ITALY IN THE SPOTLIGHT.

Italy is at war on the side of the allies against Austria and Germany. For days she has had an army of 600,000 men, fully equipped and ready for the field, massed at a point about 25 miles from the Austrian border, and a week ago she ordered all her officers and men in Switzerland up to the age of 34 to rejoin their regiments at once.

Meanwhile Austrian and Bavarian forces were concentrating in the Tyrol—a fact which proved that Austria had no intention of agreeing to the proposals of Italy. The latter nation did not wait but has declared the war that it was rumored Germany would precipitate and now Italy's strength will be arrayed against Germany and Austria.

But what will be the immediate effect of Italy's advent into the war? First off, it will spell enforced activity for the Austrian arms, which hitherto have presented the appearance from a distance of leaving Germany and Turkey to do the fighting. Later on Germany will undoubtedly come into collision with her former ally, and a bitter, bloody meeting it will be! for Germany has all along cherished a deep and intense resentment at the failure of Italy to accept her assertion that she, and not England, was forced into the struggle, and to come to her assistance.

Indeed, the emperor of Germany some months ago assured the Italian government that he would not forget its "perfidy."

During the closing days of last week the situation in Rome had become as a keg of powder, attached to which was a lighted, sputtering and rapidly shortening fuse. The explosion has come and will involve the swarming of thousands of Italian soldiers across the border and the prosecution of the war with renewed fury.

There are boys and girls in every town wearing college suits and silk stockings whose mothers have to do the family washing while their fathers get in the stove wood, and in our judgment these same fathers and mothers ought to close up shop for one day each week and devote their energies to the polishing of slipper soles and harness tugs.

Barnes will not get the $50,000 in money, but probably twice the value in revenge. The outcome of the libel suit shows that the colonel's knees were always in working order and well oiled when the boss came around. It also reveals the fact that you can't successfully libel a politician.

Those perspiration cures that are now being advertised are interesting at least in the respect that they are reminded that now is the time when the country needs the services of men who are not afraid to sweat.

Of course, when all the women get equal rights men will probably begin to inquire how it is that they, too, can not roast the living hide off a male neighbor and then hug him the next minute.

Opportunity seems to be knocking persistently in Gresham. It would probably disturb the slumbers of some people if they were not so thoroughly asleep.

The newspapers all predicted that the colonel would win. A kindred feeling, you know; but then the newspapers have the faculty of prescience.

When we read of Judge Taft and Colonel Roosevelt shaking hands we wondered if the colonel and Barnes would ever shake hands again.

Another exodus to the fatherland is imminent. This time the Italians, but what will we do for bootblacks?

WHEN THE WAR ENDS.

Many persons are wondering what will be the financial results in the United States after the close of the war. There are plenty of optimists who have predicted the close during the summer, but that was before Italy made any decisive movement.

Recent movements indicate that not only Italy but Greece, Roumania and Bulgaria will be drawn into the conflict. If that happens the prospects are good for at least another winter of fighting, and the question again recurs.

After the war, what? The oldest textile weekly journal, Fibre and Fabric, handles the case from the American standpoint, after the following fashion:

The war that has sapped the best blood of Europe has saved the textile industry in this country. Our mills have had their best business from France and Belgium, and without us, the armies of the allies would have suffered beyond endurance from lack of clothing.

Even the most radical free-trader must admit that the Wilson tariff is a rank failure. Hundreds of thousands of self-respecting American workers also admit it and are eager for the opportunity to register their protest, yet no move for the relief of our industries has been made by the party in power.

When in strenuous times like the present, in England, if reports are true, her mills can send even $2,500,000 worth of wool yarns and cloth in a month, what will happen when normal conditions prevail and the full force of unfair competition is felt?

The close of the war will bring many a problem to every European nation, but our own country will not be without its problems, produced not alone by that cause, but by internal causes of our own make. There will be a lively scramble in the country, when the time and opportunity arrives, to correct the mistakes of the past three years, as any nation of Europe can produce for the rehabilitations of its own industries.

We will have one opportunity when we elect our next congress. Will we take advantage of it?

THE WIDOWS' CAMPAIGN.

A society correspondent thinks the war widows of Europe will capture all eligible Americans who cross the herring pond when peace comes, and that American girls who do not keep their winkers peeled will become old maids.

It would be a calamity to have the European widows go on a campaign of watchful waiting for American young men, but there would be the consolation that they could bring their brides to America and escape the mother-in-law infliction.

Colonel Roosevelt was able to battle as effectively at Syracuse as he did at Armageddon.

Indications are that Mr. Barnes would be justified in suing his lawyers for damages.

The king of Italy was able to make Rome howl.

WHAT ARE WE?

We are beginning to wonder, viewing the apparent sluggishness of the American public in the face of insult, indignity and injustice, whether we have not actually become a "peace-at-any-price" people.

The other day a German submarine sank a defenceless passenger ship and left over a thousand of the victims, both men and women to perish. More than a hundred were American citizens. We told Germany when she announced her submarine blockade we should hold her directly responsible and accountable for any loss of American lives which came as a result of that unprecedented form of warfare.

We have heard of none except a note of inquiry, asking why, and in sorrow, rather than contempt, we predict, if one is seriously made it will be but another idle paper protest which will get just the amount of consideration which the spirit behind it deserves—which is none at all.

At the convention of the Columbia and Snake River Waterways association at Astoria last week, W. W. Harraugh, of Pendleton, said: "If the open river causes a reduction of but two cents per bushel on wheat, it will save Umatilla county alone $120,000 per year, and if corresponding reductions are made on other commodities shipped from that county, it will mean the saving of more than half the county's annual taxes of $400,000."

At Olympia a socialist mayor and jury confiscated the city water plant at half value fixed by all the engineers.
