"The Linotype Way is the Way that Wins."

Official paper of the Town of Gresham, Oregon.
Official paper of the Town of Fairview, Oregon.

Entered as second-class matter March 3, 1911, at the Postoffice at Gresham, Oregon, under the Act of March 3, 1879.

EFFICIENCY COMMENDED.

Henry E. Reed is a candidate to succeed himself as county assessor. He will be re-elected without any apparent opposition, but it is gratifying to the Outlook to reproduce the following concerning Mr. Reed and his office, taken from the Evening Telegram:

What one likes to see in a public office is the orderliness, the efficiency and the splendid economy which characterize the highest type of private business enterprises. It is often looked for but very seldom found. There is an exception to the rule in the county assessor, There Henry Reed has evolved an office which has the feel and the appearance of high geared efficiency one would expect to find in the business office of a highly organized manufacturing plant. His men are alert, ready and able to supply any desired information. Everything that they need to know is card indexed under their very fingers. They can tell in a moment not only about things as they are but as they have been for years past.

And it is not alone in the office management that everything has been brought up to the highest level but in the methods of making assessments so that the burdens of taxation fall equitably upon every taxpayer. The methods are no longer haphazard. They follow the line of strict equity and business principles. There is the same rule for everybody and when everybody knows that it is all they want to know.

It is not surprising that no other candidate has yet appeared in the race for county assessor. There would be surprise if he had. Mr. Reed fits into the situation like a glove on the hand. He is efficient himself and demands efficiency from all his men. He sees that he gets it, too. The result is he runs an office of which every one who knows it is proud. He deserves re-nomination and re-election not because he is a republican, but on the ground of the fine public service he has rendered. He has a model office and he is a model officer and that is why the public is so appreciative.

RESULT OF BONDING.

Grants Pass bonded itself for $200,000 to build ten miles of railroad—then presented the railroad as a bonus for an extension on a total distance of forty miles to the mineral belt.

These bonds cost the people of Grants Pass $12,000 a year taxes as interest on the bonds. Let us see some of the results secured by the issuance of these bonds, as claimed by interested parties for this year.

There will be shipped over this railroad from mines which probably would not otherwise be operated 200 cars of copper ore, valued at $320,000.

There will be manufactured 8,000,000 feet of lumber, 400 cars, costing $8 per 1,000 feet to produce, or $64,000 payroll for the city.

There will also be cut and shipped 8,000,000 feet of logs, which, at $8 per 1,000, are valued at $64,000.

There will be cut and shipped 2,000 cars of fuel wood, 40,000 cords, which at $2 per cord for cutting is $80,000.

There will be produced from land along the railroad 1,000 acres of sugar beets, or $40,000.

It is claimed that the railroad brought the sugar factory, a $600,000 investment, of which $300,000 represents labor.

The extension of the road twenty-five miles, at an average cost of $20,000 per mile, means a $500,000 investment.

This program of one year's development is due to the new railroad Grants Pass started. Similar development would be recorded elsewhere if other needed branch railroads were constructed in southern Oregon.—Medford Mail-Tribune.

Except for the weekly payrolls the profits enumerated above will all go to the owners of the copper mines, the sawmills and lumber camp owners, the farmers raising beets, the sugar factory and the railroad company. Considerable money will be turned loose, but how much of it will the taxpayers of the city of Grants Pass get of it in return for their bonds and the $12,000 a year interest?

Villa may escape; but one might guess that it will keep him awful busy, for a long time doing it.

PRIMARY ELECTION.

After every primary election there is more or less adverse criticism of primary elections, and arguments offered in favor of a restoration of the old-fashioned convention system. It will be observed that almost without exception these attacks upon the primary system emanate from sources which were bitterly hostile to any change from the convention system to a more popular method of making nominations. They serve merely to reveal the fact that the old antagonisms, in spite of defeat, still persist and will become open and active whenever those who hold them think the time propitious for an effort at the restoration of the old-time convention.

There are always elements in a government like our which seek selfish personal privileges inimical to the public interest. When the convention system offered an easy opportunity for establishing control, these selfish interests, not only in Oregon but in many other states, established it and maintained it.

