THE SALOON'S DEFENSE.

The saloon men are making use of circulars in which Scripture is quoted in support of the drink habit. It is a common saying that you can prove anything by the Bible and this is true when unscrupulous persons "wrest the Scriptures" to their own interest. Human slavery was zealously defended on Biblical grounds. While the Bible furnishes many accounts of slavery and of drunkenness, yet in no case are they given as ideal conditions, but as a picture of conditions as they then existed.

The Bible strongly condemns wine drinking, as witness such texts as "Woe to him that putteth a bottle to his neighbor's lips"; "No drunkard shall inherit the kingdom of heaven"; "Be not drunk with wine wherein is excess"; "Look not on the wine when it is red, at the last it biteth like a serpent and stingeth like an adder"; "Wine is a mocker, strong drink is raging and whosoever is deceived thereby is not wise."

The Bible nowhere encourages drinking or any other habit that leads to immorality or crime. The Apostle Paul laid down a broad principle, the very essence of Christian altruism, when he said, "If meat will eat no meat while the world standeth."

The liquor dealers do not quote Scripture in good faith. Drunkenness, licentiousness and crime, which their business breeds are diametrically opposed to morality and righteousness as taught in the Bible. The attempt to use the sacred Book in this way is but another proof of the despicable methods being resorted to by the liquor dealers. To them, no great moral issue is at stake. It is a matter of cold business. It is the same spirit that urges "the trade" to create an appetite for strong drink in the children, that there may be no lack of material for the carrying on of their "drunk factories."

If the advocates of strong drink are sincere in their use of Scripture texts, they will unite in prayer to the God of the Bible for the success of their cause. Has anyone heard of a call to prayer for the success of their just and righteous (?) cause?

Pleasant Home is progressing. Three appointments as postmaster in a year and a substitute for the past three months besides. Eric Anderson, who was appointed last week will probably stick to the job as he represents a race who don't know what it means to quit.

When the Kaiser and Teddy were hobnobbing together several years ago the Germans thought they were the only two men on earth fit to train together. Just now Germany is unable to see a good point in the Roosevelt character.

Denatured alcohol is said to be the fuel of the future. Judging from the record made by the straight, 99 per cent variety its reputation is already assayed.

Either the Chinese pheasants should be all killed off or adequately protected. Leave the job to the farmer who raises them and see the result.

Recalling office holders is not the sport of kings. It is rather the side line employment of the opposite class.

THE PROHIBITION WAVE.

From the tenor of what one reads in the newspapers and what one hears wherever a group of people are assembled, it is evident that the prohibition amendment is receiving more consideration during the present campaign than any other single measure now before the voters.

The many arguments in favor of the amendment are unassailable, yet it must be admitted that some of the opposing arguments are from hard thinkers and that some of them, at least, are in earnest. The speech of Colonel Hofer on the streets of Gresham recently, indicates that there is at least the semblance of sincerity on the part of some who are opposed to voting Oregon dry.

Possibly the best argument in favor of prohibition yet made is contained in the following from a letter by Spencer Trask of Portland in the Sunday Oregonian:

"Our business in life, every one of us, is to make the very best of our lives, and of the lives of our sons, and of our neighbors' sons. Always we should be striving to raise the standard of citizenship, to lend a helping hand to all who falter.

"The saloon will never do that. It cannot. Its profits depend upon the downfall of our young men. The sooner he becomes a drunkard, the longer will he spend money for liquor, and the richer will be the harvest—for the saloon and the brewery."

Such arguments are unassailable yet there is the fear that they have not been thoroughly impressed upon the thousands who are wavering in their opinions. Their votes will decide the issue, this time at least.

ATTACKING THE FARMER.

That the proposed eight-hour law is a vicious socialistic measure aimed at all classes of property owners in order to effect the so-called equalization of wealth is clearly shown in a statement made by Thomas Williams, secretary of the Socialist party of California.

The same measure is to be up in both California and Washington where it is being fought as hard as it is in Oregon.

Mr. Williams says: "We cheerfully admit that an universal eight-hour law will to an extent, increase the cost of living. The Socialist party in putting forth the bill did not claim it would solve the economic problem."

"I want to break this bit of information gently, Mr. Ranchman, that your ownership of the land is only temporary anyway. We are agitating the 8-hour law because of its effect on your profits. We propose abolition of all of your profits. The sooner your learn this the better."

The above statement has been printed in several other papers. It shows the source of the movement that would cripple every industry. Speaking of the matter the Pacific Northwest says:

"There is no subterfuge in the statement, and Mr. Williams is to be commended for his candor, but what have you to say in reply, Mr. Farmer of Oregon and Washington? Will you fall before the slip noose of the law, now being prepared, shuts off your opportunity forever? What are you going to do about it?"

Two recent cases of horses falling into disused wells should be a warning to protect animals from such danger. If it is desired to retain the wells they should be securely covered and fenced; otherwise they should be filled up.

Three years of protection, ending a year ago, failed to leave enough China pheasants to go around this season. Next year it will be worse.

Two military executions in Mexico were almost overlooked in the news columns. Where is Mexico, anyway, and what is she doing?

War poems are beginning to sprout with an even bet that the crop will be under the standard of those we are familiar with.

Rather soon to say it—but do your turkey shopping early.

The fairs are all over, so let it rain.

