Preparing Grain Displays.

Instruction in arranging grain displays for the fair is frequently appreciated. Those who are preparing to make exhibits should have their sheaves gathered before the grain is so ripe as to shatter badly, and yet late enough to be properly colored. Great care must be exercised that the samples be selected at the most opportune time. Select large, well filled heads with as long a straw as possible, and grade with reference to uniformity of the length of heads. It is even better to select shorter heads if necessary in order to gain uniformity. Strip the straws clean of all blades or wrappings and arrange plumb at the tip of the heads. One effective system for securing an even arrangement of the heads is to select or make a long narrow box with no top and with one end knocked out, and by laying the straws in the box and gently jarring against the remaining end and then tying, a perfect arrangement will be secured. The straw ends may then be cut off squarely with a sharp knife.

GLADSTONE CHAUTAUQUA.
Many Local People to Attend the Coming Assembly, July 2-10.

The old time tried Willamette Valley Chautauqua will celebrate its 20th anniversary this year from July 2 to 10 inclusive with a big program replete with excellent speakers, music and other features. This Chautauqua is one of the oldest in the northwest and has been held continually at famous old Gladstone Park, ten miles north of Portland, near Oregon City, ever since the first assembly. The Park, seventy-five acres of beautiful firs along the picturesque Clackamas, is one of the beauty spots of Oregon, and annually attracts thousands of people from the Willamette Valley.

The P. R. L. & P. Co. runs from Oregon City and Portland directly within the gates of the park. All S. P. local trains stop within 200 yards of the park gates, making the trip an easy one for lower Willamette Valley people. Tents and cots may be reserved or patrons are welcome to bring their own outfits. Camps provisions of all kinds are obtained on the grounds. Cafeteria in operation.

A few of the Chautauqua stars to appear at Gladstone during the thirteen days are: Prof. R. B. Bumgardt, Col. Geo. W. Bain, Walt Holcomb, Frederick Vining Fisher, Ng Pooq Chew, (Chinese statesman,) Sierra Mixed Quartette, Tyrolean Alpine Singers, Frances Carter, Maude Willis, Matt Hughes, E. G. Lewis and Grace Lamkin.

The Chautauqua summer school will consist of talks on agriculture, stock growing, economic problems, music, art and elocution by specialists in all lines.

President Fletcher Homan of Willamette University is president of the Chautauqua. For detailed information drop a card to H. E. Cross, secretary, Oregon City. A price of $2.50 is asked for the season tickets of this assembly and include approximately twenty-six big programs in the main auditorium and no less than fifty special one hour lectures, forum hours and musicales.

IN GRESHAM AND VICINITY

A slight accident in the Bull Run sawmill on Tuesday caused a temporary shut down for the remainder of this week. Several Gresham men who are working there came home yesterday and will celebrate the Fourth here, before returning.

C. R. Wheeler has withdrawn from his partnership with Mr. Woodfin in the Powell street barber shop and is working in T. J. Halligan's shop. Mr. Woodfin will continue the business alone until other arrangements are made.

J. D. Regner is reported quite ill at his home here.

Recent guests at the Congdon were Mr. and Mrs. Augure and the Misses Hatfield of Portland, who were going by horseback to Mount Hood.

L. F. Shinnaman, of Pleasant Home, was in Gresham yesterday looking after business interests.

Mrs. T. R. Howitt and infant son came home last Wednesday.

William Belt is visiting his grandmother Mrs. I. M. McColl. The family is expected to return from Hooper, Washington, in a short time.

Miss Constance Gillman, of Portland, is spending a few days visiting at the home of D. M. Roberts.

Arthur W. Leslie, secretary of Scottish Clan Macleay, of Portland, under whose auspices the 4th of July celebration is being held here, was a caller at the Outlook office yesterday. Mr. Leslie presented us with some splendid specimens of gooseberries grown from plants imported from Scotland. He has experimented with these berries for the last three years, and has found several varieties which do well here. They are used not only for preserving, but they are a delicious fruit to be eaten raw. Mr. Leslie is prepared to take orders for plants. His advertisement appears in another column of this paper.

There will be the regular services at the Free Methodist church Sunday morning, Rev. S. F. Pitts occupying the pulpit. No service will be held in the evening on account of the World's Christian Citizenship conference in Portland.

Dr. J. N. Powell, who came here from San Francisco to attend the funeral of his mother Mrs. A. D. Powell, expects to leave for home next Sunday by steamer.

Miss Dorothy Ball, of Linneman station, spent a few days this week with Miss Winifred St. Clair.

W. R. Gould and wife have returned to their home for a few days' rest. Mr. Gould has been employed for some time on construction work on a mill at Cape Horn opposite Bridal Veil.

