CARL CONGDON'S LETTER FROM OVER THE SEA

The following letter was written just a few hours before the troopship arrived at an English port, by Carl Congdon of Gresham who is a son of W. H. Congdon proprietor of the Congdon hotel:

Dear Folks:—Suppose you have been thinking all kinds of things, imagining me on the bottom of the ocean or blown up or captured by the Germans, etc.

Any way I am still kicking and expect to keep on kicking for many years to come.

We are about to hit port and we're told that letters would be collected between 4 and 5 p. m. I don't know what I can tell you. In fact there is nothing I can tell you except that I have had a mighty long ride and am sure ready to put my feet on the ground. I was not seasick and have had as good treatment as one could expect. Did not see any submarines or anything to cause any excitement.

I will write to you often and will know soon what I will be able to tell you in the way of news or of things that happen, don't believe that I can tell you where we landed, but you can find that out from the newspapers.

Would have cabled you but am sure the Oregonian will have the particulars in it, so am $5 or so ahead.

If you should happen to send me anything use the address I left you and pack everything securely. I smoke Camel cigarettes, and they can't be bought over here, so send lots of them and often.

I am well and as happy as ever and nothing on my mind but my hat. Don't worry about me, because I will be all right.

I will write to you often and we are requested not to write any more letters than necessary, so I will let you send this to the girls. Give my best to all the boys, and tell them it's great. Lots of love. CARL.

The special W. C. T. U. meeting Tuesday at the library, after a short business session elected officers for the ensuing year as follows: president, Mrs. Geo. F. Honey; vice president, Mrs. B. W. Emery; recording secretary, Mrs. J. N. Clanahan; corresponding secretary, Mrs. W. F. Honey; treasurer, Mrs. H. L. Westell.

The following members were elected delegates to represent the Gresham Union at the county convention held in Portland Wednesday and Thursday of this week: Mesdames Risher, Emery, Westell, W. F. Honey, Kane and Ella Larson, the president, Mrs. G. F. Honey being a delegate by virtue of her office. All attended the county convention.

So many requests for housewives have come to the local union lately, the society has procured a quantity of material and work will be resumed next week.

Reports to the convention from over the county showed intense earnest activity in the many branches of the society, especially in serving our government in the present emergency.

The report from Gresham Union, of increased membership, and the splendid work done by, and under the auspices of the W. C. T. U., drew for the many complimentary expressions.

The convention elected Mrs. Geo. F. Honey county delegate at large, to the state convention at Albany, Ore., October 5, 1917.

MISS MARIE LANE MARRIED TUESDAY

A quiet wedding occurred in Portland on Tuesday, September 18, when Miss Marie Lane, eldest daughter of C. H. Lane of Gresham, was married to Clifford A. Harmon, also of Gresham. Rev. A. J. Ware, pastor of the Gresham Baptist church, performed the ceremony, at the home of Francis Bennett, East 15th and Stark street. Those who witnessed the ceremony were Mr. Lane, the father of the bride, Mrs. Bennett and her sister.

The young couple left the same day for Hood River, where Mr. Harmon is to pack apples this fall. At the close of the packing season, they expect to go to Montana to spend the winter.

The bride is a graduate of Union High School No. 2, and has a large circle of friends here who admire her for her sterling qualities. The groom is an industrious young farmer, the son of Mr. and Mrs. H. G. Harmon, who own a berry ranch near Gresham. The many friends of Mr. and Mrs. Harmon unite in wishing them a long and happy and a prosperous married life.

Twenty of the most representative people of Multnomah county were initiated into the Pomona degree on Wednesday evening, following the business sessions of Pomona grange which met in Gresham as the guests of Gresham grange on Wednesday last.

There was a large attendance, which was surprising, considering the work on the farms and the meeting coming so soon after the county fair. Every grange in the county was represented and the reports from them indicated a flourishing condition of them all.

J. J. Johnson, master of Pomona grange and chairman of the Field Day committee, reported a balance of $19.90 after all expenses of the celebration had been paid. Receipts were derived from the sale of concessions and advertising. The surplus was turned over to the treasury of Pomona grange and a vote of thanks was tendered Mr. Johnson and the others who made the affair such a success.

Milton A. Miller, collector of internal revenue, at Portland, and Judge R. L. Morrow entertained the assemblage for an hour after dinner with patriotic speeches which were very well received, highly appreciated and loudly applauded.

Several resolutions were offered and at least two of them were warmly debated. The one protesting against any change in the rural delivery of eastern Multnomah received the greatest attention and was finally endorsed. It is introduced by W. H. H. Dufur and is as follows:

Whereas, It is proposed by the postoffice department to revise the mail routes of Multnomah county so that no delivery will be made outside of hard surface, graveled or macadamized roads, and

Whereas, Such precedent is dangerous to the patrons or citizens of this country and state, by the establishment of such an unheard of system, be it

Resolved, By Pomona grange of Multnomah county at its regular session, that we condemn any such action on the part of the postoffice authorities, and respectfully ask that they make a proper and more careful examination before carrying out this order; be it further

Resolved, That a copy of these resolutions be forwarded to our delegation in congress, to the postoffice department in Washington, D. C., to the postmaster at Portland, Oregon, and also a copy to the daily press in Portland.

