Lloyd Grimshaw, while climbing the hill west of Montavilla, met with a misfortune last Saturday when he had a head on collision with a Ford automobile. The driver of the Ford was on the wrong side of the road and Lloyd to pass him turned in at the same instant that the driver of the automobile turned in and the collision was the result. Lloyd received a few minor bruises, but his motorcycle was damaged quite a bit. While going up Mt. Tabor hill Lloyd got an awful spill. You may know without a word, His downfall was caused by a Ford. It seems that they tried to see which could pass in safety, Both inclinations favored the bank. They started for it and each head sank. They met at once with a head on glide. And then Lloyd commenced to slide. In the future when his wealth is stored, He's sure to buy himself a "Ford". For motorcycles arn't made to stand The terrific bumps a Ford can land.

"Fried chicken day" was held recently in Missouri and the state poultry raisers' association is complimenting itself on what it "put over." The Kansas City poultry club held a big picnic, at which "the unfried chicken" was the subject of the main address.

The oldest ironclad in the world is the U. S. A. Wolverine, now completing her seventy-first year of service. She was built at Pittsburg and shipped in sections to Lake Erie in 1844, having since been stationed on that body of water. The Wolverine was a prison for 2,000 Confederates during the civil war.

A Haitian general, having ordered a glass eye, was dissatisfied with it and returned it to the English manufacturer, saying that the color resembled that of the Spanish flag, adding "I am far too patriotic to wear any colors but those of my own country." Whereupon the makers sent him a scarlet and green eye, which he is said to have received with enthusiastic approval.

De Quincy, the writer, during the last thirty years of his life invariably made his dinner of a slice of mutton and a dish of rice. He insisted that the cook cut his meat in a diagonal rather than a longitudinal form, declaring that, "otherwise, consequences incalculably distressing to my system will arise and will prevent me from attending to matters of overwhelming importance."

Their Fraternal Spirit.

One splendid point to be observed about the fraternal societies is their democracy and the strictly representative character of their government. Every member is the equal of every other, and through personally chosen representatives has an equal voice in the management. The success of these societies is real and substantial. The man who would dismiss them with a smile or a sneer is ignoring some fine lessons in the business and social life of the country.—Chicago Inter-Ocean.

When You Take Cold.

With the average man a cold is a serious matter and should not be trifled with, as some of the most dangerous diseases start with a common cold. Take Chamberlain's Cough Remedy and get rid of your cold as quickly as possible. You are not experimenting when you use this remedy, as it has been in use for many years and has an established reputation. It contains no opium or other narcotic. Obtainable at Gresham Drug Store.—Adv.

Fir slabs, the disposition of which forms a problem for the sawmills of the northwest, have been found by a chemistry student at the University of Washington to be exceedingly rich in tannin content. From three cords of fir slabs he could obtain as much of the extract, which is used in tanning and in the manufacture of lugs and dyes, as from a cord of western hemlock bark. The bark costs $11.50 a cord, whereas three cords of the fir slab may be bought at anywhere from $3 to $6, depending on the location of the mills. Further, the tannin content of chestnut wood, which yields 200,000,000 pounds of extract annually in the east, is only a little greater than that of the fir slab. Chestnut has an average content of 6.62 per cent, while the fir slab runs from 5.45 to 5.92 per cent.

The strength of an egg shell is not generally fully realized. Recently eight ordinary hen's eggs were submitted to pressure applied externally all over the surface of the shell, and the breaking pressures varied between 400 pounds and 675 pounds a square inch. With the stresses applied internally to twelve eggs these gave way at pressures varying between thirty-two pounds and sixty-five pounds a square inch. The pressure required to crush the eggs varied between forty pounds and seventy-five pounds. The average thickness of the shells was thirteen-thousandths of an inch.

Taking Thought of Tomorrow.

A man's responsibility for his family does not end with his death. If life insurance is to be relied on, as some ultra-religionists say, because it has to do with the future and its uncertainties, then every act that looks to the meeting of a future need in the personal life or the family of the man, must be ruled out. How really unchristian the very thought that the man starting on a journey must suffer the charge of a lack of faith in God because he takes food for the journey or provides himself with money for his needs! Yet, what is that but insurance for the day?—Bee Hive.
