CAUTIONS THE GRANGE.

John M. Mann, a candidate for the republican nomination as a member of the legislature, has cautioned the granges to be careful in adopting resolutions emanating from political sources. Two granges of this county recently endorsed a measure concerning the O. & C., land grant affair, a matter which will not be settled satisfactorily for twenty years. Such business is rank foolishness and commits the grange to something that very few have any understanding of.

For instance, the resolutions referred to asked that congress hold the railroad people down to the original agreement to sell their land for $2.50 an acre to settlers, no one person to have more than 160 acres. As it was the original agreement it sounds reasonable that the land grant people should be held to the bargain, but there are reasons why the grange should keep hands off.

The railroad company has held the land for about forty years and have refused to sell for the fixed price, but they are owing the several counties in which the land lies more than a million and a half dollars in taxes. To compel them to sell at $2.50 an acre would mean the loss of the taxes and to have the lands revert back to the government would mean the same thing. The only way out of the difficulty is a compromise on an equitable basis, and the grange is making a mistake in meddling with something that it knows very little about.

Resolutions should be held back and fully discussed before they are passed, as there are just as many jokers in an inspired resolution as there are in some legislative measures. Mr. Mann is right when he cautions against a too free use of the "resolving" prerogative of the grange.

HOUSES FOR BIRDS.

With bird houses taking prizes in some of our schools and in other organizations, one is reminded that the nesting time of the birds is at hand. Home building has begun and favorable sites are in demand. Whoever, therefore, wants a feathered friend for a close neighbor must be quick about the business of providing suitable and tempting quarters. He can, if he chooses, buy the houses already built, in designs various and numerous, more or less fancy, and, as human eyes view them, altogether satisfactory and complete. But the bird standards differ somewhat from those of the average bird-house carpenter.

The word "house," in this connection is a misnomer, for the less houselike the bird box the more practical it will prove. The fanciful dollhouses with chimneys, frescoes and verandas, are very ineffective and entirely out of place. The more it is like the old hollow limb in the orchard or the hole in the fence post, the more pleasing it will be to the bird. For this reason the bird box-maker who may have been discouraged at the sight of the elaborate structures which have recently been so much in evidence will probably be duly thankful. And so, too, very likely, will the prospective tenant who has doubtless looked with awe as well as misgivings upon the mansions that have lately been set skyward in some city and suburban back yards.

"Give us this day our daily bread" appears in the sweetest prayer ever uttered, and it conveys the most poetic and most spiritual appeal that ever ascended to the throne of heaven, but even at that it was never intended to invoke a food supply for the fellow who is able but unwilling to work in this year of grace, 1916.

Cheering reports come from Portland, where Mr. McCormick is more than holding his own against the other candidates for school superintendent. A heavy vote in the county will mean his sure nomination.

What good will it do the democrats to sound a keynote when the republicans are singing the Hallelujah chorus?

A resident of eastern Multnomah, as county school superintendent would give a prestige to this part of the county which has heretofore been lacking. By electing J. S. McCormick we of the county would have representation in the list of county offices—something we have not had for twenty years.

So far there has been no sign of a blight of any kind, and the strawberry crop is coming along with that grand, sweeping and enveloping movement that will characterize our maneuvers next November, when we take into camp that poor, skinny democratic mule that kicked Bryan so hard.

By producing more'n a million dollars worth of back-kivvering and several million dollars worth of tummy-filling, grand old Oregon will be a land of rejoicing on the skiddoo day of next November—the first holiday after we wollop the democrats.

Ambitious plans for the modernization of the city of Santiago, capital of Chile, are under consideration. A commission has been named, including the mayor and other municipal officials, to make a careful study of the matter.

Whenever we go over to Puget Sound we are generally glad when we reach Tacoma; and when we reach Seattle we are sorry we left Portland. And when we get back to Portland we sigh for Gresham.

Having done everything he could do to keep his name off the Oregon primary ballot, Justice Hughes will be in the running with Henry Ford for the presidency and will be the winner.

A Portland school teacher says that the number of bad children increases all the time. Guess that's right. The school census shows that the population is increasing all the time, too.

The United States has much the largest known radium bearing deposits in the world, but only about eleven grams of the element was produced last year.

Women during 1914 applied for 250 patents in England, ten fewer than in 1913. On the part of men there was a diminution of 5,000 applications.

It is reported that the price of shoes will go still higher. Even at that we prefer to motor on the leather express than on the paper limited.

Now, if the weather bureau will only give us a sunshiny May Day we will call things square for a part of January and February.

Joy-walking has lost its charm as a fad; but it is not entirely a lost art, as a few of us can't cut the mustard for a Ford just yet.

The period is approaching when all readers of this popular home newspaper must watch for the signal to wear straw hats.

Crop prospects in the northwest will give the European belligerents new hope of prolonging the war for another season.

If the hens don't go on a strike now the price of eggs will be cheaper than gasoline.

There is going to be something of a cat fight on May 19th between certain candidates we know of but won't mention.

By the way, what has become of that proposed sewer on Main street?

Why Constipation Injures.
 The bowels are the natural sewerage system of the body. When they become obstructed by constipation a part of the poisonous matter which they should carry off is absorbed into the system, making you feel dull and stupid, and interfering with the digestion and assimilation of food. This condition is quickly relieved by Chamberlain's Tablets. For sale by Gresham Drug Co.—Adv.

A new process of coating structural steel or any other exposed metal with zinc is being introduced to those who are interested in such matters, and it is attracting considerable attention because of the ease and thoroughness with which the operation is performed, even after the metal has been put in place. Powdered zinc, compressed air and heat are the three elements which are used in the process, and the zinc is driven through a gas burner by the air, where it is instantly reduced to a liquid state, and as it strikes any surface capable of sustaining the force it adheres and cools at once.
