

CAMPBELL'S BAND WILL BE AT FAIR

Lovers of fine music, the best to be had on the coast, will be pleased to learn that a contract will be signed up tomorrow with Percy A. Campbell for the attendance of Campbell's American band at the county fair during the entire five days of the exposition.

Campbell's American band is too widely known to need any further endorsements than the mere mention that it will be here, as it is the new policy of the county fair management to provide the best entertainers that can be had—and Campbell's American band is the best available, and one of the best in the northwest.

The band will play every afternoon and evening during the five days of the fair. It will play at the races and give one of its famous concerts every evening in the big Chautauqua tent that is going to be one of the greatest features this year.

There will be other very entertaining features every evening besides Campbell's band, but it will be the leading feature. These musicians have been playing in Portland this summer under a contract with the city. They will furnish the principal music at the state fair this year, which fact alone is a guarantee of their superb proficiency. This announcement has just been made and in speaking of it the Oregonian this morning says editorially:

People of Portland who contemplate attending the state fair will be pleased to learn that Campbell's American band is to furnish the music. For two years Mr. Campbell has directed the summer concerts in this city and the appreciation here is assurance of good music at the fair.

The Oregonian might have said the same thing concerning Mr. Campbell's engagement with the county fair and probably would have said it had the fact been known. At any rate there is the assurance that the county fair will have just as good music as the state fair.

Other excellent features of the evening entertainments are being booked by the secretary. There will be some of the best soloists, speakers, readers, and vaudeville performers of the northwest here, thus assuring the public that as a Chautauqua feature the evening entertainments will be fully as good as have ever been seen or heard here.

It is expected that the string of race horses being secured by Ed. Fortune and A. J. Krueger will be here in training within a week. Both of these men are highly interested in giving the patrons of the fair a line of good, clean races, and some of the best horses procurable will be here. The racing card published last week shows what is coming and the attractive purses offered are going to put their owners in competition for first money in every event.

Entries are beginning to come in, although slowly. One was received yesterday from Trenton, New Jersey, covering nineteen pieces of art work which will be on exhibition in the art department. They cover a wide range from oil painting down to color work.

Exhibitors of livestock should remember that the new rule, put into effect this year for the first time, requires all stock entries to be made with the secretary by Sunday, Sept. 2. Entries received by mail will be accepted if they bear the postmark of that day. Stall fees or entry money should accompany each entry. The fair will commence on September 11th, three weeks from today, and every effort is being made to have everything in readiness on the opening date.

Liver Trouble.

"I am bothered with liver trouble about twice a year," writes Joe Dingman, Webster City, Iowa. "I have pains in my side and back and an awful soreness in my stomach. I heard of Chamberlain's Tablets and tried them. By the time I had used half a bottle of them I was feeling fine and had no signs of pain." Obtainable everywhere.

CANNERY TRANSFER IS TO BE MADE TOMORROW

The Gresham cannery, known and run so far this season as the Cotton cannery, will be formally taken over tomorrow by the A. Rupert company and will continue in operation as long as the vegetables season lasts.

Up to the present time it has been operating mostly on berries, except that as early beans began to come in they were put up for the Rupert people. Mr. Rupert, in turn, will finish up what few berries are coming in for the Cotton interests.

Mr. Rupert's contracts are for the government and he will continue canning as long as he can get anything to put up. A large acreage of vegetables was arranged for last spring, and others who have no arrangements can find a market for whatever the cannery can use.

Berry and fruit products are in demand and the entire output of the cannery will go rapidly. Shipments were made early in the season, and on Saturday last a carload of over 1300 cases of raspberries was sent to Marshalltown, Iowa. This year's pack will go quick and at the best prices.

FOUR DAIRY HERDS GOING TO BE SOLD

Four auction sale posters are displayed in the Outlook window. All of them offer mainly dairy stock, two at southern Washington towns, one near Lents and one near Rockwood. All four sales are to be conducted by Col. W. S. Wood of Vancouver, Wash. One of these sales is advertised in today's Outlook for Tuesday, August 28, at Rockwood.

ROCKWOOD

A union Sunday school was organized at Rockwood last Sunday, at a meeting at the grange hall. The officers so far elected are Mr. Crandall as superintendent and Mrs. J. N. King as assistant. The other officers will be chosen at the meeting next Sunday. The school will meet each Sunday at 2 o'clock at the grange hall. Arrangements have been made for an ice cream social to be given at the same place next Thursday evening for the purpose of raising funds to purchase song books and literature.

A very interesting meeting of Rockwood grange was held last Saturday, when a good attendance was present and questions of interest to the farmer and his wife were discussed. Plans are well under way for the participation of the grange in the county fair next month. The applications of nine new members have been favorably acted upon and they will be initiated at the next meeting.