Mrs. B. W. Emery has returned from Portland where she spent several days with her daughter Miss Ruby at Good Samaritan hospital. She reports that Miss Emery is slowly improving.

Mrs. Maud Round, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Congdon, who recently underwent an operation at a Portland hospital, is reported to be steadily gaining.

Service at the motion picture theater on the Fourth will commence at 10:30 and the performance will be continuous all day and evening, with an entire change of program at 7:30. The day service will be a war scene of three reels and other features.

T. J. Lundbom is building a fine two-story house on his farm a mile east of Powell Valley. It will be one of the substantial homes of Eastern Multnomah.

Fritz Wirtz arrived home today from Seattle. He will spend the Fourth here with the folks at home.

Mrs. Ella Hornish and little son returned this week from a two months' visit with relatives and friends in Kansas, Iowa and Illinois.

Ed. Aylsworth's closing out sale of several lines of men's furnishings was very successful. He is still selling the advertised goods not entirely closed out and is making plans for a renewal of his stock after a brief vacation for himself and family during which time the old stock will still be on sale at reduced prices.

In a slight difficulty between H. L. Harmon and John Fox yesterday the latter was somewhat badly bruised up, having got the worst of the affray. It is said that he was struck with a hammer. He was in a serious condition yesterday but is recovering.

R. F. Robinson, formerly county school superintendent but now connected with the management of the Portland branch of the New York Life Insurance company, was in Gresham on Thursday afternoon shaking hands with old acquaintances.

BURR AVENUE AGAIN ORDERED TO BE OPENED

At the council meeting on Tuesday evening the proposed fire alarm system was debated and finally referred to the fire and water committee for investigation and report.

A petition for saloon license from Withrow & Butcher, a renewal from July 15, was granted.

A report that the alley on the west side of Metzger's addition was obstructed by a fence and telephone poles brought forth an order to the street committee to see to their removal.

Growing grass in the streets in front of city lots is objectionable to the street committee and the street commissioner was ordered to notify owners to have such grass cut and taken away.

A resolution to have Burr avenue opened was read and adopted. This is the first step in the fourth attempt to open that street. It will be followed by the usual proceedings.

City Treasurer J. H. Metzger made a report of city finances, showing a balance in the general fund July 1, of $206; and in the water fund to same date, $352.90.

WOODSTOCK CLUB ASKING FOR CONSOLIDATED GOV'T

PORTLAND, June 30—(Special)—A movement has been started by the Woodstock Good Government club and the Woodstock Improvement association to consolidate the city and county governments and have a single set of commissioners to handle the affairs of both city and county. The Woodstock Good Government club of Woodstock will hold a mass meeting in the near future when the matter will be given a definite form.

J. R. Gilstrap, who is president of the Woodstock Improvement association, declared in an interview given out this week that the affairs of both county and city should be handled and can be handled by one set of officers and that now is the opportune time to start an action to bring about the union of the same on the basis of economy. He points out the tremendous losses of dual governments in the city of Portland and two buildings crowded with officials with the result that taxes are on the increase every year so much so that to hold and own property in Portland becomes a burden.

That the cost of operating city governments may be reduced one half by consolidation is evident, in his opinion.

This movement is not a new one. It was suggested by Frank S. Fields, the late county clerk, who pointed out that such union was in the interest of economy and good sense and true economical reform. Of course, there must be consideration of the possible effects of such consolidation. However, the tremendous losses that the taxpayers of Multnomah county have sustained in the business-like manner of handling county finances in the erection of the new court house, which have been brought out in recent developments would seem to favor a union of city and county.

Just where the lines of the city would be located for the municipality would also be a matter for serious consideration, but probably this side of the Sandy river. This is really a great and important question in which every citizen in the city and county are interested, and the outcome of the movement will be watched with interest on all sides. The people at Woodstock who have the matter in hand do things when they start in, and that they will try to get results there is no question. They have in mind several other important reform movements beside the consolidation of city and county.

L. H. WELLS.

The United States forestry service and the state game wardens will co-operate for the protection of game, as well as of the forests, under an agreement recently entered into between State Game Warden Finley and District Forester Cecil. The agreement provides that rangers, assistant rangers and other officers may be appointed deputy game wardens. They will report all violations of the game laws within their respective districts and will also make arrests in cases which come under their personal observation, except during the fire season. On the other hand, the regular deputy game wardens will extinguish all small fires they may discover and all such fires will be as promptly possible reported to the forest officer in charge of the district.

Through the interest of the Harney County National bank, the ranges of that section of the state are to be stocked with high grade cows, representatives having been sent into the middle west for the purpose of purchasing high grade Holsteins. The bank has received notice that 77 head of fine young cattle have been secured and will be shipped into the county within a few days. Until this summer Burns has had to depend on outside points for its butter, a condition which will doubtless be corrected in the near future.
