SACRED COLLEGE
ELECTS NEW POPE

The Sacred College of Cardinals Thursday elected Cardinal Giacomo Della Chiesa, Archbishop of Bologna, supreme pontiff to succeed the late Pope Pius X. His coronation as Benedict XV took place Sunday.

Immediately after his election the pontiff said he could not imagine how his frail being was capable of enduring the enormous weight of responsibility thrown upon his shoulders, especially at a moment when all the countries of Europe were stained with blood; when the wounds inflicted upon humanity also were inflicted on the church, and when countless victims of the war were being cut down.

Later, during the course of a reception of laymen, the Pope spoke of America, which he said was especially dear to him. He expressed great admiration for the genius of its people, which was comparable only to their religious zeal, and he added:

"I am glad that my first apostolic benediction abroad will be forwarded toward America, where the American cardinals will at a later date impart it to the people directly."

The Pope also expressed the hope that with America in favor of peace, together with their prayers raised to the Almighty throughout the world, peace would come soon.

COW TESTER HAS RESIGNED POSITION

D. Brooks Hogan, supervisor of Official Tests of Dairy Cattle, who has been testing dairy cows in this section for several months past, has resigned his position to take effect September 1. He has severed his connection with the Agricultural College and the dairy breeder's associations to become manager of the large dairy farm of Fred Stump, at Suver, Oregon.

During the one year of Mr. Hogan's connection with this work the number of breeders of pure-bred dairy cattle who are making official tests has almost doubled, and in view of the growth of the movement it will probably become necessary in the near future to appoint two supervisors, says Professor R. R. Graves, head of the College Dairy department. The appointment of O. B. Stauff, a graduate of the Dairy course at the Agricultural College last June, to succeed Mr. Hogan, has been announced by Professor Graves.

In his new position Mr. Hogan will work with Mr. Stump in developing a great and modern breeding plant of pure-bred dairy cattle. The farm on which this work will be carried is one of the most modern in the state of Oregon.

Mr. Hogan is the official cow tester who discovered B. C. Altman's famous Jersey, of which mention was made during the summer.