Fire broke out on the Barker road west of Rockwood last Sunday, which brought out nearly a score of men to fight it. The blaze was soon under control.

HILLSVIEW

John Wasson went to Iowa to see his brother, who is very ill. Will and Joe Welch are among those who were drafted.

Miss Mable Hupp and Miss Ray, of Aumsville, Oregon, returned to their home after a week's visit with Mrs. L. Yunker and other friends.

Mr. Taylor is at home after spending some time on his homestead.

The school board has hired Miss Pauline Hancock to teach, as Mrs. Quick has resigned.

Will Cleo is working in Portland. A new party is in the greenhouse as Mr. Wedell has decided not to return.

Crops look very poor in this neighborhood.

MELROSE AND VICTORY.

Percy and Orrie Conrad have spent their vacation at Seaside. They made the trip down and back by automobile.

Mrs. John Strebin and little son Samuel are visiting with Mrs. Strebin's mother, Mrs. Schlapf at Tillamook. Miss Bessie Strebin is keeping house for her brother, during his wife's absence.

There will be an ice cream and watermelon social at Hill church next Saturday evening, Aug. 25, the proceeds of which will be given to the pastor. The evening will be spent in games and in an old-fashioned way. Everyone is invited and will be given a good time. Watermelon and ice cream in cones will be on sale all the evening.

SHAKE-UP IN LOCAL RURAL CARRIER FORCE

E. E. Chipman, rural carrier number one, and Harry Crenshaw, rural carrier number three, have resigned from the service. Mr. Chipman will continue to carry mail for two or three weeks yet and will then go to Kansas as the Oregon delegate to the National Rural Letter Carriers' convention while taking the two weeks' vacation he is entitled to. He will then retire permanently from the service.

Mr. Crenshaw began his annual two weeks' vacation yesterday and will not go back to work. He will take a rest and then engage in other pursuits. His route is being served by Mrs. Edna Stanley. Their resignations are principally due to the anticipated changes in the service which will probably eliminate two of the Gresham rural routes.

Rumors are floating around that there are going to be some changes in the rural delivery service which will affect at least three postoffices and several rural letter carriers of eastern Multnomah.

Nothing definite has been made public yet, and perhaps no definite arrangements have been decided upon by the postoffice department, but it is known that an effort is being made to have the rural routes operating between Portland and the Sandy river reorganized upon the plea of better service.

One of the rumors is to the effect that there will be such a consolidation of routes that one automobile delivery out of Portland to cover something like sixty miles will be established. If that is done it will mean a reduction of the force at Gresham from four carriers to at least three and perhaps two—with all chances in favor of only two being left here.

It is also rumored that the post-office and carrier service at Fairview will be discontinued and that the change will have its effect on Troutdale. The establishment of a sixty-mile route from the Portland city limits eastward could easily take in everything in the county as far as the 14-mile post on the Base Line road, and cover every crossroad.

This matter has been under consideration for three years. It was that long ago that the Outlook mentioned the idea as being talked of, but it was dropped pending the construction of the hard surfaced roads. While not all the roads have been hard surfaced they have all been improved to a great extent and an auto delivery would meet with no difficulties on that score.

If the plan goes into effect it will mean that three or four carriers will be out of jobs, and there is considerable speculation as to who they will be. Rumor has picked them out, but as they have received no official notice it would be premature to mention any names except those of the two who have resigned. If the change should go into effect it would probably be several months yet before it would be made public.

PARRISH POSTER FROM BRUSH OF AN ARTIST

A pleasing diversion from the usual style of billboard advertising has been furnished to motorists in the attractive 24-sheet poster on Fisk Tires which is appearing during the present month.

This beautiful piece of art work was originated and painted by Maxfield Parrish, the noted artist who hitherto has refused to raise his brush to the task of painting an advertising poster. The mountains, and sunlight contrasts of the background are typically the work of Parrish and by those touches of style, many have identified the Fisk poster as his work even before the signature was observed.

The poster's title and theme recall one's reading of the Arabian Nights tale about the Magic Carpet and the Prince who traveled upon it wherever he wished. It is upon this popular legend that Parrish built up his picture story of "Fisk Tires—the Modern Magic Shoes."

Advertising men and artists the country over have been unremitting in their praise of the high class of advertising which this Fisk poster represents. To those who have encountered it on the roadside, it has been a source of pleasure to note the distinct difference between this work of a truly great American artist and that of the ordinary poster which intrudes unpleasantly on one's vision.

FIRST DRAFT MOBILIZATION SEPTEMBER 5

The men called out in the first draft from Oregon will be mobilized within the state directly under the supervision of the local exemption boards in each county.

