ROCKWOOD

Mr. and Mrs. George Boland, of Tigard, Oregon, visited their daughter Mrs. Platt on Sunday.

Floyd Lovelace has returned to his home here after spending several weeks with his sister, Mrs. V. R. Her, of Silverton.

Mrs. Carrie Hayselden left for San Francisco on the steamer "Great Northern" on Tuesday last. Her son George, who has been in Alaska for the past six months, came by this way and escorted his mother to San Francisco. Mrs. Hayselden will visit the exposition and sail for Honolulu the first of December. Mr. Hayselden, whose home is in San Francisco, will return to Alaska about the first of the year where he is interested in placer mining.

Mr. and Mrs. J. S. Smith, of Portland, spent Sunday with Mrs. Smith's brother, J. Platt. Mr. Platt, who is ill, was a little better on Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Kreofsky visited friends in Portland Sunday.

Mrs. Reuben Kaser is spending a few days with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Geo. Pullen.

Hilmer Anspach is at home once more after spending the summer working at Kittitas, Washington.

Several telephones have been put out of commission on account of the rain and wind.

Some folks say, "Well, why didn't you put something about our party in the paper? This is the reason. I don't know everything about all the events that take place in our little town. If you know any news just a whisper or a line and the Rockwood scribbler will do her best to make the event shine."

Old Kanaka Jim is quite ill and under the care of a physician at the present writing.

Miss Bertha Anspach spent Sunday with her parents.

TROUTDALE

The Troutdale Ladies' Aid society is making preparations for their annual bazaar, which will be held in the Masonic hall, Saturday, December 4, opening at 5 o'clock and no sales will be made before that time. It is divided into departments as follows: sitting room and dining room, in charge of Mrs. L. Kummer and Mrs. J. R. Knarr; bedroom and children's, in charge of Mrs. C. I. Thomas and Miss Mabel Inglis; kitchen, Mrs. C. I. Raker. In each department will be articles in keeping with those rooms especially designed for Christmas gifts. Among other things they have about twenty woven rugs which will be sold at a very reasonable price.

Miss Olive Wilson, assisted by Miss Anna Crawford, will preside over the ever popular fish-pond, and Miss Merle Monahan with other girls assisting, will dispense the equally popular sweets at the candy booth.

A chicken pie cafeteria supper, beginning at 6 o'clock will be served by Mrs. G. P. Lumsden and a corps of able assistants. Mrs. L. A. Harlow is preparing a program which will be short but very interesting. Admission and program will be free.

Ladies' Aid society of Troutdale will hold their meeting this week on Friday at Mrs. L. Kummer's. It is desired that every one come as early in the afternoon as possible. The work is finishing articles for the bazaar.

William S. Newbury, who was mayor of Portland from 1877 to 1879, died at the Alco apartments, Union avenue and East Couch street, at the age of 81 years, as the result of a stroke of paralysis sustained two weeks ago. Mr. Newbury was born in Ripley, Chautauqua county, N. Y., September 19, 1834. He served in the United States army as a member of the Sixth Kansas Infantry during the fifties. He came to California in 1870 and moved to Portland soon afterwards, where he engaged in the grain business, dealing in Willamette valley grain. Then was formed the Newbury-Hawthorne implement company, with Dr. J. C. Hawthorne a member, which had branches at Walla Walla, Albany and Roseburg. In 1877 he was elected and served one term as mayor of Portland. In 1889 he engaged in the practice of law at Sumpter and engaged in mining operations in Baker county. He became quite prominent in that county. Mr. and Mrs. Newbury returned to Portland last March and retired from active business. He is survived by his wife, and two daughters, Mrs. Estella Stephenson, of Portland, and Mrs. Izzetta Poole, of Eugene. He had been a member of the G. A. R. His funeral was held today.

HALEY

The Ladies' Aid society and young people's auction sale at the Baptist church was a great success considering the weather. The total receipts being about $75. G. A. Johnson was the auctioneer and he certainly made a good one. Mrs. Karl Hagberg of Powell Valley favored the audience with a solo. The ladies wish to thank all those who ventured out on such a night and for the way they helped to make the affair a success by the things they bought.

Rev. Aug. Olson preached at the Haley church Sunday. He will give his lecture on "The Second Coming of Christ" over in the Swedish Mission church in Damascus, November 23, 24 and 26. All who can understand the Swedish language are cordially invited to be present. Those who never have heard him give this lecture should be sure to hear it. It is free.

There will be preaching at the Baptist church Thanksgiving day at 11 o'clock a. m. All are invited.