It Always Does the Work.
"I like Chamberlain's Cough Remedy better than any other," writes R. E. Roberts, Homer City, Pa. "I have taken it off and on for years and it has never failed to give the desired results." For sale by all dealers.

Mrs. Duniway Challenged.

In a letter to Abigail Scott Duniway, president of the Wage Earners and Taxpayers' League, E. A. Baker, superintendent of the Anti-Saloon League of Oregon, offers to give $100 to any charity she may name if she will furnish proof of the genuineness of an alleged quotation of Abraham Lincoln's which is being used in advertisements opposing state-wide prohibition.

Mr. Baker also challenges the truthfulness of statements alleged by the liquor interests to have been made by Theodore Roosevelt.

Mr. Baker's letter says: "In a paid advertisement in the Oregonian of this morning, signed by your organization, Lincoln's picture is featured, and he is quoted as saying: 'Prohibition will work great injury to the cause of temperance. It is a species of intemperance with a profit, for it goes beyond the bounds of reason in that it attempts to control a man's appetite by legislation, and in making crimes out of things that are not crimes.'"

"A prohibition law strikes a blow at the very principles on which our government was founded. I have always been found laboring to protect the weaker classes from the stronger, and I never can give my consent to such a law as you propose to enact.

"Until my tongue shall be silenced in death I will continue to fight for the rights of man."

The above utterance is a pure fabrication and a forgery. Abraham Lincoln never made such a statement, or anything similar to it. It is a forgery in gold to any charity that you may name, provided you will furnish proof of the genuineness of the above alleged utterance from Lincoln that will satisfy the librarian of any reputable library in Portland of its genuineness as an historical fact.

I now call upon you to produce this proof and get this money, or publicly acknowledge that you have been made the victim of a literary forgery by unscrupulous plotters.

I invite your attention to the fact that your "League" of one member is posting bills all over Portland representing Theodore Roosevelt as being against the dry state-wide policy, when, within a week, Mr. Roosevelt made a campaign speech at Toledo, Ohio, emphatically espousing the cause of state-wide prohibition in that state, and denouncing the brewers, your allies and backers, for their efforts to defeat woman's suffrage.

I invite your attention to the fact that your alleged "League" of one member is placarding the billboards of Portland, representing President Woodrow Wilson as being against the dry state-wide policy when, in a letter to E. W. Grogan of Byers, Texas, Mr. Wilson specifically recommended state-wide prohibition for the states that were ready for that step.

I invite your attention to the fact that your alleged "League" of one member is placarding the billboards of Portland with libelous statements against our neighbor, Oregon City, falsely representing that city to be bankrupt when the city officials themselves declare that the city has prospered under the dry policy as never before.

Additional Gresham Locals

Miss Jennie Pateneau, who recently came from Chippewa Falls, Wisconsin, has charge of the department of women's furnishings at Aylsworth's enlarged store.

William Reed, of Portland, visited our fair and saw the advantage of the Nisco manure spreader, exhibited by Hessel & Son in the machinery department. He has just purchased one for his fine Base Line ranch which he is making into an up to date dairy farm.

Mrs. J. C. Hessel returned last night from a two months' trip to Detroit, Minnesota, where she visited a son and other relatives. She reported snow in Montana and is glad to be in Oregon again.

Oregon Children to Write Essays.
The Campaign Workers of the Oregon W. C. T. U. offer a prize of $10.00 for the best essay from the grammar grades on "The Effect of the Oregon Dry Amendment on the Children of the State."

A prize of $15.00 will be given the writer of the best essay from a high school pupil on "The Effect of the Oregon Dry Amendment on the Industrial and Economic Conditions of the State."

These essays must be sent to the Essay Department, W. C. T. U. Headquarters, Dekum Building, Portland, Oregon, by October 22d. They may be handed to Mrs. Hattie Westell, president of the local W. C. T. U., on or before the 22d.

Why Not Publish It
When you want a fact to become generally known, the right way is to publish it. Mrs. Joseph Kallans, Peru, Ind., was troubled with belching, sour stomach and frequent headaches. She writes, "I feel it my duty to tell others what Chamberlain's Tablets have done for me. They have helped my digestion and regulated my bowels. Since using them I have been entirely well." For sale by all dealers.

Notice of Marshal's Sale.
Notice is hereby given, that on Thursday, November 5, at 10 o'clock a. m., at the City Hall, Fairview, Oregon, there will be sold at public auction for delinquent assessment for the improvement of Depot street, city of Fairview: Lots 19-11, Block 6 for $36.27, Christina Helman, No. 2222 North Main street, Santa Ana, California; also lots 12 and A, Block C for $36.27, Peter Erickson, Fairview, Oregon.

PLUTO'S PET.

Cerberus was barking at the gates of Hades.
"He's all right," Pluto ruminated. "But I do hope they won't tax me for three dogs this year."
Even he had his troubles.

With better babies appearing every year some of these times they will really be good enough to eat, as their dotting mothers declare.

Toned Up Whole System.

Chamberlain's Tablets have done more for me than I ever dated here for," writes Mrs. Esther Mae Baker, Spencerport, N. Y. "I used several bottles of these tablets a few months ago. They not only cured me of bilious attacks, sick headaches and that tired out feeling, but toned up my whole system." For sale by all Dealers.