Each local board will attend personally to the assembling, subsistence, and finally, the entrainment for the mobilization camp, of all the men called to the colors from its county or district.

Plans of the War Department provide for the mobilization of men drawn in the first draft, in four installments during September and early October.

Thirty per cent of the net quota of each county will be called out on September 5. Another 30 per cent is to be called on September 15, a third 30 per cent on September 30, and the final 10 per cent as soon thereafter as practicable.

The first preliminary to actual mobilization will be the notification by local exemption boards of the men in their jurisdiction who have been certified as called for service and not exempted or discharged.

In this notification they will also be directed to hold themselves in readiness to respond to a call soon to be made by the board to report for military duty at a specified time and place.

The next step will follow notice to the boards from the Adjutant General of the state to assemble at a convenient point of entrainment for the mobilization camp, a specified number of men from their draft quota.

Immediately, each local board will post a list of the men who must respond to this first call for mobilization. At the same time each board will send out mail notices to each of these men, directing him when and where to report.

Failure to receive this main notice, however, will not be an excuse for failure to report. From the time specified by the local boards for the men to report, they will be in the military service of the United States and subject to the orders of the military authorities.

After the men have reported at the point designated by their respective local exemption boards, they will be fed and provided with sleeping accommodations by the boards, at the expense of the Federal Government.

They will be subject to the orders of their board until they are actually entrained for the mobilization camp. Disobedience will be punishable as severely as disobedience to the orders of a military officer.

So far as possible they will not be called to assemble more than 24 hours prior to the time set by the local board for their entrainment. Transportation will be provided by the board.

If any men notified to report do not appear for duty, or it appears that they have absconded or wilfully failed to report, the local board is directed by the regulations "to call upon the police to arrest them as deserters from the army and to deliver them to the nearest military station as prisoners."

Before the men take train for the mobilization camp, the local board is directed to designate one of them, preferably the one best fitted for it by reason of his age, experience and character, to take charge of the party until they arrive at the mobilization camp.

He in turn will appoint another of the drafted men to act as his second in command. The men must obey the orders of these temporary officers.

The foregoing procedure will be followed by the local boards in the mobilization of each of the four installments of the first draft quota.

It will mean much work for the local boards, and much responsibility for them and for the men called.

But if every drafted man, and every citizen, will co-operate patriotically with the boards in aiding them to do their duty, the task can be accomplished with the speed and efficiency that is so essential.

As a means of co-operation between the two denominations, since 1908 twenty churches have been transferred by the Presbyterian church, U. S. A., to the church, U. S. (south), and twenty-four churches have similarly joined the U. S. A. body.

WILLARD BLISS TAKES MISS HAZEL STRADLEY

One of the most pleasing events of the season was the marriage on Sunday, August 19, at the home of the bride's parents at Damascus, of Willard Bliss, son of Mr. and Mrs. Paul Bliss of Pleasant View avenue, Pleasant Valley, and Miss Hazel Stradley, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James Stradley. The wedding party numbered nearly a hundred of the relatives and friends of the contracting parties.

The bride was beautiful in a wedding gown of white. She wore a corsage bouquet of Cecil Brunner roses and orchids. Her going away gown was of blue messaline. The house was decorated tastily with flowers and the national colors. Ice cream and cake were served to the guests following the ceremony. The bride was the recipient of a provision of beautiful and costly gifts, including cut glass, silver, china and linen.

The bride is a talented musician and a student of the Oregon Conservatory of Music. The groom is a successful farmer, in which work he is engaged, together with his brother on the home farm. Mr. and Mrs. Bliss have gone to Seattle for a brief wedding trip. On their return they will take up their residence on the Bliss farm.

PLEASANT VALLEY

The lawn social given in honor of the boys of this community who have volunteered their services to the defense of our country, by Mr. and Mrs. T. P. Campbell at their home on last Saturday evening, was a most pleasant affair and will long be remembered by those participating. The spacious lawn was lighted with vari-colored Japanese lanterns. Seats were conveniently arranged for the comfort of the guests. A large and representative company was in attendance. The large living room of the hosts had been artistically decorated for the occasion and it was here that a most excellent program was rendered. Miss Roberta Downing of Portland gave two patriotic readings that were highly appreciated. Miss Nina Joy delighted her hearers with two beautiful solos. Miss Florence Richey, Miss Henrietta Troge, Miss Hazel Chitwood, and Miss Roberta Downing also rendered several numbers both vocal and instrumental. "The Star Spangled Banner," "Old Glory" and "America" were sung by the audience. Games were indulged in on the lawn by the young folks. A social hour followed the program during which ice cream, cake and punch was served thus ending a delightful evening.

Dried Onions and Leeks.