Now Look Out.

When a cold hangs on as often happens, or when you have hardly gotten over one cold before you contract another, look out for you are liable to contract some very serious disease. This succession of colds weakens the system and lowers the vitality so that you are much more liable to contract chronic catarrh, pneumonia or consumption. Cure your cold while you can. Chamberlain's Cough Remedy has a great reputation. It is relied upon by thousands of people and never disappoints them. Try it. It only costs a quarter. Sold by Gresham Drug Co.

King Ferdinand of Bulgaria, is noted as the handsomest man now upon a European throne. He is profuse in decorating his person with all the insignia of the many orders that have been conferred upon him. His facial type is Jewish, and he is a Saxe-Coburg prince, strong in his German proclivities. It is said that the fact that all his estates and practically all his investments are in Austria has had no little to do with deciding his attitude in the war.

PLEDGES ASSISTANCE TO NEW LIQUOR LAW

By L. H. WELLS.

PORTLAND, Nov. 22.—Special.—"Enforcement of the prohibition law after January 1," was the subject of the address by Elisha A. Baker before the Union United Brethren Evangelical association today, in which he explained the plans adopted, and asked for the co-operation of the association in this movement. Mr. Baker reviewed the methods by which the present prohibition laws were framed and told how it was forced through an unwilling House of Representatives, which he said was unwritten history. He then reviewed the law and brought out the main points.

"We are giving the people full information concerning this law," said Mr. Baker, "so the will be able to assist the officers in its enforcement. We are forming 'Office Aid societies' throughout the state to aid the district attorneys and sheriff to do their duty. We have the assurances of nearly every prosecuting officer in the state that they are intending to do their whole duty toward the prohibition, but they will need assistance. Some country district attorneys do not know how to enforce the law, or draw up the papers needed to prosecute offenders, and these will be assisted by other attorneys, who are competition to do the work."

Mr. Baker brought to the association meeting copies of the "Laymen's Primer" of the prohibition compiled by Attorney General C. M. Brown and Mr. Baker, which contains full information of the law and its penalties, which were distributed to the ministers.

The association then appointed the following representatives to assist in the enforcement of the law: for the United Brethren church, H. F. White; United Evangelical Association, J. C. Luckel; Evangelical Association, T. H. Staver.

Rev. S. Earl Du Bois has been the pastor of the Grand Avenue United Presbyterian church for the past ten years, and Friday night the congregation assembled and celebrated the anniversary of the services of their pastor with appropriate exercises.

W. W. Dugan, Jr., in behalf of the congregation and the working organizations of the church presented Rev. and Mrs. Du Bois with a beautiful silver tea set in recognition of their faithful worth and as a token of the high esteem in which they are held by the congregation. Mr. Dugan reviewed in brief the events of the past ten years and commended Rev. Du Bois and wife for their services. Both responded expressing appreciation of their demonstration of confidence.

Rev. Mr. DuBois came to the Grand Avenue United Presbyterian church from St. Louis, Missouri, and entered on his work with a congregation numbering thirteen on the morning of his first sermon. The church was badly broken up by strife. Today there are more than 200 members, and there are no debts and the church is prosperous in all lines. Rev. DuBois has had a prominent place in the United Presbytery of Portland and the Synod of Oregon.

At a caucus the officers, office seekers and politicians dictate to the people. At a mass-meeting the people dictate to the office seekers and officials who are their servants. Town officials can not also be officers at a mass-meeting. None of such officials have anything to do with a mass-meeting except the town recorder whose duty it is, under the ordinance, to call the meeting to order. For the reason that a mass-meeting must be called not later than three weeks before the election, this mass-meeting cannot be used for the purpose of nominations in any way except by petition of ten per cent of the voters, or about thirty citizens signing petitions. Six persons should be nominated by petition, for this is the number designated in the call or notice, published for the mass-meeting; and for the further reason that the ordinance requires there must be more than one candidate nominated, either by mass-meeting or petition, for each office to be filled.

Contrary to the statement made by the chairman of the caucus held here last Monday evening to the effect that the foregoing ordinance is illegal and that only one candidate was elected for office a year ago, the fact is that said ordinance has never been repealed, and that a year ago two candidates were nominated for each councilman's place to be filled and the minutes show that, "on motion made and duly carried, it was decided that the six receiving the highest vote for councilmen be the nominees."

town of Gresham, or the same shall be published in the official newspaper for two successive issues, prior to the holding of said meeting. The said notices shall state the time, place and purpose of said mass-meeting and the officers to be nominated. The said mass-meeting shall be called to order by the Town Recorder. There may be nominated for each office, to be filled, not more than four persons who shall file their acceptance of said nomination. Any person who fails to so file his acceptance shall not be entitled to have his name placed on the ballot.

