somewhat indisposed, but trust it's only a little touch of spring fever.

Don't overburden with more taxes, the all ready struggling farmer who is trying to improve his land and get a few dollars put by to improve his home. Columbia Heights

The voices of our little friends that we love so dearly to hear in the spring are here again. The frogs are having a jolly concert in the evenings, the robin is busy and the meadow lark is filling the air with its beautiful singing, all of which tend to remind us of a busy season that is fast approaching. The mild winter is causing nature to wake up, the bulbs in the garden are breaking through, the clover is showing its tiny leaves, and the meadows will soon be green. The ranchers at the heights are out behind the plow, preparing for the spring crops. In New York, at this time they have a fierce blizzard. Who could it be that wouldn't appreciate to live in Oregon?

The camp at the Heights is almost finished, and is large enough to accommodate 135 men, who will be employed to work on our highway. Mr. Speaker has charge of the camp. The men are paid $2.25 a day, and must pay 25 cents a meal. We now notice men in threes and fours, coming along with their blankets everyday looking for the camp.

A party was given to a number of the young folks of the Heights last Wednesday, at the home of Mr. and Mrs. A. Woodward. Games of all kinds were the pastime and refreshments were served at midnight. Miss Alice Stamp, who has been a guest of the Woodwards lately left last week. Miss Hazel Bram left for Puget Sound on Monday, where she has a position as bookkeeper.

Several friends were dinner guests at Columbia View farm on Sunday. Miss Ada Jackson, who has been bedfast for three weeks, is now able to be up and around again.

A. Woodward was in the city on business the first of the week.

Mrs. D. Benfield and little twin boys have gone on a trip to Montecano, Washington, to visit her father Mr. Masterson, who made his home for many years in this vicinity. Mr. Masterson is 84 years old and very feeble at this time.

A. G. Sager and family, of Lents, were visitors at the home of T. P. Campbell one day this week.

C. F. Kesterson transacted business at Barton one day recently.

W. L. Rhoads has got the frame of his new bungalow up.

H. C. Restorff has got material on the ground for some new chicken houses, also a tool house.

H. F. Baker has announced his intention to erect a new house on his place this spring.

John Brown, the insurance man of Gresham, was transacting business in the valley last Wednesday.

Fred Olson has let a contract for clearing a piece of land to T. E. Taylor, which will add very materially to the looks of Mr. Olson's place.

The Forty Year Test.

An article must have exceptional merit to survive for a period of forty years. Chamberlain's Cough Remedy was first offered to the public in 1872. From a small beginning it has grown in favor and popularity until it has attained a world wide reputation. You will find nothing better for a cough or cold. Try it and you will understand why it is a favorite after a period of more than forty years. It not only gives relief—it cures. For sale by Gresham Drug Co., and all Dealers.

LAFFERTY FAVORS PUBLIC OWNERSHIP

Washington, D. C., Feb. 23. Editor Outlook:—I read the Gresham Outlook regularly and enjoy the news from Eastern Multnomah county.

Permit me to call attention to what I believe are manifest errors in the grege items on the front page of your issue of February 17. Under the heading "Public Control Great Problem" it is there stated the government ownership of the telegraph lines would mean to add a million employees to the government payroll, and that if we take over the telephones that would mean a million more.

I don't know where the author of that article got his figures, but they cannot possibly be anywhere near correct. The total number of postal employees, including postmasters, is only 300,000. The postal system is much larger than the telegraph system. It is about ten times as large. Yet it has only one third the number of employees that the writer referred to says will be necessary to run government telegraphs. The fact is that the postal department can absorb and run the telegraph and telephone business without adding very many more employees.

The total number of telegraph and telephone operators, including linemen, in the United States in 1900, according to the 1912 U. S. Statistical Abstract, page 260, was only 88,000.

When first elected to congress I did not favor government ownership of telephones and telegraphs, but was one of those who favored "regulation." But finding regulation practically impossible, I am now heartily in favor not only of government ownership of telephones and telegraphs, but also of the railroads. I now favor the taking of giant strides until the people of this country shall reap what they earn instead of giving it to greedy public service monopolies.

BIG BOOSTER CONVENTION POSTPONED

On account of the fact that a large number of the delegates slated to attend the big meeting in Portland, called for March 12, declaring it will be impossible for them to be present at that time, it has been decided to postpone the meeting until Thursday, March 26, a date exactly two weeks later than originally set.

It is expected that this change in the date will make it possible for a great many people from all over the state to attend this convention who would have otherwise been obliged to miss it. The subjects to be discussed are of great importance and a full attendance is desired.

Jones—How is your wife this season? Brown—Just able to hobble around.

OREGON COMMISSION SENDS MAN TO SCHOOL

Free to any school in the state: An illustrated lecture on Oregon birds.

As part of an educational policy of teaching boys and girls the habits and economic value of the songsters, the Oregon fish and game commission, in conjunction with the state university, has made this offer. The lecturer is John F. Bovard, professor of zoology at the University of Oregon, and the lectures are well under way. Professor Bovard has appeared at several eastern Oregon towns.

Professor Bovard carries a lantern and will give the bird instruction to the children in the daytime where the school room can be darkened sufficiently; if given in the evening, school patrons can be invited.

"We want to save the birds and we want the boys and girls to understand the value of the birds. The talks are free of expense; all that is wanted is the opportunity to present the case," says Professor Bovard.

Eyes tested and glasses fitted. Dr. Geo. Inglis.
