MRS. ELLEN POMEROY

100 in Accounting Work.

The Oregon business man of the future expects to conduct his office along systematic financial lines, if the interest in accounting principles at the State University, at Eugene, is a criterion. One hundred students are taking this course, and next year a knowledge of elementary bookkeeping will be required for entrance to it.

The State University graduate who becomes a voter in one of the many towns of Oregon seems also likely to take a live interest in how his town is being run. This is indicated by the size of the enrollment in the municipal administration course, given in the school of commerce.

Next semester advanced courses open only to third and fourth year students will be given in business administration and municipal finance.

Salem is to have a state institution for crippled children.

Churches and Breweries.

The American Contractor, a journal devoted to the building trade, in a recent issue, announces that whereas, in 1906, the breweries of the country spent in buildings and extensions $14,578,000, in 1913 they spent less than $3,000,000.

But the amazing part of the story is that whereas, in 1906, the churches of the country spent $5,632,000 in building operations, in 1913 they had changed places with the breweries and had spent $14,870,506! Think of the churches of this country spending five times as much for buildings as the great breweries!

And for the first four months of 1914 the record was even more amazing, for in this period the breweries spent only $429,000, while the churches spent $4,389,986, over ten times as much.

The thing seems incredible until one stops to think of the time when he saw the last brewery built and the last church. Then it doesn't seem so queer.—Dallas (Tex.) Dispatch.

Plans Get-Together Day.

A novel community gathering that is expected to bring together no fewer than 1000 inhabitants of the Applegate valley, Jackson county, is planned for a date in May by W. O. Wheeler, principal of the Applegate school. Mr. Wheeler, a believer in social centers in rural communities, is arranging an all-day gathering for the children of all Applegate valley schools and for the adults of the school districts as well. A school program is to be given in the morning. At noon will come an old-fashioned picnic dinner. The afternoon will be occupied by athletic contests.

Dr. Bertha Stuart, director of women's gymnastics at the University of Oregon, has furnished Principal Wheeler with a plan under which practically all the children from all the schools can compete in this athletic meet without crowding the entry lists too much.

A campaign is being conducted to cut out at least half a million dollars of extravagance in the administration of the state government and another half million dollars wasteful expenditure by the legislature.

Talk is cheap, which may explain why we are given so much gratuitous advice.

Billiousness and Constipation Cured

If you are ever troubled with billiousness or constipation you will be interested in the statement of R. F. Erwin, Peru, Ind. "A year ago last winter I had an attack of indigestion followed by billiousness and constipation. Seeing Chamberlain's Tablets so highly recommended, I bought a bottle of them and they helped me right away." For sale by all Dealers.

The Spokesman Review says "Welcome signs of American reaction against governmental extravagance appear in every section of the United States." Let government both state and national be put under the spotlight of investigation that private business has the past few years and the results would be astounding. It is high time business began to investigate the government.
