Troutdale

TROUTDALE, Dec. 31.—A prettily decorated wedding was solemnized here on Christmas day when Miss Sadie Wright became the bride of Roy S. Phillips, of Vancouver, B. C., at the home of the bride's mother, Mrs. Wm. Wright, Rev. Thomas Robinson officiating. The bride was beautifully dressed in white crepe de chine with white silk and carried roses. Alice Reynolds, a niece of the bride acted as ring bearer. The ceremony was prettily decorated in evergreens and cut flowers and after the wedding a sumptuous dinner was served. The groom is managing editor of the British Columbia magazine. After spending a few weeks in California the happy couple will be at home to their friends at Vancouver, B. C. Those present at the wedding besides the bride's mother and the officiating minister were, Mr. and Mrs. F. Baumerman, Mrs. Anna Reynolds, Mrs. E. Hubbard, Misses Helen Rook and Alice Reynolds and Harry Hubbard, of Portland and Mr. and Mrs. Will Wright of Troutdale.

Miss Myrtle Johnson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Will Johnson and Barbara McNeil were quietly married in Portland on December 24. They will reside in Portland where the groom is in the employ of the Standard Oil company. Their many friends here extend their heartiest congratulations.

The following party from Portland were guests at the C. I. Raker home last Sunday: Mr. and Mrs. W. S. Raker, Mary Raker, Hettie and Sam Raker, Dorothy Wivle and Phil Wivle.

Important reasons why the proposed railroad between Boring and Sandy should be built along the side instead of along the middle of the road. The proposed railroad between Boring and Sandy should be built along the side of the road as was unanimously agreed at the meeting at Sandy, for the following reasons. As all the horses in the country are not used to trains it is necessary to have as much room as possible to turn out, thus avoiding accidents. Passengers can always get on and off on the safe side, whereas if the track is in the middle autos and vehicles passing on both sides will make a constant danger of accidents as well as being inconvenient for all concerned. The company proposes to keep up a wagon road along the track if it is built in the middle of the road, but as everyone knows, it is impossible to keep up a good wagon road on top of ties as gravel will not pack over ties, and it would be almost impossible for a heavy load to turn out over rails four inches high, and a sidling grade. Then there would be two narrow strips of road to keep up instead of one whole side. And does anyone think a railroad company is going to keep up a good wagon road in opposition to itself? Should the road be electrified the wires will be a constant source of danger directly above the road. If the track is built in the middle, the present road will be torn up and all traffic stopped for months, which would injure business of all kinds. As for mail boxes they can be put outside of the track next to the road, making it easy for the mailcarrier to drive up to them. In answer to the argument that it is dangerous to be obliged to cross the track to get the mail, is it any more dangerous to cross a track of 4 feet than to travel along the track for seven miles? Every sensible argument favors having the track on one side leaving the other side free for traffic which will not be obliged to bother turning out of the way for the cars.

Miss Stella Jonsrud, who has been employed as stenographer at Kennewick, Washington, was taken suddenly ill with appendicitis a few days before Christmas. Her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Gilbert Jonsrud, on receiving the news went immediately to Kennewick, and in a few days were able to move their daughter to Portland where she was to undergo an operation on Tuesday. Her many friends hope for her speedy recovery.

The Neighborhood club will have a debate at the schoolhouse on Saturday evening, January 3, 1914.

Columbia Heights

Christmas is now past, friends and relatives who helped to make the holidays merry everywhere, have gone back to the city, to take up their work and attend to duties awaiting them. The end of the old year is close at hand, and while it proved to be a far better year than the year before, for which we are all so grateful, we now look forward with great anticipation to 1914. May our great and beautiful nation be blessed with peace and plenty, and first and foremost, work for the poor unfortunate men who are willing to work, and have families depending on them. Let us work harder than ever before for good, sound, honest government, and stand shoulder to shoulder to down all corruptive political graft and rut, and then at the end of next year, we all can join in saying, "well done." And now for a happy and prosperous New Year to the editor of the Gresham Outlook, and his family, and to all of the readers of the Outlook.

Mr. and Mrs. C. Illidge spent Christmas in the metropolis and while there, took leave of the parents, Mr. and Mrs. Illidge, Mr. and Mrs. King, of the firm of Olds & King, who will leave in a few days for the Orient. They will visit China, Japan and the Philippine Islands, and expect to be gone about three months.

His Stomach Troubles Over. Mr. Dyspeptic, would you not like to feel that your stomach troubles were over, that you could eat any kind of food you desired without injury? That may seem so unlikely to you that you do not even hope for an ending of your trouble, but permit us to assure you that it is not altogether impossible. If others can be cured permanently, and thousands have been, why not you? John R. Barker, of Battle Creek, Mich., is one of them. He says, "I was troubled with heartburn, indigestion, and liver complaint until I used Chamberlain's Tablets, then my trouble was over." Sold by Gresham Drug Co., and all Dealers.
