THE COUNT WILL BE LOST.

A last appeal is being made all over the state for an era of decency and morality. This is the last word that can be spoken by the Outlook, for by the time it appears again the ballots will be nearly ready for the count—and what will be the result of the counting?

A review of the campaign would be interesting if a review were possible. Two vast armies are contending for the supremacy. One has heretofore been deemed invincible except by the few who, true to their principles, have stood in the front ranks exposed to the scorn and contumely of the many.

However there is a distinction with a vast difference between the partisan prohibitionists and the adherents of the other parties who vote for the prohibition of the liquor traffic. The former are the pioneers who have blazed the trail; the latter are those who are to enjoy the fruits of the victory—a victory they are themselves helping to bring about, because the roads that lead to progress and purity in morals are preferable to the avenues of immorality and crime.

It has been a hard contest, a bitter fight, and perhaps the victory is not to be wholly won at this time, yet the wave of reform is sweeping on and gathering a greater impetus with each succeeding effort. There will be disappointment but not discouragement if the cause is to suffer a temporary defeat, for there will be a renewed effort, again and again, until those who have stood up to be counted will reap the reward of victory. Then the count will be lost.

A RESIDUARY LEGATEE.

By discarding all principles of Jeffersonian democracy, and ignoring the direct primary law in the selection of a candidate for governor, the executive seat at Salem is to be again filled in the line of succession as planned by Senator Chamberlain and Governor West if they are successful. Their residuary legatee is Dr. Smith, who is West's choice, even as he, himself, was the choice of Chamberlain.

Such a condition in the political affairs of Oregon could never have been brought about without the aid of republicans who were divided and disloyal to their party and their own best interests.

With a reunited party, and with all the disappointed aspirants for the republican nomination working harmoniously for Dr. Withycombe, the democratic line of succession will be broken and there will be a republican governor who will be in harmony with a republican legislature.

The annual reunion of the Fogg family association of America was held in Boston recently. The name of Jeter Fogg was not mentioned in the list.

PRINCIPLE BEFORE PARTY.

From the standpoint of the prohibitionist the greatest plank of the prohibition platform is national prohibition. That principle has been endorsed by R. A. Booth, republican candidate for United States senator, and there has been some fears that the votes of the friend's of prohibition, if given to the prohibition candidate would help defeat Mr. Booth and thus give the election to the democratic candidate, who has so far failed to make known his views upon the principle the prohibitionists are working for.

The Outlook has received a letter from H. S. Stine, of Medford, the prohibition candidate for senator, in which he asks his adherents to place principle before party label, and mark their ballots so that a man pledged to the principle will be elected to the United States senate. He will be glad to release all prohibitionists from voting for him if they feel that they could not vote only for a man who declared himself on the right side of the prohibition question.

Mr. Stine's action in this matter is virtually an endorsement of Mr. Booth and is a sacrifice for the cause he is pledged to. As this is the greatest unsettled question now before the American people it behooves all the friends of prohibition to vote only for pledged candidates—those who have pledged themselves before election.

Eastern Multnomah doesn't deserve representation anywhere if it fails to give full support to a candidate when it has the opportunity. B. C. Altman is the sole representative on the ticket from outside the city limits of Portland. Other counties scatter their officers, why not this one?

Governor West has designated next Tuesday as the proper occasion to promote state industries. The count on Wednesday morning will show that his request has borne good results.

No good citizen will be too busy to go to the polls next Tuesday and do his or her duty.

Is your pumpkin ready for tomorrow night?

McArthur Has Good Record

As Member of Legislature He Voted To Regulate Corporations. House Journals Cited as Proof.

C. N. McARTHUR, Regular Republican Nominee for Congress.

Mr. McArthur's enemies have charged him with being the candidate of "Big Business," but an examination of the house journals of the sessions of 1909 and 1913 gives the lie to these charges. At each of these sessions corporations were represented by powerful lobbies, and strong influences were brought to bear in their behalf, yet the official records show that Mr. McArthur supported and voted for many measures regulating railroads and other corporations in their dealings with the public. Among these measures may be mentioned the following:

An act creating the insurance department, prohibiting premium rates, regulating insurance rates, and prohibiting the enforcement of "treat-made rates."

An act providing for the regulation, distribution, use and right to use water, commonly known as the "Water Code."

An act prohibiting unjust discrimination between localities by railroads and other common carriers.

An act providing for the construction, maintenance and operation of switch connections between railroads and branch line railroads and private sidetracks.

An act requiring railroad companies east of the Cascade mountains to mow the grass and weeds from their right-of-way during the month of June each year.

An act providing for the granting of water power franchise by the state, and collecting fees therefor.

An act providing for an appropriation to extend the State Ferry road from Eddy to The Dalles, thereby completing the connection between the boat lines of the upper and lower Columbia river.

An act compelling railroad companies to install cattle guards.

An act protecting the purchasers of stocks and bonds, and preventing fraud in the sale thereof, commonly known as the "Blue Sky Law."

An act amending section 6904 of Lord's Oregon Laws relative to demurrage and reciprocal demurrage, and preventing discrimination.

An act providing for the surrendering and turning over to the state of Oregon by the Southern Pacific company, certain property at the foot of Jefferson street commonly known as the "Public Levee."

An act providing for the supervision and regulation of the issuance of stock certificates of public corporations.

One cannot read this record without coming to the conclusion that Mr. McArthur has, as a member of the Legislature of this state, been faithful to the people's interests. He has not been owned or controlled by the corporations, as his opponents allege. He has, however, been fair and just to the corporations, as well as to all other interests; has never attempted to make political capital, or play the role of the demagogue by ranting against them. He believes that corporations are necessary for our general welfare, but is also a firm believer in rigid regulation and control of these corporations.

If elected to Congress, Mr. McArthur will continue to work for the best interests of his constituents. A vote for him is a vote for an upright, courageous and fair minded public official, who has been faithful to every public trust and who stands squarely on his record as a citizen and public official of the state of Oregon.

The rooms were all beautifully decorated in yellow dahlias and dainty ferns. The autumn idea was further carried out by a bow of green and yellow ribbon intertwined with autumn leaves and ferns, under which the young couple stood, unattended.

The bride, a pretty brunette, was lovely in a dress of pale blue brocade silk trimmed in dainty white shadow lace with satin ribbon. She wore a silver bandeau in her hair and a necklace of pearls and carried a bouquet of white bride roses and maiden hair ferns.

Rev. A. B. Calder of Portland, officiated at the wedding, the beautiful rite ceremony being used.

Many beautiful and useful presents were received from the young couple's host of friends, who all join in wishing the "newly weds" a long happy and prosperous life together.

What Would You Do? There are many times when one man questions another's actions and motives. Men act differently under different circumstances. The question is, what would you do right now if you had a severe cold? Could you do better than to take Chamberlain's Cough Remedy? It is highly recommended by people who have used it for years and know its value.

Mrs. O. E. Sargent, Peru, Ind., says, "Chamberlain's Cough Remedy is worth its weight in gold and I take pleasure in recommending it." For sale by all Dealers.
