HOW WAR WILL AFFECT AMERICA.

The Literary Digest, of August 15, commenting on how the war affects America, suggests that the pressing call to duty and opportunity urges our government and our men of business to take up the world's trade which Europe has forsaken for the battlefield. The New York Sun is quoted as saying that our merchant marine, once our pride, is now perhaps to be resuscitated by the calamities across the Atlantic. The present crisis is spoken of as "a supreme opportunity for American manufacturers to gain world wide markets."

"As the shock of the present experience passes away the capital of the world will be invested in such quantities as never before in the industrial and commercial enterprises of a country 4,000 miles from the crossed bayonets of Europe," declares the St. Louis Republic.

Another authority says that American women will have to wear home made gowns at last. There will be no Paris styles to display and "American fashions" will become established.

It is hoped those stranded tourists who spend their millions in Europe and are now being helped out so generously by their Uncle Samuel, will feel a lasting debt of gratitude and as a result spend their time and money in viewing the matchless scenic attractions of their home land. This will mean an important indirect benefit of the European war.

But all in all this country will suffer more than it will benefit.

Among the disadvantages to this country some of which are far-reaching and can hardly be estimated in dollars and cents are the following:

The temporary paralysis of ocean trade.
The cutting off of foreign supplies of wool, rubber, copper, tin, and a thousand other commodities which enter into our manufactures. Paper is advancing, clothing will cost more, foodstuffs come higher. Our imports have fallen off so that certain articles will have to be taxed to keep up the revenues.

And this is not all. As with individuals, when one country suffers great loss of men and money, all other civilized countries must suffer more or less indirectly at least.

"A general war," declares The Iron Age, "is not a bearer of real prosperity. One country, like the United States, might profit for a time from the distress of others, but in the long run the heavy burdens under which the warring nations would stagger on when peace had come would be handicaps from which no part of the world could wholly escape."

It took nine hours for the first steamer to pass through the Panama canal. The labor unions should order a strike at once for the eight-hour principal on the canal.

Three men with broken arms and one with his fingers sawed off, all in a week, serves to make a person think that it is dangerous to have arms and fingers.

Another recall movement has been started against Mayor Albee, Commissioner Dieck and Commissioner Brewster in Portland. It will be another flash in the pan.

The European war may serve to again build up an American marine fleet. Its need is apparent now. Here is some campaign fodder for Lafayette.

FOREIGN PRODUCTS.

There is never any great loss without some small gain. The European will help to curtail the importation of foreign eggs, if not from China at least from Germany; butter from New Zealand may cease its travels this way and some other commodities that menace our prosperity as a result of free trade may stay at home or be sent elsewhere.

Germany has been a heavy exporter of eggs to New York. Just before the war began a trade report said that there were 610 cases of German eggs in the New York market each case containing 120 dozen. It was enough to cause a slump of 20 per cent. With a cessation of importations to this coast the farmer would get better prices as an offset to a rise in other commodities.

A statement just received from O. M. Plummer, general manager of the Pacific International Livestock exposition will be of interest to every farmer and stock breeder in the state. After calling attention to the date of this year's show at the Union Stock yards at North Portland, December 7-12, he says: "The exposition is purely educational along livestock lines, there being no 'Wild West' or other amusement features and is unique in that it will pay over $15,000 in cash premiums and makes no charge for entry fee, stall room or admission. Like the International of Chicago, the Pacific International of Portland is recognized as the court of last resort on the Pacific coast. 'Premium lists will be mailed to all breeders who belong to the different breed associations; others who desire a copy may secure same by applying to the general manager. Early reports indicate 50 per cent larger entries than last year, and commercial organizations all over the country will be asked to cooperate with the railroads in forming special parties to attend the show. Bankers, as well as breeders, are taking a keen interest in the exposition and are lending their very active support."

"Smoke Day" has been set for October 12, on which occasion all cigar users will observe faithfully. It is proposed to make the occasion a nation-wide gala day for the devotees of Madam Nicotine. The official colors will be tobacco, brown and white. The more dignified title is National Cigar Day but smokers will not stint themselves before nor after in order to give it any special observance. If any cigars are to be given out free we'll take ours any time.

A plant for distilling oil of peppermint is being constructed near Springfield. O. H. Todd, and associates, of Eugene, have planted 40 acres to peppermint and will work up the product in their own factory. If the yield of oil meets their expectations, the 40 acres should give gross returns of about $6,000. The industry is likely to become important in Lane county.