A second resolution was aimed at the Chicago wheat price, which has been fixed at $2.20 a bushel, the contention being that it discriminated against western wheat, which is quoted at about $1.90. The difference is ascribed to freight rates between Chicago and Portland. This resolution was presented by E. D. Palmer. It was endorsed and is as follows:

Whereas, It has been currently reported that the base for the price of wheat has been established at Chicago, Ill., and

Whereas, The market of that cereal is not ever has been in that city for the Pacific Northwest, and

Whereas, We have the open sea at our door, therefore,

Resolved, That we most earnestly protest against this action which is discriminating against this coast by putting upon our production at much cheaper rates by water. Also, when it is announced that the grain is to be manufactured into flour before shipping, and

Resolved, That a copy of this resolution be published in the daily press and a copy forwarded to President Wilson at Washington.

Lents grange submitted two protests, one against billboard advertising of cigarettes and the enforcement of the anti-cigarette laws. The other was a protest against the allies using the grain or food products sent from this country to be made into any kind of alcoholic beverages. The same protest was manifested in the demand that the same rule be applied to our armies on foreign soil as is applied at home in the serving of alcoholic drinks to our soldiers on foreign soil. They were adopted.

I. W. Carl was the originator of a resolution against the plan of sending cigarettes or their "makin's" to our soldiers abroad. It was adopted and reads as follows:

Whereas, Some of the newspapers of our state and part of the public are soliciting the citizens of our community and state to aid in furnishing our soldiers cigarettes, and

Whereas, Many of our enlisted soldiers are minors and our existing laws are against the use of cigarettes by minors because cigarettes are considered as injurious to their physical, moral and mental welfare which laws we believe in.

Resolved, That Pomona grange of Multnomah county go on record as protesting against aiding or furnishing our soldiers cigarettes in the manner aforesaid for the reason that we consider them injurious to their physical, mental and moral welfare as aforesaid, and that a copy of this resolution be furnished to the press.

Gresham grange served two big dinners and a luncheon after the initiation. The evening session closed with a splendid musical program which was open to the public and which many outsiders attended. The next session will be held at Corbett on the third Wednesday in December.

U. H. S. NO. 2 WILL HAVE CRACK FOOTBALL TEAM

The boys of Union High School No. 2 have commenced drilling for the coming football season, and have thirty-two men signed up to play. At the first practice sixteen of the men showed up for drill. Their names follow: Glenn Kusher, Bayard Miller, David Peterson, Ted Brugger, Louis Skervin, Orin Stanley, Mark Naugle, J. McGinnis, Walter Brown, Merrill Good, Mervin Good, Orville Zimmerman, Glen McCormick, Conrad Metzger, Carl Goger. Of the men out for drill this year five have had previous experience in football, having been on the team last year.

Coach Carrol V. Brauer, who is a graduate of the University of California, and is experienced in football, has been working hard to put the team in shape and expects to have a good team this year, and will be ready to accept challenges from any high school team in the country of equal weight, after October first. Leslie A. Walrad is manager, Merrill Good has charge of the suits and Orville Zimmerman captain.

County Fair Receipts Will Pay Expenses

Results of last week's county fair—in a financial way—have not been tabulated closely enough yet to determine just how successful it was. That the receipts from all sources during the week will more than pay the actual cost of operations this year seems certain and there will probably be a small surplus.

The premiums are being paid by the appropriation made by the last legislature, and the money cannot be diverted to any other use. All other expenses must come from the gate receipts, entries and concessions, and as fairs are costly things to manage it will come pretty close to being a break-even this year.

The actual receipts for the week were somewhere near $3290, but they would have been larger but for the rains on Tuesday and Wednesday mornings and the downpour on Friday. However, it is almost certain that there will be a surplus when all the bills are in—which will not be for several days yet.

NOTED CHORUS LEADER TO FORM CLASS HERE

Joseph A. Finley, conductor of the Portland Oratorio society, choir director of the Mt. Tabor Presbyterian church and supervisor of music in the public schools of Dallas, Oregon, who is well known in Portland musical circles both for his conducting of large choruses and as a vocal teacher, will organize a singing society in Gresham. Mr. Finley, who received his musical education in Boston, Mass., has conducted large choruses and church choirs in Boston, Oklahoma and Oregon for fifteen years. He was for four years chorister at Centenary M. E. church of Portland, with a choir numbering from thirty-five to fifty voices. He organized and for four years has successfully conducted the Portland Oratorio society now numbering sixty voices and has with that society given many attractive programs. He was for five years second tenor of "The University Male Quartet" of Boston, and in the winter of 1915-1916 traveled with "The Sequoia Male Quartet" of Portland, Oregon, and with the same organization, as second tenor and reader, toured ten states on the Pacific coast in the seven-day circuit of The Ellison-White Chautauqua System.

