"The Linotype Way is the Way that Wins."

Official paper of the Town of Gresham, Oregon.
Official paper of the Town of Fairview, Oregon.

Entered as second-class matter March 3, 1911, at the Postoffice at Gresham, Oregon, under the Act of March 3, 1879.

OUR NATAL DAY.

When the eagle gets all his feathers polished up for Saturday and finds that his claws are sharpened to suit his patriotic stunt of clinging to the vault of heaven he will begin to scream, and then we will know that it is the Fourth of July. Gresham people will renew his acquaintance and make him offer in various ways, some of which will astonish the old bird because they have never been thought of before. The official program, which will be circulated free, will give a faint idea of what is coming, but the enthusiasm that will be rampant cannot be expressed in words. Some of the features of the day cannot be enumerated but the people from far and near are invited to be on hand and witness them for themselves.

Every detail of the celebration has been arranged and everybody is busy getting details dove-tailed together. It is going to be a stunner from the crack of dawn to the setting of the moon and those who miss it will feel sorry for themselves all the remainder of their lives.

So much has been said about the coming event that very little more can be added. It is going to be a humdinger for all, and as everybody knows how to celebrate there is no need for further instructions on that score.

The Pleasant Home band will be here by 8 o'clock and the speaker, singers, and calisthumpians will entertain the people who are not interested in the other affairs of the occasion. With a flower show, free lemonade, picnic dinners, horse races, and dancing from three o'clock until midnight there is going to be a variety to suit all kinds, classes and conditions of people, and that is what Gresham has started out to do. The whole world is invited to come and see it done.

That the population of Oregon is increasing very rapidly is indicated by the fact that an unusual number of communities have found it necessary to erect new school buildings to relieve congestion. New schools are being built at Amity, Molalla, Newport, Astoria and Vida, and in addition, several large school buildings will be erected in Portland before the end of the year.

Within the last week seven carloads of Oregon wool were shipped from Madras to Boston. The shipment aggregated 290,000 pounds and was sold at prices somewhat in advance of those of last year.

During the past week final obstacles to conveying the locks and canal at Oregon City have been removed, the Portland General Electric Company conceding states paramount right to water.

The Eugene Guard has come to the conclusion that indiscriminate minimum wage law by different states is wrong, and wants a national law.

Oregon Manufacturers' association will ask for a law to give home industries a five per cent preferential in public bids.

Another tax commission is to be created to revise the Oregon taxation system after studying the tax laws of all countries.

Salmon Mountain Mining company Curry county, has uncovered a ledge that assays as high as $30,000 per ton.

Portland business men will submit a bill to amend the constitution to make Single Tax impossible in Oregon.

T. B. Breck, of Vineland, N. J., will establish a grape juice factory in Oregon.

Laurelhurst, suburb of Portland, will have a new $16,000 Catholic church.

The State Mining Bureau is to investigate the Lake county salt beds.

Hood River will vote on $75,000 road bond issue July 15.

Bankers and Merchants Boost Oregon Agriculture.

The fostering of agricultural development was indorsed as the most important work of Oregon communities at the annual convention of the State Bankers' association, at Medford, and at that of the Retail Merchants' association at LaGrande. Resolutions were adopted by both organizations urging bankers and business men to continue their efforts to bring experienced farmers into the state, help them to locate on lands at reasonable prices and assist the farmers now here to an increased prosperity. The depression in lumber building and railroad construction is more than counterbalanced in Oregon, in the opinion of the bankers and merchants, by success in agricultural lines. Good crop prospects were reported from every county in the state.

Hearing from the Wives.

The wife of a naval officer at League Island, Philadelphia, declares that the new order of things will mean an annual saving of hundreds of dollars to the average officer. "It was getting so," she says, "that the moment anybody stepped aboard of a war vessel to see an officer the first words to greet him would be, 'What are you going to drink?'" And the cost came out of the officer's pocket. This wife says she knows of officers who are deeply in debt for the simple reason that they are trying to keep up appearances by entertaining. Her conclusion is that "there is positively too much hospitality in the navy. The officers' wives could put the money to better use."

