I. McCOLL, P. M.

Washington enacted the law of public necessity and convenience defeated in the Oregon legislature by one vote. The justification of this certificate comes from the fact that the state, through the public service commission now fixes the rates that public utility corporations shall charge, the amount of the profit they may make and the character of service to be given, hence they say they are entitled to protection from uncalled for competition when they are living up to all these requirements. If they are not public recourse is to be had through application to the public service commission. The only pronounced objection to the law comes from advocates of home rule for cities of the first-class, who wish municipal plants exempted from the certificate of necessity provision.

New Highway Engineer.

By a vote of two to one the State Highway commission yesterday appointed E. I. Cantine, of Portland, State Highway Engineer to succeed H. L. Bowlby, resigned.

It was decided, however, that Major Bowlby be retained in charge of the work in Hood River county and that he have charge of the settlements for work done under his supervision in Columbia, Clatsop and Jackson counties. Mr. Cantine will assume his new duties April 1, and it probably will take three months for Major Bowlby to finish the work assigned to him by the commission.

Why Is Capital Timid?

In a letter too long to quote in full, F. W. Harris of Renton, Washington, complains that Wall street will not lend its money for the obviously needed development of the west. He describes this lack of leadership of men like the late E. H. Harriman; and here are two paragraphs in which he suggests channels for capitalists enterprise.

"In the far West and Pacific coast we need at least two more railways running north and south. One situated between the Rockies and the Cascades, and one along the Pacific coast. We need 10,000 miles of branch lines. We have ten millions of acres of land awaiting irrigation.

"We have never had sufficient backing to go after the Oriental trade. James J. Hill made an attempt a few years ago, but too much was expected at the start. From Hong Kong to Seattle it is about 6,000 miles. Hong Kong to Europe is 10,000 miles. We can get that trade if we are patient enough to develop it."

If the west wants capital for such enterprises as Mr. Harris describes, it must show that it can be trusted with it. He finds much to admire in the late E. H. Harriman—dead. But when Mr. Harriman was alive the state legislatures were doing all they could to fetter his energies and to render his enterprises ultimately unprofitable. They have certainly succeeded in the latter respect; and in the former it may be said that Mr. Harriman achieved great things, not because of the people of the west, but in spite of them.

Wall street does not invest its own capital. That is used for its banking business. But it collects capital from saving people all over the country, and distributes this where the security of the investment looks good. It acts not merely as a financial banker, but as a trustee. It is responsible for the quality of the investment it recommends.

Doubtless the west would be benefited by much more railroad extension than Mr. Harris indicates. But if he will only read the evidence in the western rate case he will see why Wall street cannot recommend the investment at present. The western state railroad commissions themselves are sufficient to frighten away any investor; and this in face of the fact that the western railroads as a whole are much under-capitalized.

If the west is really willing to prove its sense of responsibility to the investor, it will move congress to repeal the navigation laws, including the latest folly, and will impress upon the railroad commissions, federal and state, that they are regulating and not unitive bodies. The west may realize with advantage to itself that commissioner Clifford Thorne is a poor substitute for E. H. Harriman.—Wall Street Journal.

Recommends Chamberlain's Cough Remedy.

Portland Minimum Scale.

It is already becoming apparent that the $3.00 per day minimum wage scale for common labor at Portland on public work is stopping work.

All understand that it will greatly increase the cost of public improvements and retard the growth and development of the city.

But what does the politician, the visionary political economist, the experimentalist, the college professor, care for this predicament?

They toil not, neither do they sweat, but they live off the public and they work the public through the voter, buy office with taxation. The political organ of these visionary schemes declares the new law will make it hard for a contractor to switch from a public job to a private one and not have to pay the $3.00 per day for eight hours.

How can Portland prosper and pay more for common labor than other cities are paying, raising taxes and increasing cost of living?

The few public contracts that are let will be handled by contractors who will employ the lowest foreign labor that can be driven like slaves with a pace-maker.

The better class of white labor that has families to support will be excluded from employment on all public work as it will not stand to be driven.
