NATIVE OREGONIAN FOR COUNTY JUDGE

George M. McBride, candidate for county judge of Multnomah county, represents the fourth generation of the McBrides in Oregon. He, as well as his father, Judge Thomas A. McBride, associate justice of the Oregon supreme court, are natives of this state. Rev. Dr. James McBride, preacher, doctor and pioneer settler at Oregon City, later in Yamhill county, was grandfather of George McBride and father of Justice McBride. Dr. McBride's father was Thomas McBride, who came to Oregon with his son and family. The McBrides have left their impress upon the state. They were among its builders.
 George McBride is a worthy son of his pioneer forbears. By his own efforts he has forged ahead and is now among the ranking attorneys in the Multnomah county bar. He was elected to the state senate two years ago by a republican majority of nearly 20,000. After he had been nominated for county judge recently, he resigned from the senate. He has always stood for the best things in life.

Mr. McBride's campaign manager is arranging for a public meeting in Gresham a short time before election when he will be glad to meet all the voters of this vicinity.

GRESHAM PEOPLE AND HAPPENINGS

Rev. E. A. Leonard, Mrs. Mary Shoemaker and Mrs. E. Davidson left today for Salem, where they will attend the Baptist state convention. The meeting will continue during the remainder of the week.

Mrs. B. W. Emery took part in the parade and reception in connection with the "golden special" demonstration in Portland Saturday and was in the receiving line at the Multnomah hotel to welcome the ladies.

The friends of W. K. Hamilton and family will be pleased to know their present location, which is 36th avenue and 62nd street, on the Powell Valley road. Mr. and Mrs. Hamilton find it to their advantage to buy groceries and meat at Gresham. Their orders are delivered by Gresham dealers on their trips to and from Portland.

Mrs. P. A. Gould, who has been quite sick for the past week or two, is able to be about again.

A social meeting of the Women's Christian Temperance Union will be held at the home of Mrs. B. W. Emery on Thursday afternoon, October 26, beginning at 2:30 o'clock. There will be a musical program, also a discussion of the amendments by a Portland speaker. Refreshments will be served and a silver offering taken. All are invited to attend.

Mrs. B. F. Stuart of Stanfield, Oregon, and her sister-in-law, Mrs. Wirtz of Woodland, Washington, were callers Sunday at the home of Mrs. C. A. Merrill. The Stuarts will be remembered as former merchants in Gresham. They are now in the hotel business in Stanfield.

Little Beatrice Jesson, who has been visiting for the past two months with Mrs. Landreau of Corvallis, has returned to the home of her mother, Mrs. Larry Jesson.

"And a Mazda Did it All" was the winning title suggested for the picture in the window of the Gresham Electric Co. It was won by Ruth Shepard, of Portland.

One of the finest pieces of crushed rock roadway in eastern Multnomah is just being completed. Work was begun two months ago at the bridge near Bob Wright's farm, one mile east of the fountain, and has been finished as far as Zimmerman's garage.

The Parent-Teachers' association will hold a meeting at the grade school on Friday afternoon at 3 o'clock. Mrs. W. J. Hawkins of Portland, will address the meeting. Music will be furnished by one of the grades. Mrs. Hawkins was one of the organizers of the first Parent-Teachers' association of Portland and is an enthusiast in the work. It is hoped that the assembly room will be well filled with patrons and friends of the school, who will work together for the betterment of the school in every way. The officers of the association are, president, Mrs. Jas. Elkington; vice president, Mrs. K. A. Miller; secretary-treasurer, Mrs. Myrtle Myers. Mrs. C. M. Zimmerman is chairman of the program committee.

Paul Elford has resigned his position at the Metzger grocery store, where he has worked for the past two and a half years. He has taken a position with a wholesale grocery firm of Portland, where he will drive a delivery car.

Miss Ruby Emery spent a part of the day Monday with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. B. W. Emery.

Fred Conley, traveling auditor for the O. W. R. & N. company, is visiting at the home of his parents, Mr. and Mrs. John Conley.

Harry Crenshaw and family have moved into the Belt house on Main street.

