The many friends of Mrs. B. O. Boswell of Estacada, are very sorry to learn of her being confined to her bed with a very severe cold and hope that it will not be long before she is able to be about. At last reports, while she is still very ill, her condition showed signs of improvement.

Mr. and Mrs. A. Dowsett entertained a large circle of their friends last night at their home in south Gresham. The evening was spent in 500, eight tables being played. Those making the highest scores were S. E. Toepelman and Miss Emma Fuller. The house was beautifully decorated with Oregon grape and narcissus. A two-course luncheon was served. The evening was given a delightful close with music by Mrs. Toepelman and Mrs. Oswald. Mr. and Mrs. Dowsett proved themselves royal entertainers.

Valuable Gems Returned. Miss Florence Honey had an experience last week which demonstrated the fact that there are still some honest people to be found. It quite as clearly proved the value of advertising.

Miss Honey is the possessor of a rare collection of Bohemian garnets, including necklace, bracelet and brooch, which were given her in Germany by a great aunt and which are highly prized by her. Last week Miss Honey took the necklace to Portland to get it restrung, one of the four long strings having been broken. In some way the box containing the gems was dropped in Woodard & Clark's store and was later picked up by some unknown person who left it at the store.

After searching in vain for her package, Miss Honey placed a lost ad. in a Portland daily paper with little hope of ever seeing her necklace again. The ad. was seen by the Woodard & Clark people, who promptly notified Miss Honey. A trip to Portland and the identification of the necklace was all that was necessary for Miss Honey to receive her possession.

Although a liberal reward was offered, no one claimed it.

The Oregon Blue Sky law, one of the clubs to keep capital out of Oregon, has been upheld by the supreme court.

OBVIOUS EXPLANATION. Old Uncle Andy was steering his master's boat down the bay. They passed an ocean liner.

"Andy," said Mr. Blank, "just look how high that ship stands out of the water. I wonder why it is."

"Why, boss," answered the old dinky, "don't you know? We ain't had no rain for nigh on three weeks now, and de water's gittin' low."

AN UNUSAL OCCURANCE

OR A LETTER FROM A FURNITURE DEALER

In a previous issue of the Outlook there was noticed by some an advertisement stating the conditions of a big reduction in prices at R. R. Carlson's.

No doubt many have read it, which, of course was their reason for mention of it with their appearance at the store; but it has not been realized by most of the people—at least it hasn't been shown so—and now we will make it a little more impressive by asking you to just stop and consider these following-mentioned articles:

Heating stoves that have formerly sold for $12.50, and sold in Portland for $13.00 and $14.00 we will sell for $10.00.

Heaters selling for $11.50—now $9.00.

Mr. Carlson has bought these heaters in lots of twenty-five which enabled him to get a great discount. Consequently he can make these offers.

And again: The numerous laundry wagons being present throughout the country has put the washing machine out of commission to a great extent; so even at a loss we will sell, regardless of cost, washing machines that sell the world over for $12.50, at $7.75 in order to close out the washers from our stock.

These above-mentioned illustrations prevail upon the entire stock of furniture, stoves, ranges, beds, couches, floor coverings, window shades, wall paper, sewing machines and the S. W. Miller piano, throughout the month of January, but must be for cash only; so if you are needing anything in our line it will be worth while to buy from our stock during January, at Carlson's store.

Trusting this will be a benefit to the people of this community, I am, yours truly,
R. R. CARLSON.

Gresham, Oregon.
