GRESHAM PEOPLE AND HAPPENINGS

A. Tietze, of Portland, was a Gresham visitor yesterday. He is living in the Leuts district.

Ben Metzger is able to be up, after a week's illness, the result of a fall, which injured his head.

A meeting is announced for Metzger's hall tomorrow night, when speakers will represent the anti-Sunday closing law.

Next Sunday at the Baptist church, Rev. E. A. Leonard will preach both morning and evening. Sunday school will meet at 10 o'clock.

Word has been received from C. M. Oliphant of the death of his mother at Albert Lea, Minnesota, where he went a week or more ago.

Thos. Ginder and his nephew, George Ginder, returned a day or two ago from the former's cottage at Brightwood, where they had spent the past month.

Ed. Cummins is very ill at his home. He recently suffered a paralytic stroke and is nearly helpless. He is being cared for by his daughter, Mrs. M. A. Stubbs.

There will be a republican rally at the Pleasant Valley grange hall tomorrow night to which all are invited. Judge J. P. Kavanaugh and Frank S. Grant will be the speakers of the evening.

Martin Squire, manager of the Ford Quick Service company has given up the station work and will reorganize a new company with a view to providing a more extensive service between here and Portland and other points.

The first and only real elevator in Gresham is being installed in R. R. Carlson's new garage building on Powell street. It is of the hydraulic type and will be operated by water power from the city water main. It will be more fully described when it is in operation.

A. W. Regner was in Gresham one day this week looking after business interest and was a caller at the Outlook office. Mr. Regner, in company with Mr. Fields, has opened a garage on Grand avenue, corner of Burnside, which they are enlarging and equipping with a full line of all car accessories.

A complete ice making machine and refrigerator plant is being installed in the Sanitary market. It will have a capacity of one ton of ice per day and there will be attachments made to the show cases for the preservation of meats that it is desired to keep for any extended period. It will be ready for use in about a week.

J. P. Jones brought some samples of corn from his farm near Troutdale this morning, which not only demonstrates the fact that fine corn can be grown in Oregon, but that this particular soil is adapted to it. Mr. Jones raised 7220 pounds of corn, of excellent quality, on one and one-half acres of land.

The Ladies' Aid society has announced the date of the annual chicken pie supper, which will be on Friday evening, November 24 at the grange hall. A parcel post sale will also be held and an interesting program presented. Look for further announcements of the menu, hours of serving and other matters pertaining to the entertainment.

The missionary society of the Baptist church met yesterday at the home of Mrs. J. N. Clannahan, when about thirty-five persons listened to the excellent program and enjoyed the social hour following. Readings were given by Mrs. A. J. W. Brown, Miss Inez Holliday and Miss Ruth Tibbets. Mrs. Jennie Oswald and Mrs. W. E. Bates sang solos, being accompanied by Mrs. Geo. W. Page. Mrs. E. W. Grevish of the Cherry Park farm was present and demonstrated a new cream whip, much to the interest of the ladies.

Mr. and Mrs. D. R. Shoemaker returned Wednesday from a two weeks' trip by auto to eastern Oregon and eastern Washington and return. The itinerary included a trip over the Columbia highway to Hood River, from there to Pendleton and Walla Walla and Dayton, Washington. At the latter place Mr. and Mrs. Shoemaker visited with Mrs. Shoemaker's mother, Mrs. Heter. They found the roads east of the mountains badly cut up and deep with dust, the result of the hauling of the immense crop of wheat to the markets. In some places tractor engines were used by the farmers, one engine furnishing the power for five or six heavily loaded wagons.

TROUTDALE

Mrs. Mary E. Wade of Salem, Ill., came Wednesday to remain with her daughter, Mrs. C. D. Parker.

Irvine Ide, who has been taking treatment at the tubercular sanitarium, is making a week's visit with his grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. John Burdine. He is much improved in health.

Beginning next Sunday evening, services at the church at Troutdale will begin at 7:30 o'clock, instead of 8 as it has been.

John Campbell, of Aurora, was a guest at the Burdine home last week.

Mr. and Mrs. Fred Zimmerman left last Monday to reside in The Dalles, where their daughter, Della, is teaching in the public school.

The Troutdale Ladies' Aid society had a very interesting meeting Wednesday with Mrs. J. R. Knarr. They worked on aprons for the coming bazaar, which is set for December 2. It was decided to hold meetings every Wednesday for the three succeeding weeks, to make articles for the sale. The resignation of Mrs. L. M. Kummer as treasurer was accepted, and Mrs. Morris McGlinis was elected to the office. Mr. and Mrs. Kummer are leaving soon to live in Bloomington, Illinois.

Mrs. Tom Hensley is getting along nicely since her operation. She expects to remain in the hospital for two weeks longer.

Quite a number of Troutdale folk attended the Halloween bazaar at the high school in District 1, last Tuesday evening. They report a large crowd, and a very good time. Among those from here were Miss Sallina Fox, who sang a solo; Mr. and Mrs. G. P. Lumsden, Mr. and Mrs. A. D. Kendall, Mr. and Mrs. Dan Mickle, Mrs. Hatfield, Mrs. Wm. Crawford, Mrs. John Larsson, Mrs. L. A. Harlow, Mrs. A. Fox and Herman Blazer.

Mr. and Mrs. Glen Crawford, with the Crawford Dramatic company, came to Troutdale last week. They came all the way from LaCrosse, Kansas, by auto, giving performances en route. Mr. and Mrs. Crawford expect to remain for the winter with Mrs. Crawford's mother, Mrs. L. A. Powell.

Tom Hensley has disposed of his cream route, wagon and team, to Carl Nelson of the Melrose district. He has 2 1/2 acres of potatoes to dig, which is not the sole reason of his quitting his job, but a man would be justified in giving up most any position to take care of his potatoes this year, the way they are souring.

Harry Osman has returned from Portland, where he has been for more than two weeks with Mrs. Osman, who is ill at their home. She expects to go soon to a hospital for treatment.
