TAX FOR CEMETERY.

Annually for several years past, or almost annually—perhaps a few of the periods were overlooked—there has been a collection taken up for the improvement of the Gresham cemetery. The spirit that prompts the collection and the donations is commendable but there is another way of looking at the matter.

The cemetery is owned by School District No. 4 and there is no legal way to dispose of it, hence it is the duty of the district or those who have relatives buried there to keep it looking nice. The tendency of late years to convert cemeteries into parks calls for money, hence it would seem that there should be a yearly tax levied by the school district for the purpose in this instance.

There is good reason to require the people to sustain the appearance of all school property in use and it is not likely that anyone would object to a trifling tax for the purpose indicated.

At the next primary election, two years from now, the prohibitionists will succeed the progressives as the third political party of importance and will take the latter's place in the primaries.

We are holding our breath awaiting the announcement of the name of the rose festival queen. That contest was almost as exciting as the primary election.

"The Kingdom of Hearts Content" comes as a fitting climax to an exciting political campaign. The Gresham high school is in line for a vote of thanks.

It is reported that Roosevelt has lost 59 pounds in weight while in the jungles of South America. W. H. Taft should go to South America.

San Francisco advertises the lowest tax rate of any city from Stockton to New York and is getting many factories.

The Great Northern railroad has placed orders for ten million feet of lumber and 1000 refrigerator cars.

The grading crew on the Willamette valley and Siletz railroad is working as far west as Hoskins.

The Lebanon Sand and Gravel Co. has installed a lot of new machinery for a modern plant at that city.

Oil lands are being taken up very rapidly in Malheur county and many wells are being developed.

Twohy Bros. were the lowest bidders on the Columbia highway through Clatsop county.

About two thousand dollars has been subscribed to establish a pottery plant at Molalla.

The business men of Canby are trying to establish a ferry across the Willamette.

Work has commenced on a new brick building for the Courier at Oregon City.

Bids have been taken for the construction of the new public docks at Astoria.

The Southern Pacific will build a mile passing track at Mohawk Junction.

TEACHERS' ORGANIZATION.

Miss Grace DeGraff, state director for Oregon National Education association is making an effort to enlist the co-operation of all the teachers in the state in attending the fifty-second annual convention of that body at St. Paul, July 6th to 11th.

In speaking of the proposed meeting and the scope of its work she says: "The teachers of your community ought to keep in touch with the highest minds of the profession, so that they can fit the children depending upon them for the battle of life."

"Every phase of educational work will be covered in the program; every department, from kindergarten to college, will have a special section devoted to it."

"The National League of Teachers' associations, made up of teachers exclusively engaged in classroom work" will hold its third annual convention the same week. No teacher can afford to be absent. Neither can a school district afford not to have a member of its school board present."

The League of Teachers' associations is a national organization whose object is "to bring associations of teachers into relations of mutual assistance and co-operation, to improve the social and economic status of teachers and to promote the best interests of education."

The membership of the League is limited "to organizations of not less than ten grade or high school teachers regularly and exclusively engaged in classroom work." Grade teachers are expected to attain all the requirements of people who have leisure. Yet the teacher's salary is poor. She is not protected by tenure of office laws or by retirement funds. She has had no part in shaping the school policies under which she has worked. She has not been encouraged to travel or study by a system of exchange of teachers or by a Sabatinal year. She has not felt that teaching was a profession because teachers themselves have not passed upon the qualifications of those in the profession. These benefits and many others can come through the organized efforts of the class-room teachers.

In her efforts to promote the interests of the association Miss DeGraff is addressing a letter to each teacher in the state. She appeals to them to organize and have a part in the movement and is anxious to have each make inquiries for further information. Her address is 704 Lovejoy street, Portland.

The Cottage Grove Leader asks, "What's the matter with Oregon?" and then answers its own question by saying radical fever has about run its course and the reaction is ready to set in.

The longshoremen's strike to force recognition of the freight checkers' union at Portland proved a failure when passengers cancelled their tickets on the vessels affected on account of the delay.

Marion and Clackamas counties are holding road bond elections, May 15, that will, if carried, result in expenditures of over a million dollars on hard surface highways.

Roseburg people are up in arms at the threat of Governor West to annul construction of barracks for the Soldiers' Home as provided by the last legislature.

You can't most always generally sometimes tell what you least expect the most, nor how the cat is going to jump. Especially when there is a primary election.

The made-in-Lane county exposition was a great success, and concluded with a made-in-Oregon banquet Saturday night at the Osburn hotel in Eugene.

The smoke of battle is clearing away and there will be a few scorched feathers when the atmosphere is clear again.

The wool industry of eastern Oregon is passing through a season of the greatest activity, prices going as high as 19 cents.

It is proposed to hold a Umatilla county manufacturers' exposition at Pendleton some time this summer.

One Generation of Pigs Becomes Food for Next.

"Tankage connects the successive generations of pigs so vitally that one generation may become food for the next," says G. R. Samson, specialist in swine growing at the Oregon Agricultural College. "When hogs are slaughtered their blood and refuse that were formerly wasted are made into tankage and used to fatten the next crop of pigs for the market. While not a great deal of this material enters into the new lot of pigs, the most expensive parts of their carcasses are made up by it."

"Tankage is a by-product of the meat industry that is admirably suited to hog feeding, and is likely to remain the cheapest source of protein for swine. The supply is increasing as slaughter methods become more concentrated and efficient."

"At present, large quantities of materials from which tankage is made are wasted by the small slaughtering establishments. The use of a system that provides for saving this material and turning it into a valuable commercial product instead of into a public menace to health will increase the supply and assure its availability throughout the entire year."

"Swine are likely to remain the principal consumer of this product because it is neither so palatable nor digestible to cud-chewing animals. Being a product of the meat industry, tankage has a more direct relation to the swine production than has any other protein feed supply. It carries twice as much protein as lin seed and soy bean meal, nearly seven times as much as barley or corn, and costs only about one-third more. It may also be fed an indefinite time without injurious results."

With the Hill system building rail and steamer terminals at Flavel, Astoria is feeling the impulse of all kinds of capital looking for investment in development projects. One of these is the two mile streetcar extension of the Pacific Power and Light company in West Astoria. Chief Engineer Wm. H. Galvani is on the ground and the construction work will be rushed. The company has invested a large sum of money in Astoria. The officials say the company stands ready to do its part in development work, and fair treatment in return on the part of the people and the city officials. In an interview President Guy Talbott says:

"The company feels that these improvements will stimulate home building and thereby increase the streetcar traffic. While we realize that these extensions might have been put in some time ago, yet we must not lose sight of the fact that conditions have not warranted it, possibly until the present, when the outlook never looked brighter in Astoria. There is much development work going on at the mouth of the Columbia river, and the disposition of the Pacific Power & Light Co. is to keep improving its properties commensurate with the needs of the public. We all need more business and big improvements cannot be made unless they pay. It is therefore a good time for all of us to pull together."

The farmers do not appreciate selling products on a falling market to pay increasing taxes to shorten the workday of public employes to eight hours.

Polk, Yamhill and Washington county have united to put crude oil on the main roads in the county to get rid of the dust nuisance.

Arrangements have been completed for the construction of 27 miles of logging road out of Sutherlin toward Coos Bay.

Wheeler county has one lone registered profl. Wonder how it feels to feel lonesome.
