MEN WHO GOSSIP MORE THAN WOMEN

Recently I had something to say about the small town gossip. Like many other evils that has to be borne as burdens, the gossip is more of a useless and worthless appendage than hockworn, pelegra, the seven-year itch or the one-horse politician. All towns have a surplus of gossips, people who "nose around" to learn something to tell about their neighbors. Luther has more men gossips than women, strange as this may seem. I hardly know how to classify gossip, but it is a human bird with eagle wings and a voice like a fog horn. It can be heard from Dan to Beersheba and has caused more trouble than all the bedbugs, flies, mosquitoes, grasshoppers, chinch-bugs, rattlesnakes, smallpox, yellow fever, rats, blizzards, earthquakes, and even whisky that this great United States knows or will know when the universe shuts up shop and begins taking the final invoice. In other words, it has war and hell in a corner yelling for ice water.—Luther, (Okla.) Register.

LIBRARY NOTES

The library has just received new collections of German and Swedish books. More will be added as the demand increases.

A special section has been given to books for Christmas reading including stories, poems and games. There are also suggestions for Christmas festivities, menus and gifts.

Last Saturday the library circulated more books than on any day since its beginning. One hundred and twenty-seven books were taken out, eighty-eight being in the adult department. The next largest day was the first Saturday of the month when one hundred and eighteen books went out. Previous to this month the largest day was in last February when one hundred and nine books circulated in one day.

During December Christmas stories will be told every Thursday afternoon.

Naval Contrasts.

The recent celebration of Nelson's victory of Trafalgar 110 years ago has brought forward from naval experts many comparisons between the wooden war vessels of that day and the present steel-clad monsters of the deep. Nelson's vessel, the Victory, had a broadside from fifty-two guns of 1,160 pounds of metal. A single shot from a 13.5-inch gun hurled 240 pounds more metal than this. At the battle of Trafalgar the British fleet went into action at a speed of three knots, but this speed (!) gradually diminished. Today a battle cruiser can make from twenty-eight to thirty miles an hour. The Victory, Nelson's flagship, did not fire her first round into the stern of the Bucefauter until the distance between the two vessels was no more than ten yards. Today havoc begins from a distance of 17,000 to 20,000 yards. A modern battleship could have destroyed such a fleet as Nelson's without suffering the least injury. It could destroy an oceanful of old-time ships almost without firing a gun for it could plow through such a fleet with a steel-shod ram, taking no notice of the pellets of round shot of twelve pounds up to sixty-eight pounds as they rattled against her armored sides.

A POOR KNIFE is about the peskiest thing that a man lets himself put up with.

Yet it is surprising how many men are careless about pocket knives—so apt to go along with their old ones, unless reminded of it.

Almost every day some of our customers are reminded by the sight of our display of pocket knives, or perhaps by feeling their old ones in their pockets, that they need a new knife.

More often than not, too, they are surprised to find our assortment so complete—so many styles and sizes—bone handles, pearl handles, metal handles, wood handles. And ranging from two-bladed pen knives to four and six-bladed knives, and some with screw-driver, cork puller and small scissor fittings. Mighty handy for a man to have.

How about a little shooting some of these bright days? At a target with a .22 rifle, or over the traps? We can fit you out—Rifles, Cartridges, Shot-guns, Shells, all REMINGTON-UMC, our leading line in Arms and Ammunition favored by practically all the keen Sportsmen we know.

From notes scratched down in pencil here and there among the scenes of conflict three French priests, the abbot, George Ardant, Thellier de Pouchville and Jean Desgranges, have issued a book which is said to give a splendid picture of the French nation during the war. "Every line they have written," says a report, "bears testimony whose feet marched through a morass of blood been so so magnificently and gloriously alive."
