"The Linotype Way is the Way that Wins."

Official paper of the Town of Gresham, Oregon. Official paper of the Town of Fairview, Oregon.

Entered as second-class matter March 2, 1911, at the Postoffice at Gresham, Oregon, under the Act of March 3, 1879.

THE COUNTY FAIR.

County fair statistics, as revealed by the report of the secretary, show that the fair as an institution is growing and that it is already one of the greatest business concerns of the town. Starting out six years ago with less than $3000 for stock sold it has almost reached the proportions that necessitate the handling of $10,000 a year in addition to the value of the property now owned by the association, which is close to $20,000, with a total indebtedness of about $4700 hanging over it. The sum of $3640 will be had from the county next spring, for payment of debts and new improvements, and probably $5000 more as the state appropriation for premiums. Altogether the association is in good circumstances and with good management and good luck should come out almost clear of debt with the close of the next fair.

The present management has given complete satisfaction to the people and officials of the county, except in a few minor matters that are hard to remedy. The method of selling admissions to the grounds are criticised in some quarters and the relations between the fair and racing associations have not been altogether harmonious, but there is no suspicion of unfairness to be attached anywhere. If there is anything wrong it should be charged up to errors made three years ago, and which the management is now endeavoring to correct with hopes of success.

Everyone of the directors of last year feels that he did his duty and has no regrets. The new board is to assume the reins for next year and has the same confidence of the people that the old board had. That many of them were re-elected is a compliment to their ability, and those who were replaced are just as secure in the approbation of the stockholders and the public as those who were continued in office. Some changes are made each year, but it does not detract from a man's character for integrity or ability that he has been replaced by someone else of equal strength.

President Lewis has been untiring in his work during the past year often at the sacrifice of his personal interests. As a compliment to an efficient officer he should be re-elected.

The petition asking for the reinstatement of H. B. Chapman as county road supervisor is receiving signatures wherever presented. Mr. Chapman served over ten years and is well known. He knows the needs of the county in respect to roads—better than any other man. He was let out of the position following the change in the board of commissioners, and for no good reason that could appeal to the taxpayers of the county. It is strongly urged that he be reinstated.

CREDIT CURRENCY.

The national currency bill, which is under consideration in congress and which Representative Lafferty lately assured us would become a law in January, is probably the most important piece of legislation to be adopted by the present congress. Yet there are many who know nothing about it. No one fully understands it or its importance, yet there are some features easily understood.

People in this country have so long been accustomed to national bank notes, based upon government bonds, that it has taken time for the public to come to clearly understand what is meant by credit currency, a provision for which is a conspicuous feature of the proposed currency legislation. The bill now under consideration by the senate committee on currency and banking authorizes regional banks to issue bank notes on approved commercial paper—that is to say, a currency elastic, capable of expanding to meet the needs of the business of the country and at the same time automatically contracting in periods when the demand for money slackens. It is not a new idea, and its practice in some of the leading countries of Europe has proved highly satisfactory. Perhaps the most striking illustration is offered by the bank of England. Bank of England notes are a standard of circulation throughout the world. Under the banking act, bank of England, as a bank of issue, may put out notes in exchange for ordinary securities, to the value of 18,450,000 pounds. This is a purely credit currency, without an ounce of gold behind it, so far as legal requirements are concerned. No one, at present appears to know why this particular limit was set, but it is assumed to have been the result of compromise when the bill was under consideration by parliament. But the limit—more than ninety million dollars—is not important. It is the principle with which the people of the United States are just beginning to take an intelligent interest. It is fair to assume that if credit currency has proved so satisfactory in Great Britain, it may safely be adopted in this country, and it is noticeable that of late the discussion has been more as to the number of regional banks and their method of control than as to a medium of circulation based upon prime commercial paper.

Our city council should now pass an ordinance adopting a registration law for the city. The Salem council has adopted such an ordinance legalizing the recent registration. That act is of doubtful legality on the part of Salem, which it is presumed already had a registration law. Gresham has no registration requirement but should and can legally adopt an ordinance, providing for a permanent registration and legalize, so far as the town is concerned, the recent registration made under the provisions of the permanent registration act which has been declared void by the supreme court.

The Outlook's holiday number will be issued on December 16. Those having matter for publication on that date, especially our community correspondents, are requested to begin sending in anything suitable for us to go to work on. We are anxious to "avoid the rush."

Today's election cannot be announced in this issue but there is every indication that the Citizens' ticket will be victorious. Gresham will endeavor to sustain the reputation made at the other election last month and elect a set of prohibition officials.

Salem's charter election was another dry victory, the majority being 930 in favor of prohibition against 487 on November 4. There was very little opposition from the wet forces.

HOP GROWERS MEET.

Declaring that speculators by combining for the control of prices have made fortunes at the expense of the hop industry during the last 20 years, a meeting, attended by 76 representative hop men, was held at Salem a few days ago. Deciding that by an organization of their own the hop growers can regain and keep control of the market in the future, a committee was appointed to draft a comprehensive plan for a statewide union among the growers. According to the plan discussed, the union will maintain an information bureau with agents at London and New York to keep it advised as to market conditions and prices. It is estimated that through such organization at least $75,000 per year can be saved to the growers in the matter of supplies, which could be bought in wholesale quantities, and an additional $125,000 in commissions which have heretofore been paid to middlemen for disposing of the crop.

The Oregon Farmer, a publication of the State Immigration Commission is just off the press, and copies will be supplied free of charge to anyone interested. It is a careful resume of the agricultural situation in Oregon and contains a vast amount of valuable information for every farmer in the state.

Score another victory for the want ad. F. M. Ghormley is sorting out a wife from forty applicants at Spokane, all of whom replied to his call for a helpmeet in a newspaper.

California Woman Seriously Alarmed.

"A short time ago I contracted a severe cold which settled on my lungs and caused me a great deal of annoyance. I would have had coughing spells and my lungs were so sore and inflamed I began to be seriously alarmed. A friend recommended Chamberlain's Cough Remedy, saying she had used it for years. I bought a bottle and it relieved my cough the first night, and in a week I was rid of the cold and soreness of my lungs," writes Miss Marie Gerber, Sawtelle, Cal. SUMMONS.
In the Circuit Court of the State of Oregon for the County of Multnomah.
Ida A. Stewart, Plaintiff, vs. Aaron A. Stewart, Defendant.
To Aaron A. Stewart, the above named defendant,
In the name of the State of Oregon, you are hereby required to appear and answer the complaint filed against you in the above entitled suit and court on or before December 12th, 1913, that being the date fixed by the court for you to appear and answer herein and being six weeks from the date of the first publication of the summons, and if you fail to answer within such time, for want thereof, the plaintiff will apply to the court for the relief prayed for in her complaint; for a decree of this court dissolving the bonds of matrimony now existing between the plaintiff and the defendant; leave to resume her former name of Ida A. Hunter, on the grounds of gross habitual drunkenness, cruel and inhuman treatment and desertion, and for such other and further relief as to the court may seem just and equitable in the premises.
This summons is published pursuant to an order of the Honorable T. J. Cleeton, judge of the above entitled court, made on October 29th, 1913, directing that the same be published once a week for six successive weeks in the Gresham Outlook, a newspaper of general circulation, printed and published at Gresham, Multnomah county, Oregon.
Date of first publication Oct 31, 1913.
