"A short time ago I contracted a severe cold which settled on my lungs and caused me a great deal of annoyance. I would have had coughing spells and my lungs were so sore and inflamed I began to be seriously alarmed. A friend recommended Chamberlain's Cough Remedy, saying she had used it for years. I bought a bottle and it relieved my cough the first night, and in a week I was rid of the cold and soreness of my lungs," writes Miss Marie Gerber, Sawtelle, Cal. A co-operative enterprise is now under way in one farming community in Wisconsin which might profitably be copied in many parts of Oregon in which, for various reasons, difficulty in marketing farm products has been experienced in the past. In that particular community they are building a packing plant for the purpose of disposing of their surplus livestock in the same way the big packers in Chicago handle stock. Careful investigation of marketing conditions has been undertaken and the promoters are assured of an outlet for all products and a much higher return to stockmen than can be secured under present conditions. This fact of co-operation in Wisconsin is remarkable only in regards the character of the business undertaken. In Oregon there is abundant opportunity for the establishment of co-operative creameries, canneries and even for a number of starch factories. The raw products for maintaining such industries can readily be produced in enormous quantity, and apparently all that is lacking is the initiative and the community spirit which should be as highly developed in Oregon as in any other state. We have some co-operation in marketing, the results of which have been fairly satisfactory, but there is profit for the farmer and benefit to the community in the extension of the policy to a point where it will unite the interests of producers over a considerable territory and which will, to a great extent, do away with the unsatisfactory marketing conditions which now exist.
