Official paper of the Town of Gresham, Oregon. Official paper of the Town of Fairview, Oregon.

Entered as second-class matter March 3, 1911, at the Postoffice at Gresham, Oregon, under the Act of March 3, 1879.

W. C. T. U. COLUMN

Oregon dry in 1914. Dry sentiment grows in Gresham. Many who opposed local option for Gresham, will vote for state prohibition.

The substantial brick building, corner Main and Powell streets, erected for saloon purposes, and occupied only a few days before the town went dry, has been beautifully transformed.

Instead of the disgusting display of bottled whiskey, (or bottled misery if you please,) you see through the large plate glass window, a most inviting display of delicatessen goods. No blinds, or, high, small windows needed to hide the actions of the patrons now.

What a delightful change! Surely the improvement has begun.

The no-license people feel that the results of the election justify a forward movement for a "Dry Oregon in 1914," for which the W. C. T. U. and the Prohibition party have been preparing.

These two organizations have reason to be proud of their part in the recent contests. In nearly all cases the W. C. T. U. was a potent factor and in many instances the dry campaigns were managed by the Prohibitionists.

A Licensed Christmas Horror.

On Christmas evening, a big crowd of miners and their children were gathered at a Christmas eve celebration at Calumet, Michigan. They were a merry lot, full of the spirit of the evening.

Suddenly a half drunken man, spewed out of a nearby licensed saloon, thrust his head in the door of the crowded hall with a cry of "fire," so the papers say.

A panic was started in which eighty persons, mostly little children, were crushed to death. It turned a merry making party into a night of horror.

The little children were letting whisky alone, but whisky did not let them alone.

A bogus alarm by a drunken victim of the licensed saloon crushed out their life and turned the whole city into mourning.

The licensed saloonkeeper made a little money out of it and the city got a little revenue and the Federal Government got in its graft to the extent of twenty-five dollars.

The bodies of the little folks bear mute testimony to the beauties of the licensing system.

BRIDGE CONTRACT SIGNED BY WEST

Contracts with Waddell & Harrington, of Kansas City, for the designing and supervision of the construction of the new Columbia River Interstate bridge were returned by Governor West yesterday with his signature, completing the engagement of the engineering firm. One copy of the signed contract was delivered to the Multnomah County commissioners, one copy to the Clarke county commissioners, and a third copy to E. E. Howard, member of the engineering firm, who is in charge of the Portland office. The fourth copy was retained by Governor West.

The contract was signed by Governor West Saturday, after it had received the signatures of the Multnomah and Clarke county commissioners and Mr. Harrington, who signed the agreement Friday. The contract was drafted following a conference of the Governor with the commissioners held at Vancouver Thursday.

Preliminary surveys to determine the location of the new bridge and the approaches will be begun tomorrow by a corps of engineers under the direction of Mr. Howard. Mr. Harrington, who has gone to Washington, is expected to return about February 1.

A hundred unemployed men invaded Salem on Sunday and camped in front of the governor's door. They were given shelter in a church and fed and later some of them were given work. The others were provided for temporarily.

Four republicans, three democrats and one progressive have started in the race for governor. As there is luck in odd numbers the republicans will have no show at all, at all.

Best Cough Medicine for Children "I am very glad to say a few words in praise of Chamberlain's Cough Remedy" writes Mrs. Lida Dewey, Milwaukee, Wis. "I have used it for years both for my children and myself and it never fails to relieve and cure a cough or cold. No family with children should be without it as it gives almost immediate relief in cases of croup." Chamberlain's Cough Remedy is pleasant and safe to take, which is of great importance when a medicine must be given to young children. For sale by Gresham Drug Co., and all Dealers.

liming her finis. "You certainly have grown thinner in the last few months, my dear. Are you taking an anti-fat cure?" "Goodness, no! It's only the anger the new cook is causing me that does that."

"And are you not giving her notice?" "Of course not. I want to worry down to seventy kilos. Then out she goes."—Meggendorfer Blatter.

Making It Pleasant. Small Willie was entertaining his big sister's beau in the parlor. "Mr. Green," he asked, "how many pennies have you got?" "I haven't any at present, Willie, I'm sorry to say," he replied. "Then mamma was right," continued the little fellow. "She told sister last night that you didn't have any more sense than a rabbit."—Chicago News.

Not Too Important. "I hear Brown's been promoted again." "Yes." "That's splendid! He must be quite an important member of the concern now." "Oh, I guess not. The office boy still calls him by his first name."—Detroit Free Press.

A Lack of Foresight! The primary teacher asked for volunteers in story telling or singing, and one little girl finally offered her services. She came to the front of the room and after standing quietly for a moment, turned to the teacher and remarked: "Gee! I wish I had kept still."—Ladies' Home Journal.

He Counted. "Go and see if there are any crows in that field of corn," said the farmer to his hired hand. The boy presently came back with the news that he had counted fifty-four. "Did you drive them away?" asked the farmer. "No, sir," replied the boy; "I thought they were all yours."—Exchange.

An Accomplished Cow. According to this advertisement in an English country paper, there is a cow in England which is possessed of rare accomplishments: "Wanted. — A steady, respectable young man to look after a garden and care for a cow who has a good voice and is accustomed to sit in the choir."

His Question. Optimo—It is estimated that the college education which costs $2,500 is worth $25,000 later on. Pessimio—But in how many cases does the father who invests the $2,500 get the $22,500 profit?—Denver Republican.

Disease and Remedies. It is almost a truism among physicians that the intractability of a disease may be measured by the number of "infallible" remedies for it which from time to time have been recommended.—London Times.

An Outsider. Sultor—Your daughter, sir—well, er—she told me to come to you—she says you—Pater—Quite so—I understand Let's see, are you Mr. Bronson or Mr. Wibbles? Sultor—Why, I'm Mr. Hotchkiss!—Cleveland Lender.

Sociologist Defined. "Uncle Henry, what is a sociologist?" "A sociologist, my boy, is a person who can inspect a garbage can and find enough material in it for a long lecture on the needs of society."—Chicago Tribune.

Went a Shade Better. "You—you are temperamentally impossible!" roared the first angry man. "And you," replied the second, getting red in the face, "are temperamentally inconceivable."—Philadelphia Ledger.

Not Much of It. "What do you think of my new ball dress, Edwin?" "Is that the latest?" "The very latest." "It looks somewhat like the earliest."—Puck.

A Great Science. The greatest science we can study is the science of living with other men. There is no other thing that requires so much education, so much wisdom, so much practice, as how to live together.

Prepared For a Longer Campaign. She (of the suburbs)—You seem to feel it very keenly that I have refused you. He (of the town)—Well, as a matter of fact, I just got a season ticket out here.—Filegunde Blatter.

Quite Easy. Aunt Alma—So you took your first dancing lesson today. Was it difficult? Small Louise—No. All I had to do was keep turning round and wiping my feet.—Exchange.

Chronic Constipation Cured. "Five years ago I had the worst case of chronic constipation I ever knew of, and Chamberlain's Tablets cured me," writes S. F. Fish, Brooklyn, Mich. For sale by Gresham Drug Co., and all Dealers.