Mr. Finley plans to teach his Gresham singing society the same music as the Portland Oratorio society is learning and unite the two choruses in one large chorus in both places, the Gresham chorus going to Portland to sing in the concerts of The Portland Oratorio society and the latter organization in return coming to Gresham to assist at the concerts of the Gresham singing society. Such an arrangement would give Gresham the opportunity of hearing and taking part in music equal to Portland's best. A get together meeting will be held at 8 o'clock, Wednesday evening in the assembly hall of the grade school building to discuss plans. All persons interested in having such a chorus in Gresham are invited. It is a fine opportunity.

HEINEY LOSES CLOTHES FROM HOTEL ROOM

Heiney Gedes, the popular chauffeur of the Gresham meat market, will have to wear his old clothes next Sunday, and buy some new jewelry if he intends to keep up his appearance in society. He has a room at the Congdon hotel which he left unlocked last Tuesday, and he is now a sadder, poorer but wiser man than he used to be.

While away from his room it was entered by a sneak thief who appropriated all his good clothes, Sunday shoes and several other articles. The cuff buttons from his extra shirt and the garter buckles from his extra pair of socks were taken and the garments thrown under the bed. There is no clue to work upon, and Heiney will have to console himself with a new outfit. But he will probably keep his door locked hereafter.

MRS. HARRY CHRISTIAN DEAD AFTER PARALYSIS

Mrs. Harry Christian passed away this morning at the home of her daughter, Mrs. N. O. Baker, corner Cleveland avenue and Division street, after a long illness following paralysis. The deceased is survived by her husband, Harry Christian, and two sons, J. L. Cooper of Detroit, Michigan and J. A. Cooper of Gresham, and by one daughter, Mrs. N. O. Baker of Gresham. She was born at Stockton, California, April 11, 1855. She was a devoted christian and a member of the Methodist Episcopal church in Gresham.

The funeral will be held at the residence of Mrs. Baker on Saturday, September 22, at 2 o'clock.

THIEVES SHOT AT BY PIPE LINE GUARDS

Chicken thieves entered the premises of I. Spencer near Lusted during the absence of the family last Monday night. They were just making away with some fine Plymouth Rock chickens, when they were called to a halt by one of the pipe line guards who immediately called for another guard. The intruders dropped the chickens which were in sacks and started to run in another direction. After the guard told them to halt the second time he opened fire on them. It is not known whether the intruders were injured or not. Next day several crates of eggs were found to be missing.

Hokus: "Is Harduppe pretty well known in your town?"
Pokus: "I should say he is. He's so well known he can't even borrow an umbrella."

CANAL MODEL IN MINIATURE WORK OF ART

The model of the Cello Canal at the fair was made by Ernest V. Jensen, of Portland. He is an expert decorator and artist in modeling in miniature. The model, which was an object of great interest to many, is 68 feet long and occupies a floor space of 15 feet in width. It was made in eleven sections and exhibited here for the first time. Mr. Jensen expects to take the model to the state fair.

The model shows on a reduced scale the Dalles-Cello canal. The purpose of this great piece of engineering is to enable boats to pass what is known as "The Dalles" of the Columbia river, and Cello Falls. The obstructions to river navigation extend over about 8 1/2 miles of the river and the canal will cover this length above these obstructions. It is possible to navigate the Columbia and Snake rivers for many miles into Idaho and Washington.

In the construction of the canal it was necessary to excavate approximately 1,300,000 cubic yards of solid rock, 1,500,000 cubic yards of sand, earth and gravel. Two hundred and fifty thousand cubic yards of concrete had to be placed and 5,500,000 pounds of reinforcing steel were used. There are eleven pairs of lock gates weighing 2,800,000 pounds. The approximate cost was $5,000,000.

The start of the canal, going up stream, is at the Big Eddy of the Columbia river. Here the canal leaves the river by means of two locks, the total lift of the two locks is seventy feet. These locks were cut through solid basalt rock and are each fifty feet wide and 370 feet long. By these locks the boat is brought to the canal proper on the level that is maintained for about 1 1/2 miles. At this latter point is another lock known as Five Mile Lock where there is a ten foot lift. This lock also was excavated through solid rock, as was practically all the distance from Big Eddy to Five Mile Lock.

The same level is maintained between Five Mile Lock and Cello except at high water stage when it is necessary to use Ten Mile Lock, which has a lift of only two feet. This lock is the same size as the others, except as to depth. At Cello the boats are let into the river by means of a lock which, however has no lift, being used to regulate the flow of water through the canal.

The government undertook to have the canal built by contract, but due to the length of time taken by the contractors to construct about two miles of the canal it was decided to have the work done by the government hiring the men and buying the supplies. It took about three years for the contractors to complete about two miles of the work. The government took over the work in 1910. After various delays the work was finished in May, 1915, and the canal formally was opened on that date.
