The Linotype Way is the Way that Wins.

Official paper of the Town of Gresham Official paper of the Town of Fairview.

Entered as second-class matter March 3, 1911, at the Postoffice at Gresham, Oregon, under the Act of March 3, 1879.

TO COME BACK AGAIN.

The obsession that has seized so many of our men and women and caused them to wish to leave the farms and the country homes is the lure of money.

What value, for instance, could one set on the sunrise in the country—on a stretch of lovely landscape under the summer sky?

What value could a man set on the fresh air and the privacy and sweet, fresh products of the earth?

But men taken by rank and file shirk being their own bosses. This is the reason why men fight—there is in them a natural tendency to be under command.

We are not close enough to Montana to know all about their troubles with the I. W. W., but we are betting on the vigilantes because we know that every now and then it is just human nature for folks to want to chuck their halos and be devilish for awhile.

It is said Germany has no soap. But you can't always tell by appearances. We sometimes see people in Gresham who makes us suspect that not only has the soap supply been exhausted, but that Bull Run and Johnson creek have gone dry.

An indictment has been returned against the tombstone trust. Serves 'em right; but as we are being exploited at every stage from the cradle to the grave, why not let them complete the job after we are dead?

A Berlin paper says the last ship will be sunk in forty-five months. But there will be a big fleet of postmasterships for President Wilson to fill just before he goes out of the White House.

HELP AMUSE THEM.

Of all announcements adapted to soldier life generally, reading is accounted the most popular, largely, it is believed, because it is about the only amusement a soldier may enjoy at any time and under any circumstances when off duty and light is available.

The movement to establish libraries at permanent camps is well under way, and these libraries will doubtless be supplied with files of current periodicals, but this leaves a large field to be covered, for the home papers of all the men cannot be covered in available form.

Another drawback we have just discovered is that it is becoming increasingly difficult for one to go into literature and for town lot farming at the same time.

The government has done its share to meet this need by providing that persons who wish to give magazines or newspapers to the army in Europe, trusting to the discrimination of the government to distribute them where they are most needed.

employe. Such periodicals will be collected by states and placed within reach of the soldiers and sailors. The government shows the need by agreeing to go half way, and the public can do no less than show its appreciation by doing the rest.

RESULT OF EMBARGO.

Now that Norway and Holland have promised to be good and quit sending food supplies that came from the United States into Germany, there is the hope that more foodstuffs will be diverted to the use of those two nations and to our allies on the other side.

Norway and Holland have been professedly neutral, but speculators have been sending supplies needed at home to Germany. President Wilson's embargo upon exports went into effect on July 25th and there was a scramble to get eleven neutral ships from those two nations away from our shores before that date.

Holland and the Scandinavians were strongly suspected of supplying American food for our enemies. The cargoes of those eleven ships included vast quantities of goods which, now that the embargo is in effect, are under the export ban and could not be shipped except under license.

In any event we may now feel certain that Germany will no longer be supplied with food from America. Norway and Holland are facing a famine themselves. Their attitude having undergone a change and the embargo in force there is practical assurance against the diversion of American food, through neutral channels to the enemy.

The inquisitive subscriber at Troutdale wants to know the meaning of "focal infection." The doctors say it is a diseased condition due to the presence of germs which are exerting their malign influence from some central part of the body.

As a little bit of advice to Kaiser Bill we would suggest that he could save time, money and bother by boxing up his nanny goat and sending her over. She's going to be got.

That "Carry-a-Parcel-Home" movement is gaining momentum, but it never can be quite as popular as the carry-a-package-home movement was less than a year ago.

Up in Montana it is the open season for hanging the I. W. W. Montana was once one of the vigilante states and seems to be hanging to her early traditions.

The bootlegger should properly be called a "leading" citizen because so many men follow him.
