

CITY GAS FOR HEATING HOMES

Newly Invented Gasco Jr. House Heating Furnace

DESIGNED BY US ESPECIALLY FOR THE AVERAGE PORTLAND AND SUBURBAN HOME

First Cost Within Reach of All. Easy Terms Given When Desired.

This furnace, replacing your present wood or coal furnace, will eliminate further worry about rising prices and scarcity of solid fuels. There will always be a limitless supply of fuel in your basement, paid for, however, only as used. The cost of operating this furnace will be only slightly more than your present heating system, which you will be glad to pay when you consider its many advantages, one of which being:

The Furnace may be Automatically Started by a clock attachment installed with thermostat. In case the house is to be unoccupied during a portion of the day, you can save fuel by shutting down the furnace and setting the clock (the same as the alarm clock). At the predetermined hour the clock will set the furnace in operation, thus warming the house by the time the occupants return. In this manner the furnace may be started before the occupants arise in the morning.

Why Go Downstairs to a Cold Basement, Morning After Morning, as You Did Last Winter to kindle the fire, and then stand guardian over it for fear it will either go out or set your chimney afire? The better way is to let this little clock-thermostat attachment do the work while you sleep an hour later.

Mr. and Mrs. Still Andrews, and Mr. and Mrs. Will Andrews are entertaining Mr. and Mrs. McKormick and son, Lyle, of Klamath Falls.

VENTURA PARK

A gloom was cast upon all to learn of the death of Mrs. J. C. Rasmussen. She and her youngest daughter, Lillian, left home Wednesday morning, August 15, for a two weeks' visit at the home of her brother, Ross Larsen, at Mist, Oregon, and she passed away that night of heart failure. Mrs. Rasmussen was widely known, having lived here 31 years, and was well beloved by everyone. Her motherly qualities endeared her especially to the young people, who always found in her a helpful friend. Funeral services were held from J. P. Finley & Son's, Saturday afternoon, Dr. Cash of the Montavilla Baptist church officiating. The floral offerings were many and beautiful, another evidence of the high esteem in which she was held. She was laid to rest in Multnomah cemetery by the side of her son,