Only well matured onions should be used for drying. Remove the tops, roots and the outside papery covering then slice in one-eighth inch pieces and dry as soon as possible. Another way is to blanch in boiling water for five minutes after slicing and then dry in thin layers as above.

Leeks may be handled in the same way as onions except the strips are a little thicker.

Dried potatoes, sweet and Irish—Use only sound mature ones. Wash and boil or steam until nearly done. Peel, run through meat grinder or ricer and spread on trays in thin layers until brittle. Toasting slightly after drying will improve flavor. Another method is to cut in one-quarter inch slices instead of mashing, the rest of the process being the same.

Pumpkin and squash should be sound and well ripened. Cut crosswise, peel and remove all seeds and soft parts. Cut in one-quarter inch slices and dry on trays or on string. If desirable the vegetable may be cut into one-half inch strips, peeled and the seeds and soft parts removed, then blanched in boiling water for three minutes, after which the strips are dried as above.

Be sure to condition all dried products by pouring from one box to another daily for several days and then store in moisture-proof containers in place free from insects and vermin.

Due to the increased demand for pyrite, Dr. J. H. Pratt, state geologist, Chapel Hill, N. C., urges owners of such deposits to communicate with their state geologists. At present there are 450,000 tons of this iron sulphide produced yearly in this country and 1,250,000 tons imported from abroad.

ENNEBERG CASE HAS NEW ANGLE

Readers of the Outlook will remember the O. Enneberg case, in which a workman was injured by the falling of a heavy timber while at work for the Standard Lumber Company at Buxton, Oregon, more than a year ago. He was allowed compensation for awhile and when the injuries seemed to be permanent and total he was denied what was deemed to be a just compensation for injuries of that character.

In a trial against the State Industrial Accident Commission, at St. Helens, the plaintiff was allowed $750, from which verdict an appeal was taken to the supreme court.

In support of a motion to dismiss the appeal Mr. Enneberg, by his attorney, Milo C. King, is filing a brief in reply to the answering brief of the appellant. It reads as follows:

In the Supreme Court of the State of Oregon.

O. Enneberg, Plaintiff and Respondent, vs. State Industrial Accident Commission, Defendant and Appellant.

Respondent's Reply Brief.

Statement.

Though appellant is brief, it is not correct nor frank in its statement of facts or contentions. The decisive questions before this court on this motion is whether the trial court had jurisdiction of the case owing to the disputed lateness of the claimant's appeal from a disputed decision of the State Industrial Accident Commission. There might be some reason for denying this motion if it were a fact (as disingenuously stated in the "Memorandum") that "the case (was) finally closed and claimant notified to the effect." "Several months later the claimant filed a notice of appeal in the Circuit Court"; for, by reason of the provisions of the Act then in force, "No such appeal shall be entertained unless notice of appeal shall have been served by mail or personally upon some member of the commission within thirty days following the rendition of the decision appealed from and actual communication thereof to the person affected thereby." The abstract of record (p.7) shows that such notice of appeal was filed, and if a record of plaintiff's evidence were brought to this court, it would be seen that the same was served and accepted Nov. 3d, 1916, within thirty days following the only actual communication of decision to plaintiff, or his attorney, received October 15th, 1916, a copy of which communication is as follows:

State of Oregon
State Industrial Accident Commission
Salem, Ore., Oct. 11th, 1916.

Mr. Milo C. King, Attorney,
Gresham, Oregon.

Dear Sir:

Re Claim No. 4286. O. Enneberg.
"Replying to your letter of October 5 concerning the case of O. Enneberg, we beg to say that this man was examined by the members of the Commission, our medical adviser, and others, and on October 15, 1915, he was settled with in full and final voucher received. Under the law his right of appeal has expired and we feel that no injustice can be done by refusing further payment in this case. Yours very truly,
State Industrial Accident Commission
By H. Beckwith, Commissioner.
CEA G.

Argument.

If the Commission had communicated any other decision earlier than this to the claimant, the abstract of record would not fail to show it. Besides, it would have been otherwise conspicuous in evidence, all of which would have been brought to this court regardless of cost. "Claimant was notified to that effect." "Several months later the claimant filed a notice of appeal in the Circuit Court." By these statements foreign to the records and contrary to the facts, the Commissioners and their versatile attorney have attempted to trick the sufferer's case into the Supreme Court on appeal in all respects the same as they tried to avoid appeal and trial on the facts in the Circuit Court. It is plain that said Commissioners not only failed to communicate to plaintiff any decision, or claim of decision, within thirty days prior to his appealing to the Circuit Court, on which facts said court and jury found in favor of the plaintiff, but they failed to render a decision at all,—if what is contained in the foregoing communication be not their decision or unless the following portion of their private record (p.4 Ab-
