

CITY TICKET NOMINATIONS

Nominees of Tuesday Night's Meeting. For Councilmen. GEORGE F. HONEY J. C. PETERSON GUST LARSON For City Marshal. JAMES MCKINNEY.

About 125 of the interested people of Gresham met in the Commercial club hall on Tuesday evening pursuant to a call by the town recorder for the purpose of naming three candidates for councilmen and a city marshal.

H. E. Davis was named as permanent chairman after the meeting had been called to order by Recorder Roberts. Will Metzger was made secretary. Roy Kern and Etsel Jones were appointed tellers. Then the work of naming three councilmen and a city marshal was taken up.

On motion of Dr. Thompson the names of nine persons were submitted from which the three highest were to be taken as the nominees for councilmen. Then the ballot was taken with the result as noted at the head of this column. The three candidates were the same as recommended by the prohibition convention held on Monday evening in the Methodist church. The same may be said of the candidate for marshal. In fact the Tuesday night gathering might be considered a ratification meeting to make the nominations legal as practically the same persons participated to a great extent. Out of 118 votes cast George F. Honey received 86; J. C. Peterson, 79; Gust Larson, 64. For marshal Frank McKinney got 70. All the others were scattered among a dozen or more, none of whom were seriously considered for any of the offices.

So far there has been nothing done to indicate that there will be a contest by the losing side in the matter of voting the town of Gresham dry. It is said that some action will be taken but just what the move will be is not yet made public.

At Salem, Hillsboro and Sherwood the wets have begun action to have the election on local option declared void. In each case a suit has been filed to prevent the county authorities from declaring prohibition to be in effect. The contentions are various, among them being alleged irregularities in several things. One of the contentions at Salem is the charge that the election, being a municipal affair, should have been held with the city election.

It is said that the wets of Gresham are preparing a series of objections to the recent election, but that they are waiting to see what the other places are doing before making any move. The action of the other cities will be a sort of guide for them, and there is every reason to expect a move of some kind soon.

ALUMNI TEAM IN BASKET BALL

Friday, November 21, the Gresham high school alumni will play the high school basket ball girls at the skating rink. The alumni team will probably be composed of Marguerite Michel, Mazie Schantlin, Vyola Mathews, Ethel Wilkinson and Lotie Thompson. Three nights each week are being devoted to practice by the teams, so this will most likely be a good game.

REPORT FOR STOCKHOLDERS

Following is an incomplete report of the secretary of the Multnomah County Fair association, made up to October 15. Since it was prepared there has been received the sum of $1200 on a loan from the First State Bank which covers the outstanding warrants and pays a few other small bills. An account of $25 due the association is still outstanding. Secretary Kardell will make a more complete statement for the benefit of the stockholders at the annual meeting to be held on Monday, December 1, for which notices and proxies will be mailed next week.

The Baptist Aid society met with Mrs. D. D. Jack last Thursday in an all day session, a large number of ladies being present. Work is progressing nicely and plans are shaping for the coming year. Mrs. Thos. Dunn, Mrs. Joe Hall and Mrs. Powell of Kelso were visitors of the society.

Mrs. Fenton and Miss Howell, of Portland, were guests at the Raymond Miller home one day this week.

Pete Lallish & Co. are clearing land for Chas. Hunter.

John Straus had a carload of lumber shipped to San Diego, California, to be used in the construction of his residence there. Mrs. Straus is recovering from a recent illness and will join her husband in the south during the holidays.

Adolph Sester, our prosperous farmer, has just installed a Columbia ram, which furnishes his buildings with fine spring water.

The Pleasant Home Ladies' Aid society was entertained last Wednesday afternoon with a delightful silver tea, at the home of Mrs. John Sieret. Thirty-three ladies were present and will long remember the generosity of their hostess.

BEAVER STATE AUTOCOMPANY SOON TO BEGIN

What Frank McCrillis Said: "If the people of Gresham fulfill their obligations and pay in their money we will start the plant immediately. If anyone wishes to he may put his money in escrow at either of the banks."

