Youth

Jane Addams of Chicago gives it as her belief that a certain large number of the wrongs of which the children of the streets of a great city are the victims are "due to sordid men and women who deliberately use the legitimate pleasure seeking of young people as lures into vice, such as the dance halls designedly connected with saloons that more liquor may be sold, or the music halls which deliberately lend themselves as recruiting stations for the immoral life."

PASSING OF A PIONEER.

Funeral services were held on Sunday afternoon over the remains of Mrs. A. D. Powell, who died last Friday noon at her home here. The services were held in the Methodist church, Rev. Melville T. Wire officiating, assisted by Rev. E. A. Leonard. The honorary pall bearers were W. H. Bond, F. A. Holliday, John Conley, D. L. McLean, Thomas Ginder, N. L. Smith. Active pall bearers were Charles Cleveland, J.

MRS. A. D. POWELL.

H. Metzger, D. M. Roberts, Geo. W. Kenney, Charles Powell and George Sleret.

The procession from the church to the Gresham District cemetery was composed entirely of automobiles, fourteen in number, including the hearse. A great many went the short distance on foot, the attendance at the cemetery being one of the largest that ever paid its last respects to an honored member of the community.

At the church and at the grave there was a great profusion of flowers and floral pieces. The casket was lowered to a level with the surface of the ground and was completely hidden by the blossoms and banked around on every side for several feet. This last mark of affection for an honored pioneer woman was the tribute of many who thus gave tokens of their remembrance and esteem.

Mrs. A. D. Powell, widow of the late Dr. John P. Powell, of Gresham, Oregon, was born in Kentucky Sept. 2, 1824. She was married April 9, 1846 and with her family crossed the plains in 1852. She took up a donation land claim with her husband the following year in what was known as Powell Valley, but is now a part of Gresham, and lived on the same until her demise June 27, 1913.

Mrs. Powell is survived by four daughters and one son. They are Mrs. S. E. Wishard and Mrs. Jennie E. Salls, of Portland, Mrs. Mary McCormick of Salem, Mrs. Minnie Clannahan of Gresham and Dr. J. N. Powell of San Francisco.

Mrs. Powell was a lover of her home and family, a faithful wife, a patient and dutiful mother, self-denying in the interest of her family and friends. Patient in sickness, calm in approaching death, she retained her mental faculties to the end.

Anderson

Ernest Anderson has returned from Columbia county where he was recuperating from the operation he underwent a few weeks ago at the hospital in Portland.

M. H. Wheeler has been proceeding with his road work again since the heavy rains have ceased, and has received word from the county court that the special 10 mill tax that was voted last fall was available now. That special tax gives our precinct something over $300, which will put our roads in good shape before another winter.

There came near being a serious accident in the grading crew last week on a high fill that is being put in half mile south of county line. The large grey team belonging to J. A. Richey in some way lost their footing while near the edge of the fill, and rolled and slid down the embankment for several feet and became so entangled with the harness and wheel scraper that it required another team and several men to get them out of their perilous position, for if they had gone down a few inches farther they would have dropped over the cribbing a distance of about 15 feet onto some logs and other debris which would have surely crippled them badly and possibly been the cause of their death.

Multnomah grange met in their hall on the 26th with twenty members present. There was one new member initiated and two applications read and referred. The premium list was read for the juvenile exhibit which is to be held in the grange hall Sept. 13. The premiums, total $50, were offered by the grange to stimulate the children to make a good display of vegetables, fruits, needle work and cooking for the girls, and mechanical work for the boys. The grange also ordered a warrant drawn on the treasurer in favor of John Sleret for $100 to make the final payment on our hall which will put Multnomah grange No. 71 on a cash basis in the future.
