COLUMBIA HEIGHTS
 Julius Meier's men were busy the last of the week getting a tall flag pole in place in front of his summer home and yesterday we saw old glory unfold its star and stripes to the breezes that were gently wafted up over the bluff. I could not help standing still for a moment to gaze at the pretty sight, and it appeared to me that no flag is so beautiful as the American. We wish that it may wave on that place for many years for its proud host and hostess and now that this interesting home is finished we bid Mr. and Mrs. Meier welcome here to the Heights. We now wonder who will be the next in line to choose a summer home here among the hills along the Highway.
