GIVES SOCIALISM CREDIT.

A late number of the Metropolitan magazine gives the socialists of Europe considerable credit for being loyal to their country in the present crisis. It says that no one will ever care again to upbraid the socialists for a lack of manhood or patriotism.

In the great drama now being enacted it would be strange if any party or creed would fail to rally to its national colors. None of us ever believed that such a war would ever happen, and yet we see it in all its horror.

The socialists have never counseled war; rather they have been endeavoring to effect a peaceful revolution, but when danger menaces they are ready to respond to the call for help which shows that the danger to be feared from the socialists has been over estimated.

We of America have our despots to vanquish and if they can be overthrown without resort to war by any party the people will turn to that party for aid, and if it is to be socialism they will take up a clearer view of the social reforms that are needed to purge the nation of its disorders.

Notwithstanding all this it is easy to understand that socialism cannot gain much strength here until the tide of immigration turns or this action is so filled with aliens that there is no room for more. Foreign countries that are sending people away may be hotbeds of socialistic dogmas that are in conflict with our national laws and usages, but the very liberty that the newcomers enjoy here, coupled with the greater opportunity for territorial expansion, broadens their views in that same proportion, and what we see and feel of socialism is not dangerous, but rather a joke.

Nevertheless it is true that the socialists of Germany, France and Belgium have suddenly become patriots and are fighting for the flags that perfect them. Perhaps they are not so terrible after all, but they are either inconsistent or hope for a different regime when peace is restored. Their valor has shown that they are not as dangerous as they have been painted.

The congressman who can acknowledge a mistake and apologize to his opponent for making it is to be commended for fairness in a political campaign. That Mr. Lafferty's manager accused Mr. McArthur of traveling on a railroad pass is to be regretted, but Mr. Lafferty's apology raises him in the estimation of the people who admire his sincerity and fearlessness.

Potatoes won't float themselves out of the ground, neither will they dig themselves. Those who let the past two weeks of good weather get away should not complain. There was plenty of help to be had and potatoes are going to be worth saving this season.

The slush stories in the magazine sections are getting a rest now. In their places are stories and sketches of war. When the war is over a new set of writers will spring up, and for a few years there will be something newer and fresher than we have been reading for several years past.

How many apples did you eat? Mrs. Fred Pelton, whose home is in Sellwood, spent one day last week with her mother, Mrs. E. M. Coons. Mrs. R. W. Calkins has been quite sick but at this writing is some better.

McArthur Nails Campaign Lie

REPLIES TO FALSEHOOD PUBLISHED BY LAFFERTY'S MANAGER.

Agrees to Withdraw from Race for Congress if Merrick Can Prove Railroad Pass Story.

Cites Official Files of State Commission.

C. N. McARTHUR, Regular Republican Nominee for Congress.

To the People of the Third Oregon District:

The Oregonian of September 16th contained a paid advertisement by Mr. R. L. Merrick, campaign manager for Mr. Lafferty, independent candidate for Congress, in which the following statement was made:

"Last year C. N. McArthur traveled over the lines of the Southern Pacific Company on a free pass, and is now receiving the support of the railroad and other corporations in his race for Congress."

The statement relative to my traveling on a pass is false—a willful campaign lie, printed for the purpose of prejudicing the people of this district against me.

Section 6923 of Lord's Oregon laws provides that a record of all passes must be filed with the State Railroad Commission, and knowing this I addressed a letter of inquiry to the Commission and secured the following reply:

Railroad Commission of Oregon Salem, Oregon.

State of Oregon, Co. of Marion, ss.

I, H. H. Corey, secretary of the Railroad Commission of Oregon, and custodian of the seal thereof, do hereby certify that I have carefully inspected the verified lists of railroad tickets, passes and mileage books issued free, or for other than actual bona fide consideration, by the Southern Pacific Company for the years of 1907 to 1913, inclusive, which are filed in the office of said Commission in accordance with law, and find that said lists of passes do not disclose that C. N. McArthur has ever been granted free transportation by the said Southern Pacific Company.

IN TESTIMONY WHEREOF, I have hereunto set my hand and affixed hereto the seal of said Commission, at its office in the Capital, at Salem, Oregon, this 28th day of September A. D. 1914.

(Signed) H. H. COREY, Secretary, Railroad Commission of Oregon.

If Mr. Merrick can prove his charge against me I will withdraw from the race for Congress.

The charge that I am the candidate of the railroads and other corporations is equally false, but is just what can be expected from the camp of a demagogue. I shall make reply to this and other charges at a subsequent date, but, in the meantime, let us await Mr. Merrick's discoveries relative to the alleged Southern Pacific pass.

Respectfully submitted, C. N. McARTHUR, Regular Republican Nominee for Congress.

(Paid Adv. by Republican Congressional Committee, 441-444 Morgan Building, Portland, Oregon.)

Electrification work on the P. E. & E. Ry. is to be completed by next spring as far as Eugene.

Warm up with a Perfection Oil Heater, sold by Sterling & Kidder.

Oregon and Washington Paper Mills have gone under one management. This organization with an authorized capitalization of $13,000,000 has just been completed for the purpose of purchasing the properties of the Crown-Columbia Paper Co., and of the Willamette Pulp & Paper Co., operating plants in Washington, Oregon and California. The purpose is to reduce operating expenses in the paper mills by eliminating a duplication of fixed charges, thus enabling them to compete with British Columbia and Norway and Sweden, which countries have been active in the markets of the Pacific coast since the removal of the tariff.

Unless signs of the times are misleading, the framers of the proposed eight-hour law will not recognize it when the people are through voting "No" on the measure in November. It is in for a hard drubbing.—Union Republican.