Gresham subscribers to the capital stock of the Beaver State Motor company, with others assisting them, have it in their power to start operations on the automobile factory within a week.

This is authentic and is the substance of a statement made in the Outlook office yesterday, by Frank McCrillis, sale manager of the capital stock of the automobile company.

Persistent rumors have been floating around for more than two weeks to the effect that the company was going to do several things besides locating its factory in Gresham. The Outlook preferred to remain silent until it could say something definitely and authoritatively. It has now been said, and when Mr. McCrillis said that "If the people of Gresham would fulfill their obligations and pay in their money we will start the plant immediately," he meant every word of it and it may be taken that he was voicing the intentions of the company he represents.

And that was not all he said, either, but a part of his conversation was confidential for a while. It had to do with the efforts he is making to keep up the interest of some who are inclined to be backward, and to enthuse some others who are not yet convinced that the company means business.

Those who have paid in their money have the satisfaction of knowing that every cent has been deposited in the two banks of Gresham in accord with the policy of the company not to take money out of the place. Those who are yet to pay are assured that the funds will remain here until actually needed for construction work or for materials. The others who have any doubts may deposit their money in escrow in either of the banks until they are satisfied of the fact that it is to be used for the purpose intended.

Practically all the subscriptions were taken on terms specified by the subscribers and upon agreement as to when and how the money should be paid. If any of them find it impossible to pay their subscriptions at one time arrangements will be made so that they may meet their obligations in the easiest way possible.

It has been reported that the company has been considering a proposition from another town, but that is not true. It is a fact that a good offer was made from Hillsboro, but the ones who made it received scant encouragement and will more than likely take considerable stock in the concern with the knowledge that the factory is to be located in Gresham.

Mr. McCrillis' parting injunction yesterday was this: "Make the thought strong, as far as the company is concerned, that it has no idea of going to any other place, and that it is making every effort with the full intention of building the factory here."

That statement ought to be convincing, but it is backed up by the assurance that the prescribed limit of $100,000 has nearly been reached. It only remains for Gresham to subscribe about $3000 more to make good on that proposition, and it is believed that it will do so at once.

Mr. McCrillis hopes to make a definite announcement within a week that operations will begin here on December 1.

CLAIMS DAMAGES FOR LOSS OF EYE

John Lisk, who was working for R. A. Neibauer on his farm near Pleasant Home a few months ago, was unfortunate enough to have an eye put out by a splinter from a steel wedge he was using in splitting wood. The accident was mentioned in the Outlook at the time it happened.

Lisk is now suing Mr. Neibauer for $5100 damages and the trial is in progress before Circuit Judge Cleeton. Lisk was splitting a log when injured and Neibauer asserts that he told Lisk to watch the wedge and let him know if it splintered, as it was warranted not to splinter by the dealer who sold it to him.

DIVORCE GRANTED, CHILDREN CARED FOR

Word comes from Vancouver of the divorce of a former well known couple who once lived at the head of the Base Line road, about three miles from Gresham. The following is taken from Wednesday's Oregonian:

"In the case of Emery E. Baker against his wife, Nora Baker, Judge Gack, of the superior court, today gave the custody of the two children to Mrs. Cecanna Baker, mother of the plaintiff, who was in the courtroom and who signified her desire to care for them. She satisfied the court that she was entirely able to do so."

DOUBLE CRIME NEAR SANDY

A peculiar murder and suicide took place seven miles beyond the city of Sandy early yesterday morning. Francis McCabe killed his wife, Amanda K. McCabe, and then himself.

McCabe took his wife to Oregon City on Wednesday and attempted to have her examined for insanity but failed and the couple returned to their home. Early yesterday morning the man shot his wife while she was asleep, then went to the home of his parents a quarter of a mile away, told of the crime he had committed, kissed his 6-year old son, fled from his father's house and returned to his own home where he fired four shots into his breast and head, dying instantly.

The body of Mrs. McCabe was found on the floor with arms folded, death having apparently been instantaneous from two wounds in the breast, inflicted with a .38-caliber revolver. This same weapon brought death to the suicide.

Two children, one but two years old are with their grandparents who are prostrated by the tragedy. The funerals will take place today from their home.