From the latest returns it is evident that the wheat yield in the Walla-walla country is the largest in its history. Several thousand acres are producing their first crop and the yield on both old and new land is phenomenal, the results being directly proportionate to the amount of work put on the land last fall and this spring.

The "greatest battle in history" expected by some of the imaginative correspondents, may dwindle down to a few real sharp ones unless the belligerents get at it pretty quick. Grub is running short over there.

Governor West has closed the hunting season as a precaution against forest fires. A chunk of Oregon mist would have a better effect.

England's militant suffragettes have quit making faces at the government until after the war. They should go to the front.

Japan is expected to clear the Pacific of the Germans. That may bring the war pretty close to our own shores.

Abuse of direct legislation is shown by the attorney general when he says the bill to abolish the Desert Land board should be called, "A measure disposing of the present state engineer and putting another man in his place at a higher salary."

Columbia University Has New University.

School already sees bright prospects for a most successful year. The Rev. John T. Boland, C. S. C., for the past fifteen years president of St. Edwards College, Austin, Texas, arrived in Portland a few days ago to take up the duties and responsibilities of the presidency of Columbia University. Father Boland was warmly received by the Columbia faculty, His Grace, Archbishop Christie, and a few of the closest friends of the institution. Father Boland's predecessor, Father Joseph Gallagher, who for the last eight years governed the destinies of Columbia, has been appointed to a position of distinction at Notre Dame university, Notre Dame, Indiana. With Father Boland came Father Thomas Corbett, C. S. C., and Brother Hubert, C. S. C., as addition to the Columbia faculty. Father James Galligan, C. S. C., for several years past professor of history at the University and rector of Christie hall, replaces Father Corbett at St. Edwards college.

Buyers Week was a Great Success.

Buyers' Week is a thing of the past, but it was a week that will be vividly remembered for a long time, probably until next year's "week," which from all indications will be attended by a greater number of buyers than the one just past. The registration at the Portland Commercial club reached nearly 600 and the visitors represented practically every town of any importance in the Pacific Northwest. It is estimated that goods purchased from Portland manufacturers and jobbers during the week amounted to approximately $1,000,000. The visitors were hardly allowed sufficient time to do their buying, certainly no time to get homesick or lonesome, for entertainment of some kind was on tap nearly every minute. Receptions, smokers, theaters, banquets, luncheons and automobile trips followed each other in rapid succession during the entire week. If any one had a complaint to make he did not make it public, and most of the visitors departed with a hearty, "See you again next year," and expressions of deep satisfaction with the business and social events of their short vacation.

Grain Ration While Hogs are on Pasture.

The following from T. W. Cross is authority on feeding hogs, and the advice given will prove beneficial to those who are raising them either for market or home use: While the cost of producing pork may be reduced materially by the use of such roughage as alfalfa hay, roots, or green pasture forage, it is desirable to feed grain or other concentrated feed in addition. Mature, dry brood sows are sometimes maintained in an apparently satisfactory condition on good pasture alone. Young growing hogs, on the other hand, usually become ungainly in shape, big bellied and thin in flesh or stunted when compelled to subsist on pasture alone.

Hog growers differ quite widely regarding the quantity of grain that should be fed while on pasture. Some feed a full grain ration, i. e., all the grain the hog will consume, others feed a medium ration, one that is equal to about two or three per cent of the low weight of the hog. Still others prefer a light grain ration, one that is equal to only about one per cent of the live weight of the hog.

Occasionally men are found who run young shoats on pasture without other feed. This is a mistake, for it almost invariably results in a stunted hog. No fixed and fast rule can be laid down, for the supplemental grain ration which should be fed in conjunction with green pasture depends upon a number of factors, the more important of which are (1) the age at which the hogs are to be marketed, (2) the price of grain, and (3) the plentifulness and quality of pasture.

T. W. CROSS, Agriculturist.

The corporations department of the state government for the first year of its existence ending July 29 produced $310,613. Expenses $24,436. Commissioner Watson thinks he can handle the business hereafter for $17,000 a year.

HE CONCURRED.

"I see they are embalming pet dogs now," said hubby.
"Oh! isn't that lovely?" she exclaimed. "That's what I'll have done to Fido."
"Just the thing!" he returned, suddenly growing enthusiastic himself. "Give him to me, and I'll have it done today."

"Oh! it doesn't follow it's mad because you see it foaming at the mouth."
