Pleasant Valley

The residence of Miss McKinley, on Jenne avenue, was burned to the ground on Saturday last. The fire was discovered soon after two o'clock in the afternoon at which time the entire roof was a mass of flames, and nothing could be done in the way of saving the building. Most of the household goods were saved, but the house itself was a total loss. The building had been insured, but Miss McKinley was not sure that the policy was still in force at the time of the fire. Mrs. Parker, a sister of Miss McKinley, and family have been living in the house for the last several years. The origin of the fire is not definitely known, but is supposed to have been from a faulty flue.

Joseph Lauderwell, a young man who worked for G. W. Metcalf last spring and part of the summer, was riding down the road on Mount Scott near the cemetery the other day on a bicycle when in some mysterious manner he was thrown from the wheel and falling down into a deep ravine sustained a fracture of both lower limbs and one arm. A severe gash in one side and several minor cuts and bruises. In this condition, and bleeding profusely, he lay nearly two hours before he was discovered and taken to the hospital. He was a relative of C. C. Hargrove, realty company of Portland.