Mrs. Robert Lansdown, of Pleasant Home, attended the county institute in Gresham Saturday.

Mrs. Maggie Ulm's house has been recently remodeled by Frank Jones.

Mrs. C. Merrill's house has been reshingled, Leslie Merrill doing the work.

E. D. Dewey, of Portland, spent Sunday with his sister, Mrs. Maggie Ulm.

Mr. James L. Duffy, secretary of the Portland Ad. club, called at the office of the county agent, S. B. Hall, Tuesday morning and was very much surprised at some of the results gotten this year with the demonstration of lime and fertilizer.

Hawaiian Tapa Designs.

The popularity of Hawaiian music, much of which has unfortunately been perverted, has turned attention to other native accomplishment. The art of making fiber cloth, as practiced by the Hawaiians up to the period when the New England missionaries arrived in the Hawaiian islands—1820—is now almost a lost art. There is a large and exceedingly rare collection on display behind glass at the Bishop museum, Honolulu, but Hawaiian tapas are now regarded as expensive relics. Tapas still continue to come into the market from Samoa and from Tahiti, and are bought by travelers as Hawaiian taps, says Commerce Reports. As a matter of fact, tapa fiber cloth is no longer made in Hawaii.

In ancient days Hawaiians made their tapas from wood fiber which, with water added, was reduced to a pulp. To make it into cloth, the water was squeezed from the pulp mass, which was then placed upon smooth logs and beaten with specially prepared sticks. In this way the mass was gradually worked out into large thin sheets, and when dry was of the consistency of papyrus or smooth, stiff paper. The Hawaiians carved designs on heavy wood sticks, and with pigment secured from sea mosses, ground ochre, and plants, the designs were stamped into the wet fiber. These designs were somewhat crude, but quite effective. After the arrival of the missionaries some of the designs were copied from New England. Tapas were used not only as clothing, but as bedspreads. When piled six, seven and ten deep they formed an extremely comfortable couch.

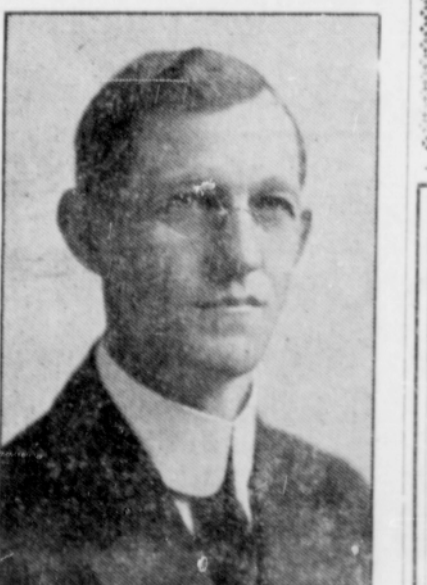

An American girl, born in Hawaii, who recently finished four years' work at an American college, where she studied under one of the foremost teachers of design, has created a new handicraft in the use of tapa designs which were secured from the Bishop museum. The work consists of cutting the designs in relief out of wood, and with these "tools" she produces her pictures in harmonious coloring on various fabrics. White chiffon has been found a very good medium. So far, fabrics turned out are head and shoulder scarfs for women. Many attempts have been made to preserve the tapa designs, but never before in women's apparel.

Dry Reading.

In a few years the statisticians ought to have some curves showing what no booze really means to our big cities. Under decent and good government the results are startlingly similar. For example, here are Seattle and Birmingham in opposite corners of the U. S. A., different in almost every detail of racial make-up, business interests, etc., but both telling the same "dry" tale. About one-half as many arrests, fewer murders and suicides, but more bank clearings, less fire and more building, increased trade and emptied jails—such are a few of the items. The drug problem is easier because whiskey hasn't done any subsoil plowing for it. These facts, and more like 'em, are noted by such papers as the "Manufacturers' Record" and by keen business men who wonder now why on earth they ever thought prohibition would hurt business. (Probably they had read it in the liquor ads!) The sameness is tiresome except to those who like to note social progress, and to the unfortunate women and kids who sometimes wonder drearily how long it will be before their homes, too, are in out of the wet.—Colliers.
