FAIRVIEW

FAIRVIEW, Jan. 4.—The year 1914 was buried without much noise here. The only gathering of note was those who congregated to listen to one of Rev. Mr. Province's sermons, he having held a series of meetings since last Sunday evening and will continue for some time, drawing a good attentive congregation. Several of our citizens were drawn to Troutdale by a masquerade ball; others to the grange ball at Rockwood, others remained by their cheerful firesides rather than brave the wind and rain.

The year 1915 was ushered in, in not chilly clothes but was welcomed by all as the prospects of a far brighter and prosperous year are plainly visible. The closing of and opening of the new years always cost more or less extra labor; all welcome the rest that follows, and from what we observed even Uncle Sam's men have reason to rejoice. Rural Carrier Schram had a trying time; being sick and almost unable to be up he was on duty with two wagons two or three days. Partial cause of this was arrival of belated mail from the east. Parcel post and other packages weighing 30 to 50 pounds each, size taken into consideration, caused him to wonder where he could ride. While we are informed by Postmistress Heslin the cancellation was not as large as in some other years it was very good. The falling off is no doubt caused by parcel post packages being purchased, wrapped, weighed, addressed, stamped and mailed without the purchaser leaving the building.

Fairview is very quiet at this time. School children have been enjoying a holiday vacation.

A rumor is now being closely watched, that the closing of the saloons at Troutdale will revive Fairview and that over business houses will spring up and we assure you all there is room enough. The new council is vigorously at work with another to see what can be done and what should not be done for the benefit of our city. Without question they will take their seats with some beneficial changes. So says Mayor Whitney.

Robert Spence, who rented the A. Kronenberg farm some two months ago, has sold his interest back to Mr. Kronenberg who found that he could not endure city life. Mr. Kronenberg will take possession January 5th. Mr. Spence is seeking another farm to lease.

Mr. Costa, who has been living on the Hamilton farm has moved to his newly acquired farm at Sherwood, leaving the Hamilton farm unoccupied for the first time in its history. It is reported that Mr. Hamilton will now re-engage in farming. He at present lives in Montavilla. He remarried and took a wedding trip through the eastern states but likes Oregon best.

Mrs. Ruby Hansen, (nee Schram) of Highland, Clackamas county, passed through here enroute for Walla Walla on Saturday, Dec. 26, to spend a week with her uncle, Wm. R. Schram of that place. Ruby, who is well known here, having been born and spent her girlhood years at and near Gresham, moved to Highland several years ago with her father John Schram. She was married to George Hansen at her home Saturday, Dec. 26, and left at once for Walla Walla. On their return they will go to Corvallis. She to keep house for Floyd her brother, who is in college. Mr. Hansen will take a short course in electrical engineering.

Mrs. J. C. Province has been spending several days with her parents at Hood River, J. P. keeping bachelor's hall.

Olive Danielson spent New Year's day with Mr. and Mrs. Oscar Walin of Rockwood. He was out looking after property interest here.

Edgar Smith's broken leg is progressing nicely and will be nicely healed in time for spring work. Ed. says he is enjoying the rest.

FAIRVIEW MAN TAKES BRIDE FROM PORTLAND

December 31st, a very pretty and quiet wedding took place at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Z. Fitzgerald, 885 Sandy road, Portland, at 6 p.m., New Year's eve, the bridegroom being their youngest son Charles S. Fitzgerald of Fairview, Oregon, and Miss Mae Blitgen, of Portland.

They were united in matrimony by Elder T. H. Starbuck with a beautiful ring ceremony, witnessed by a number of friends and relatives, followed by a wedding dinner and a shower of rice. The bridal pair took their honeymoon trip to the sunny south, Sacramento, California, starting on New Year's day to be gone a couple of weeks. They expect to settle on their farm near Fairview.

Those present were Mr. and Mrs. Z. Fitzgerald, Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Fitzgerald, Robert Fitzgerald, Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Wilson, all of Fairview; Mr. and Mrs. R. D. Hartshorne, of Portland; Mrs. Mae Smith and son, of Corvallis; Mrs. Rosa Proudft and daughter, of Fairview; Albert Blitgen, Miss Eva Blitgen, Miss Genevieve Williams, Mrs. Vernia Rainey, son and daughter, all of Portland.

GRANGE ACTIVITIES FOR COMING YEAR

From a report of the meeting of Evening Star grange, held on Saturday last it is learned that the employment of a county agriculturist was considered and the matter will be taken up with all the granges in the country.

Several speakers enlightened those present on some of the important matters now pending, the principal speaker being J. J. Johnson, master of Evening Star. He favored the hard surfacing of all county roads by raising $500,000 annually by direct taxation for a period of five years.

This plan, he said, would result in all the road being improved within that period without the added expense of $100,000 as interest on long-time bonds.

T. J. Kreuder suggested a campaign to increase the grange membership of this county by 500 within the year. The suggestion was heartily endorsed and a plan of campaign will be worked out for each of the ten granges to work upon.

To awaken an interest among the people Mr. Johnson suggested a field day meeting at some central location about midsummer for entertainment and instruction. This matter will also be considered by the different granges.