(b) It shall also be permissible to nominate candidates for office by petition, signed by ten per cent of the total number of votes cast at this last general town election.

Passed this 7th day of November, 1912.

LEWIS SHATTUCK, Mayor.

Attest:

D. M. ROBERTS, Recorder.

There can be no valid election of councilmen unless candidates are nominated at a mass-meeting or by petition as provided by the foregoing ordinance passed in 1912.

There can be no valid nomination at a meeting called and conducted as a caucus, as the meeting of November 15th was called by the following notice:

Election Notice.

Notice is hereby given that pursuant to the provisions of Ordinance No. 5, a town caucus will be held at Metzger's hall in the city of Gresham, on Monday, November 15, at 8 p. m., for the purpose of nominating candidates as follows: three councilmen, each for the term of two years.

By order of the Council,
D. M. ROBERTS, Recorder.
Dated, Nov. 8, 1915.

The ordinance provides for a mass-meeting and not a caucus. Anything done at a caucus, is the same as though nothing was done, for we have no such thing as a town caucus. A caucus is in no way provided for, but is in every way provided against, by law; a mass-meeting is a creature of statute or ordinance. A caucus is a meeting of politicians or partisans for public office. A mass-meeting is a gathering of all the people for the nomination of more than one candidate for each office, to be filled without distinction as to faction, party or privilege.

At a caucus the officers, office seekers and politicians dictate to the people. At a mass-meeting the people dictate to the office seekers and officials who are their servants. Town officials can not also be officers at a mass-meeting. None of such officials have anything to do with a mass-meeting except the town recorder whose duty it is, under the ordinance, to call the meeting to order. For the reason that a mass-meeting must be called not later than three weeks before the election, this mass-meeting cannot be used for the purpose of nominations in any way except by petition of ten per cent of the voters, or about thirty citizens signing petitions. Six persons should be nominated by petition, for this is the number designated in the call or notice, published for the mass-meeting; and for the further reason that the ordinance requires there must be more than one candidate nominated, either by mass-meeting or petition, for each office to be filled.

Contrary to the statement made by the chairman of the caucus held here last Monday evening to the effect that the foregoing ordinance is illegal and that only one candidate was elected for office a year ago, the fact is that said ordinance has never been repealed, and that a year ago two candidates were nominated for each councilman's place to be filled and the minutes show that, "on motion made and duly carried, it was decided that the six receiving the highest vote for councilmen be the nominees."

The candidates should have separate petitions but each petitioner can sign all the petitions.

King of Cocaine.

French newspapers tell of an American in Paris who bears without pride the title of "king of cocaine." He has become rich, it is said by selling this drug. His kingdom is in the part of Paris known as Montmartre. The drug is in boxes, upon which are the words, "Captivating Coco. The Universal Idol." Since the opening of the war the king has advanced the price to three francs, 50 centimes the gram, for which he formerly received less than two francs. His agents are in a number of well-known cafes. A danseuse, one of his customers, has been buying four grains of cocaine a day. She has kept an account of her purchases and says that since August, 1914, she has paid out for this terrible drug about 5,000 francs, that is in our money about $1,000. In a cafe known as the Panther, a dramatic artist to whom the drug was refused because he had no money, cried out: "I must have it! Take anything I have, but I must have it!"

The king of cocaine and his agents have been brought before the correctional court.

Sufferer From Indigestion Relieved.

The prince of Wales has taken an oath never to marry a German princess. The heir apparent to the British throne, who is directly of German stock, is quoted by the Paris press as having formally registered a vow that no German blood should be added to the British throne line if he could help it. "I intend to marry the daughter of an English peer," said the young prince to friends recently.

The prince has been serving with the British headquarters force somewhere in the region of Dunkirk.

Nearly a ton of wrist watches were on exhibition at a recent convention of jewelers in New York. "The majority of persons," said one of the exhibitors, "call these 'stussy' watches, but this term will eventually be discredited—for one thing, because the officers in the European war are depending a great deal on wrist watches." The convention, however, as a whole, did not encourage the use of the innovation.

Millions of dollars' worth of precious metals will be weighed on the fine scales of the New Orleans mint. There are two sets of scales now in use there, the larger of which weighs anything from one thousandth of an ounce to 600 pounds. The second scale, with its agate bearings, will weigh accurately a human hair.
