"The Linotype Way is the Way that Wins."

Official paper of the Town of Gresham, Oregon.
Official paper of the Town of Fairview, Oregon.

Entered as second-class matter March 3, 1911, at the Postoffice at Gresham, Oregon, under the Act of March 3, 1879.

WAR BENEFITS.

There is never an ill wind that doesn't blow somebody good. The present great crisis in Europe will be of great assistance in the development of American industries. It is paralyzing many European manufacturing and this country will learn to make for itself many things which we have heretofore thought we had to buy abroad. Eventually there will be an immigration to our shores of the survivors of the war who will take up their work here in the very lines that have made them their living at home. With the factories established and with skillful operators they will give us all the things we need without importing them.

CHANGES CITY EDITORS.

O. C. Leiter, for the past twelve years city editor of the Oregonian, has resigned to become campaign manager for William Hanley, who is seeking to become U. S. senator on the Progressive ticket. He is succeeded by Horace Thomas a bright, young man who gained his newspaper education under Mr. Leiter's tutelage. While Mr. Leiter is to be congratulated upon Mr. Hanley's choice for a manager, it is more than likely that he will drift back into newspaper work again, as he is too good at the business to stay out very long, unless the political game has rewards and attractions that cannot be overcome. Mr. Thomas is to be congratulated on his rising fortunes in the office where he first began newspaper work.

New Fruit Varieties Originated in Oregon.

More fruit men of Oregon should become interested in originating new varieties, but much has already been accomplished, according to Professor C. I. Lewis, head of the Horticultural department of the Agricultural College. They would find the practice a pleasant relaxation from the routine work, and possibly financially profitable as well. An improved variety of currant is said to have brought the originator $30,000.

Among the fruit varieties originated in Oregon are a cherry of the Royal Ann type, a cherry of the Lambert type, a plum of the Italian type, and a peach from the seed of the Early Crawford. The first of these matures two or three weeks later than the Royal Ann and thus becomes a good canning and shipping fruit, since it will usually escape rain cracking. The other cherry is rather larger than the Lambert and is more acid. The plum matures earlier than the Italian plum, and is larger and sweeter than its progenitor. It is said to dry better, and if this is true in connection with the other qualities it should prove to be worth a million dollars to the state of Oregon. The Portland peach seems to be superior to the Early Crawford, and a better shipper.

Other varieties badly needed in Oregon are a high quality red apple for the Willamette Valley, a bright red late apple for Hood River, and a gooseberry equal to the English berry but resistant to mildew, for the entire state. Indeed nearly every section of the Northwest needs a special variety of some fruit, which could doubtless be originated by individual and concerted effort.

The Truth Badly Wanted.

Liquor advertisements in the Pacific Coast states point out the fact that shipments of liquor, 90 per cent of which was beer, amounting to 99,962 quarts were received in Topeka, Kansas, during the month of September, 1913.

Elementary fairness would lead these people to state the truth that if Topekans consumed an amount of liquor equal to the per capita average for the country as a whole, these shipments would have amounted to more than 400,000 quarts.

Prohibition decreased the consumption of liquor in Topeka, Kansas, in September, 1913, 75 per cent by actual government records.—Bulletin Methodist Temperance Society.

CLEW FOUND TO TROUTDALE CRACKSMAN

Two county warrants stolen from the safe in Aaron Fox's store at Troutdale last month, were found by Deputy Sheriff Kulper on the bank of the Columbia river nine miles east of Vancouver in a small satchel belonging to the Troutdale merchant, in which the robbers had carried away the contents of the cash box in the Fox safe, which was blown open with nitro-glycerine.

The warrants were for $25 and $28 and had been issued to Mr. Fox in payment for supplies furnished the county. Neither of the warrants had been indorsed by the thieves.

Mr. Fox had made application to the county for duplicate warrants but such action will not now be necessary. It is believed that two men committed the robbery and, as the sheriff has their names and descriptions, it is thought they will be captured before they get out of the county.

The finding of the satchel across the river confirms the suspicion that the men escaped in boats down the Sandy and across the Columbia.

YOU MY GIRL, I YOUR BOY.

You will break my poor heart with your sighing.
For your eyes are the mirrors of your soul:
You will be my high Priestess when I'm dying.
Without your love eternal darkness is my goal.

I will weep in the loneliness that you give me
In despair I'll remember when you go.
And my visions of the moments when you're with me,
Will be dreams to make me wonder if 'twere so.

In my dreams of the future you are with me,
Walking through the vales of tender joy;
Hand in hand we will wander there together—
You will be my girl, and I your boy.

—K. L. T.

Melrose

Captain Branson and wife were guests of Mrs. Ella Aton Sunday at Gresham.

Rev. Mr. Smith brought his singer, Mr. Kenyon, to the afternoon service at 11:15 Sunday.

Ethel Wood, Laura Jones, Ireta McClure and Lena Cooley completed a surprise for Mabel Wood Saturday night by having a large number of young people gather at the home of H. W. Cooley where Miss Wood was a guest. A very enjoyable time was had. Miss Wood has gone to visit her sister Mrs. Alta Gentry at Cascade Locks a few days, after which she will go on to begin her school near Lone, Oregon. We wish Miss Wood success.

Miss Bessie Strebin has secured the same school she taught last winter at Cloverdale.

Has J. Pluvius forsaken us entirely?

In connection with the unusually long dry season, many farmers are finding that their wells are going dry. The sentiment among them is that they will go deeper as good water, distributed by the latest system on the place, is an absolute necessity to success in dairying.

Remarkable Cure of Dysentery. "I was attacked with dysentery about July 15th, and used the doctor's medicine and other remedies with no relief, only getting worse all the time. I was unable to do anything and my weight dropped from 145 to 125 pounds. I suffered for about two months when I was advised to use Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy. I used two bottles of it and it gave me permanent relief," writes B. W. Hill of Snow Hill, N. C. For sale by Gresham Drug Co., and all Dealers.