For the first time since loganberry culture has become a fixed industry in the Willamette Valley, the fruit is being shipped to the East in large quantities. During the season at least twenty-five carloads will be shipped to Chicago, St. Louis, Lincoln, Nebraska, Kansas City and Denver. These shipments will consist of fresh fruit and will not include the great shipments of dried berries which will be made later.

O. M. Plummer, general manager of the Pacific International Livestock exposition, announces that the National Duroc-Jersey Record association, of Peoria, Ill., has appropriated $125 for the livestock show to be held in Portland this fall, thus placing this event in the ranks with the other large stock shows of the United States, a recognition which has not heretofore been made.

The Damascus man who traveled over the county looking for pigs was not a reader of the Outlook. Neither was the man who had pigs for sale. A chance brought the two men together. A want ad and a subscription to the local paper are inseparable and both are money savers. If there is no moral to this we will send a diagram upon application.

Fred and Archie Stroup, who have been visiting for the past few days in the home of their aunt Mrs. B. W. Emery, left this morning for Watertown, South Dakota, for an indefinite stay with their parents.

Every time there is an electrical storm the old fashioned lightning rod agent thinks of the glorious past.

Victor Herbert says that this is rapidly becoming a musical nation. And, Victor might add, a dancing nation.

Europe is now busy with its Balkan troubles that it has no time to frame up a scorching criticism of our Mexican policy.

Even yet a senatorial candidate might distinguish himself by doing his electioneering among the farmers from an aeroplane.

By quoting a few polo terms the ambitious young man can get away impressively with a profound ignorance of polo in the average crowd.

With a 900,000 bushel crop of wheat in prospect, Uncle Sam may presently think it about time to get back to the full pound loaf of bread.

Corbett

Mr. and Mrs. C. J. Littlepage, of Mosier, passed through our city Tuesday enroute for Portland to attend the wedding of their niece Miss Marjorie Hulbert. Mr. Littlepage returned to Corbett Thursday and spent the day looking after his old farm near here.

Mrs. George Chamberlain has been very seriously ill since Monday, but at this writing is slowly improving. Alf. A. Loeb was here in the interest of the Corbett estate Wednesday. He informs us that the Corbett land is soon to be surveyed into five acre tracts and put on sale.

Mrs. Joseph Leland is very ill at the home of her daughter, Mrs. L. Reed.

Henry Hanley and wife, of Dayton, Washington, are visiting the former's mother and sisters, Mrs. Hankey and Miss Emma Hankey and Mrs. Frank Reed.

The young people of the Christian church are planning to assist in the building of a parsonage. They will give an entertainment, followed by refreshments of ice cream and cake, at the church on the evening of July 2. Don't forget the date.

Fred C. Reed was in Portland on business Friday.

Miss Emma Hankey, accompanied by her brother and wife, Mr. and Mrs. Henry Hankey of Dayton, Washington, were taking in the sights of the metropolis Saturday.

Mrs. W. H. Reed visited her daughter Mrs. Albert Fox of Troutdale Friday.

Miss Emily Thompson, of Hurlburt, who has been attending high school in Portland will spend the summer at home.

Mr. Luscher, of Bridal Veil, was here on business Monday.

Mr. and Mrs. Henry Hankey, who have been the guests of their mother and sisters, Mrs. Hankey and daughters, left via Washougal for their home at Dayton, Washington Monday.

Sunday being the ending of the second quarter of the year, the pupils of Corbett Christian Sunday school were awarded prizes for learning verses from the Bible. Beth Pounder received first prize, and was presented a book while Harvey Letsinger took second prize.

Miss Abbie Stites spent Tuesday at the home of P. O. DeMoss.

Mr. Wagner, a real estate dealer from Portland, was viewing the fine places along the Columbia Wednesday.

"GET WISE" AND READ THESE ADS.

There's a Difference between a wise man and a wise owl. They don't look alike. A man sees in the daytime, an owl at night. An owl doesn't advertise, a wise man does. Of course he does for it pays him.

go well together, in fact, it's hard to get and keep one without the other. Make them work together and both will increase and these ads. will help you.