The McCabes were remarried only a month ago, after six months separation legally, the divorce having been granted to McCabe. The divorce was secured on various grounds, one of which was that Mrs. McCabe was "afflicted with fits." It is said a money consideration was involved in the divorce action.

NEW COURTHOUSE OFFICIALLY FINISHED

The new courthouse is now officially completed, although to all intents and purposes it has been in working order for a year. The contractors, Lewis S. Hicks & Co., of San Francisco, have sent to the county commissioners a written guarantee, insuring the building against all defects for 18 months. Architects Whidden & Lewis reported yesterday that the county still owes $118,886.95 on various contracts in connection with the building, $115,578.40 on open contracts and $3308.55 to the architects as fees. The total cost of the building will be $1,600,437.14, of which $82,308.55 are architect's commissions.

Hot lunches will be furnished pupils of the Montavilla school if the plans of the Montavilla Parent-Teachers' association are approved by the Board of Education. A committee from the associations made investigation of the Arleta school plan and the probable need of hot lunches in this school and the committee reported favorably. Principal Wiley favors these lunches. This committee will meet in the office of principal Wiley tomorrow afternoon to perfect the plans, after which the matter will be presented to the Board of Education.

A mass meeting of East Side citizens will be held in the East Portland branch library, East Eleventh and East Alder streets, tomorrow night to consider the proposed new trade school. O. M. Plummer, member of the Board of Education, and Judge Gatens, of the Juvenile court, will address this meeting. The matter of the trade school is pending with the Board of Education, and all interested will be welcome to attend this meeting.

Upon request of the Public Docks Commission, the city commission yesterday passed an ordinance providing for the issuance and sale of $900,000 in stock bonds, the money to be used in the completion of the West Side dock and other improvements outlined by the dock commission.

That Portland will contain 2,000,000 people some day was the prediction of Dr. W. F. Ogden in his lecture on "The Voter and the City of Portland," in the central library hall Tuesday night, while making the first of a series of illustrated lectures to be given by Reed College, as an extension course.

The Portland school district will pay $109,821.50 in salaries to 1988 teachers today for the last four weeks of their services. Never before has the payroll exceeded 1000 teachers and only rarely has its total sum of money been more than $100,000.

Not only more people, but more stock, is a great need of Oregon.

COUNTY COURT TRANSACTIONS

The matter of employing a county paymaster was referred to Commissioner Holman for investigation and report.

The resolution of October 2, creating J. B. Small roadmaster was rescinded and he has resumed his former title of road supervisor of road district No. 1.

The sum of $300 for graveling the Chase road at Powell Valley was ordered spent if available. Nils Johnson, Eric Anderson and others petitioned for the improvement.

A pipe to drain the basement of the tuberculosis pavilion at the Multnomah farm was recommended by County Physicians Geary and Cliff and the matter was referred to Superintendent Jackson.

Bids ranging from $121 to $403 for different sizes of Kewanee incinerators for the Multnomah farm were referred to County Physician Gary as to which, if either, would be most suitable for the purpose intended.

D. M. Cathey made some complaint that the surveyor's stakes were not being followed in the improvement of the county road from Cotton station and Supervisor Small was instructed to investigate. He reported that the work is now being done properly.

To District Attorney Evans was referred a bill for $20, submitted by the O. W. R. & N. company for money paid Thomas McMahon for the killing of a calf near Multnomah Falls. County employees dropped lumber on the right of way fence and broke it down, which admitted the calf to the track. The company holds the county responsible.

During Thanksgiving week, commencing November 23, there will be no sessions of any of the public schools of Multnomah county. County Superintendent Armstrong has been allowed $59 by the county commissioners to defray expenses of visitors at the annual county teachers' institute which will be held in Portland at the library November 24-26.

The Gresham-Damascus road improvement has been practically completed and Road Supervisor Small reported that $25 would cover the cost of making a fill at the turnout of C. J. Exley's private road. A check for that amount by Frank Micheis was taken in payment, he having agreed to pay all costs of the improvement and to wait until spring to be reimbursed.
