His Stomach Troubles Over.
Mr. Dyspeptic, would you not like to feel that your stomach troubles were over, that you could eat any kind of food you desired without injury? That may seem so unlikely to you that you do not even hope for an ending of your trouble, but permit us to assure you that it is not altogether impossible. If others can be cured permanently, and thousands have been, why not you? John R. Barker, of Battle Creek, Mich., is one of them. He says, "I was troubled with heartburn, indigestion, and liver complaint until I used Chamberlain's Tablets, then my trouble was over." Sold by Gresham Drug Co., and all Dealers.

Columbia Heights

What to do for our boys and girls, so as to keep them at home on the ranch, was one of the subjects on the program last grange day. It is one of the greatest and most responsible duties that we parents have to deal with and a subject for great study. I am sure that the success of ranching and developing of our land depends a great deal on the interest that our children have cultivated for the life in the country, during their childhood. To make farm life pleasant and interesting there must be a love for it, or it will be like going up stream. If we stay and ask ourselves why it is so many children leave the ranch, and drift to the city, we will find it is possibly the parents own fault. Suppose we have neglected the matter greatly, never attempting to make farm life interesting, for instance. We cannot expect to make our girls and boys work early and late, every day and forever with nothing to show for their labor. For instance I think parents should take their sons and daughters into their confidence. Let them help to plan for future success—what to seed and plant, that might give the best results. A good idea for the boys would be to give them a piece of land to work and experiment with to their hearts content. It would give them encouragement toward thrift and usefulness. I also think that mother should, with the aid of her daughters, try to make the home as cozy and attractive as means will allow. It is not always the question of money, but more often the gift of knack, to place and arrange your home so it will give you comfort. I never could see why a farmer's home shouldn't be as nice in every respect as city homes. A mother should have a system to her household, so as to have some time for more gentle work like all kinds of needlework, some time for rest and there should be time for pleasure as well.

Good books can be obtained at any time from the local library, that would occupy the long evenings during winter. Music is something that there ought to be in every home. There is nothing in the world that can charm or soothe a person's moods as songs and music. We should also help to select good company for our children, so when out of sight there would be no need of worrying, where they might be, or what kind of pleasure they might indulge in. If these can be accomplished I believe it will be few boys and girls that will prefer the city life with its many evil temptations. Let it be our main object to raise our children to respect and honor their parents. How happy we all shall be to hear them say, "No place like home!"
MRS. P. ANDERSON.