The surest way to invite renewed effort at such control would be to restore conditions as they were when private interests, and not the public interests managed state affairs.

"Munhinotu" is to be the name of the senior's annual seal to be published. The girl who invented it will get a copy of the annual free, and we'll give a copy of the Outlook to anyone who will tell us where to find it in the dictionary. It is pronounced Mewn-hi-no-tu.

It is reported that Joe Folk will consent to run for governor of Missouri again. Why in the name of General Jackson, if Missouri is so nearly out of democrats, don't it come and get Col. Bob Miller? We guarantee him to be perfectly sound and used to running.

Now that Dr. Clarence True Wilson has declined the nomination for a place on the presidential ballot the poor old state of Oregon will have to fall back upon George E. Chamberlain again. He has never taken the trouble to decline when his name was "mentioned."

There seems to be some fear back east that the heavy batting of Ty Cobb will sink the Atlantic coast. But Biddy Bishop of the Gresham Giants will hold this side of the continent down so that we won't slide off when the catastrophe tries to happen.

While these beautiful days are with us don't ignore the department of agricultural's warning to "beware of false weather prophets." Stick to the ground hog, the goose bone and such reliable old weather settlers.

Among the new degrees proposed by the university faculty of Texas is that of "Master of Journalism." When he visits this office we'll show him the left-handed shooting stick, italic spaces and type lice.

Harry West of Illinois has taken a bride who weighs 615 pounds. Here's wishing you luck, Harry, and you are invited to bring your side-show to the Gresham fair next fall.

The man from the country who moves into town hardly ever lives in his new home long enough to get used to collars and handkerchiefs before he pines for the old ranch again.

We have been thinking for over sixteen months now that the prohibs of Oregon, Washington and Idaho ought to chip in for a monument to the author of "Old Oaken Bucket."

Statistics show that seven pounds is the average weight of a new baby. But it always gains two pounds by the time the delirious father gets to the editor's desk with the cigars.

It is pleasant to know that there are good sidewalks on Main street and that the rest of us will have a pleasant place to saunter while we watch the automobiles gliding by.

Ella Wheeler Wilcox criticizes the distant manners of English women. Will the English women kindly bring their manners close enough for our inspection?

We are deeply touched by this appeal coming from Europe for condensed milk for the babies. But, then, the women are not fighting in the trenches.

Just now a little more of this sort of thing and the interesting whirr of the lawn mower will be heard during the brief intervals when the accelerator is at rest.

Captain C. P. Stayton For County Commissioner

To the Voters of Multnomah County.

Capt. C. P. Stayton, who is a candidate for the nomination for county commissioner subject to the republican primaries May 19, is an able business man and an expert mechanic of the highest class. I have known him and his family for the past twenty-five years and every member of it has an excellent standing in this community. Two of his sons are connected with river transportation, one being captain of the steamer McCracken, and the other chief engineer of the steamer Ocklahome. One son having been burned to death by the explosion of the oil tank of the steamer Regulator. Captain Stayton has always been an exact and prompt business man as illustrated when he purchased the steamer Cygnut on time and operated her for eight years, meeting all his obligations when due. He built the steamer Nester at a cost of $7,000, during very dull times, and it was necessary for him to work on the river at the time to be able to make payments on it which he did in full to the following firms and individuals: Honeyman Hardware Co., Gauld Co., Beebe & Co., Burt Hicks, Joseph Supple, and Willamette Iron Works and at the present time is entirely free from debt.

It is a pleasure for me to say that I have been associated with him in business ventures and found him to be honest in all his dealings. Therefore I recommend him to the voters of Multnomah county.

Insomnia.

Indigestion nearly always disturbs the sleep more or less, and is often the cause of insomnia. Eat a light supper with little if any meat, and no milk; also take one of Chamberlain's Tablets immediately after supper, and see if you do not rest much better. For sale by Gresham Drug Co.—Adv.

There are sixty-one nations in the world which claim independence, although if put to the actual test several of them would probably be shown to fall a trifle short of that status and others could not defend themselves against the aggressions of even the weaker of their neighbors.
