THE LAST APPEAL.

With this issue the Outlook is making a last appeal to the voters for an expression at the polls next Tuesday that will redound to their intelligence and to the honor of the state and nation. Every aspect of the campaign has been touched upon and discussed with the belief that our arguments have been somewhat effective in several instances. The Outlook's policy has been in favor of good government, clean politics and morality. If we have failed to be convincing it is our regret that our arguments have been somewhat effective in several instances. The Outlook's policy has been in favor of good government, clean politics and morality. If we have failed to be convincing it is our regret that our arguments have been somewhat effective in several instances.

We have endeavored to champion the cause of the republican party and have no apologies to make for doing so. Believing, as we do, that republican principles are the safest, judging from the past, we have not hesitated to express our convictions in that direction and will vote as we have written. On the local questions and initiative measures we flatter ourselves that we have found a responsive chord in the minds of nearly all the Outlook readers. We believe the ballot next Tuesday will vindicate our course.

There is always more or less rancor in the heat of a campaign, and the present one has had more than its full share. We realize that political enemies have been made, but we believe that in many cases the bonds of friendship have been more closely united. At least we already have the assurances of many that we have waged a battle well fought, and it is gratifying to know that the Outlook's prestige has been eagerly sought and recognized by many who have looked toward it for its support and influence.

Space is lacking in this paper to review the issues of the campaign. Everyone should fully understand them by this time, for they have been made clear to our readers. It is our hope that the seeds we have sown for republican principles, for the sanctity of our homes and for the protection of our property have fallen in fertile places and that our efforts will not have been in vain.

If the instruments of our observatory are in good working order, we are able to announce today that the hot end of the poker is moving swiftly in the right direction to give the single taxers their everlasting swat.

The Chicago & Eastern Illinois railroad shopmen have been advanced two and a half cents an hour in wages, but you won't find anything about it in the Adameson law or the Congressional Record.

Beer boozers are not tight-wads, and for that reason the four per centers are willing to be patriots and regard a boozier as a man who will loosen nicely the moment he gets tight.

In the last Outlook it was erroneously stated that W. C. Alderson is the principal of the Lincoln high school. He is an instructor in the night school there, instead.

You know what the weather man will do if he doesn't approve of the election next Tuesday.

Wilson may not be entirely a national failure, but it looks as if he was a sectional failure—at least in the great northwestern section of these United States.

Only four more days of agony for the democrats. The republicans will remain serene not only for four days, but for four years and four years four times told.

Let your first vote on the amendments be one against single tax. It is more important to Oregonians that it be buried than the election of a president.
