

STUDENTS ARE INSTRUCTED IN NEW SYSTEM

Teaching the young idea how to vote according to the "Oregon system" was the diversion at the union high school yesterday morning, a pastime which all the classes indulged in and which was highly instructive to the future voters of the school.

The occasion of electing class officers for the present school year was taken advantage of by Principal Goodwin and his efficient instructors. Regular polling places had been arranged in various class rooms with all the appurtenances of a regular election. There was a table for the judges and clerks, and two voting booths were provided in each in which the youthful voters marked their ballots. It was a real election, with printed ballots.

Nominations had been made last week in open convention. In doing that the classes had defied the primary laws and had named their candidates without being amenable to the Oregon statutes, made and provided for the purpose of preserving the purity of the ballot. But they will probably know better next time.

Each class had its "ticket" and four separate elections were held at the same time. There was some electioneering in defiance of the corrupt practices act, and in one case two eager voters were seen in the booth at the same time marking their ballots. This, of course, was not allowable, but the inspectors of the election—the instructors—probably didn't see it although the reporter did.

In all respects the election passed off quietly, just as all Oregon elections do, and after the ballots were counted the results were posted on the bulletin board. For president and vice president of the senior class there was a tie vote. As the high school is not under the jurisdiction of the state election laws there will be another vote taken for those two officers next Monday morning. Following is a sample of the senior ballot after the clerks had tabulated the vote, showing the total votes cast and the results:

GRESHAM IS EDUCATIONAL CENTER

There are eighteen school districts represented in the above map. All of them are named in this article except Wilkes, No. 7, which is located about five miles northwest of Gresham. All of them with the exception of the Wilkes' district are also represented in the enrollment of Union High No. 2. The union district embraces Gresham, Terry, Lynch, Powell Valley and Hillsview, the enrollment of which is bunched together for convenience and totals 196 students. The total enrollment of the seventeen districts is as follows, the first nine being in Multnomah county. Three following are in Clackamas county and the last one is in Washington county:

Union High School District No. 2, 196; Cedar, No. 19, 3; Fairview, No. 16, 4; Lusted, No. 15, 3; Orient, No. 6 Jt., 15; Pleasant Valley, No. 15, Jt., 3; Rockwood, No. 27, 6; Troutdale, No. 20, 6; Victory, No. 49, 1; Boring,

On account of work several students will not enter for another week or two. The enrollment will be larger than last year.

There are sixty-three freshmen. "Best body of students in Oregon," says Principal Elmer F. Goodwin to whom the Outlook is indebted for this information and the accompanying map.

Union High school enrollment for the second week, ending today, is 166. These students are divided by classes as follows:

CLAUDE WESLEY HESLIN LAID TO REST THURSDAY

CLAUDE WESLEY HESLIN.

The many friends of the Heslin family of Fairview were shocked to hear of the death of Claude Wesley, only child of Mr. and Mrs. John T. Heslin, on September 25, after a few days' illness from peritonitis. His age was 15 years, ten months and nine days. Only last Saturday, Claude was assisting in the threshing for his uncle, E. E. Heslin, and in the afternoon complained of pain, which became so great that he was compelled to go to bed. Medical attention was secured at once, but the lad continued to grow worse and on Tuesday evening was taken to a Portland hospital for an operation. He died at the hospital soon after the operation.

Claude was a graduate of the Fairview school in last year's class and had just entered Benson Polytechnic school in Portland, where he was taking the course in engineering.

The funeral was held from the home of the lad's parents yesterday afternoon, the Rev. I. B. Self officiating. Music was furnished by a quartet consisting of Miss Olive Zimmerman, Miss Rosalie Luscher, Louis H. Stone and Robert Caysor, who sang unaccompanied and very effectively. The burial was in Douglass ceme-

HIGH SCHOOL FLOORS MUST BE REPLACED

An examination of the floors of the high school building reveals that they are badly decayed after only two years' use. The cause of their decay arises from the fact that there is no ventilation beneath the boards, they having been laid on solid concrete in which strips of wood had been laid to nail the flooring to. The baseboards, also, were found to be rotten. So rotten are the floors and baseboards that they fall to pieces upon being handled.

The high school board met at the building and made an examination. It was decided to replace the floor in the south end of the building right away and Frank Jones was set to work with an assistant to do the job. The new floors will be raised two inches which will give enough ventilation to preserve the wood.

It is likely that the entire ground floor will have to be replaced, but the work will not be done until after the school closes next summer.

GRESHAM SALESROOM FOR CHEVROLETS

Arthur W. Regner, who was at the county fair with a display of Chevrolet automobiles, announces that the firm of Regner & Fields, of which he is the senior member, has appointed Ed. Osburn as their representative for the Chevrolet in Gresham.

Mr. Osburn will conduct a salesroom and service station and will always be ready to make a demonstration. The addition to his building will give him the needed room for an automobile display when it is finished, which will be within a week or ten days.

The fund for the soldiers' libraries in Gresham has now reached about $50. Full reports are not yet in and the captains are still working to increase this amount.

Kern, Mrs. John Metzger, Mrs. J. C. Stanley, Mrs. G. W. Stapleton, Dr. A. Thompson. Some anonymous parcels have also been left at the library.

It is urged that others who wish to give books will send them in soon, so that the libraries may be made up early in October. The preparation and packing of the books is done in the Portland library, the assistants giving their own time to the work.

PIONEER RESIDENT ANSWERS FINAL CALL

CHARLES DAHLQUIST.

Charles Dahlquist, for nearly half a century a resident of the Pleasant Valley neighborhood, passed away at a Portland hospital, where he had been taken for treatment, on September 22. The funeral was held from the Pleasant Valley church on Tuesday afternoon of this week, with interment in the Damascus cemetery.

Mr. Dahlquist was born in Sweden, December 31, 1849. He came to this country when 21 years of age and settled near Sycamore, where he resided until his death. He married on March 25, 1880, Miss Hester Johnson, to whom four children were born, all of whom survive. They are Ole B. Dahlquist, Mrs. Minnie Nichols, William and Charles Dahlquist. The mother of these children died years ago, and on May 19, 1899, Mr. Dahlquist married Jennie M. Nelson, who survives him. Of the second marriage, there were born four children, Florence, who died in infancy, Pearl, Frances and Charlotte, who survive. Two brothers, N. and A. Dahlquist, live on the Cowlitz river.

MORE RUMORS, CORRECTIONS AND CHANGES

There are no further revelations concerning the rural delivery service in eastern Multnomah county other than mentioned last issue in the Outlook. The report that Lou Howard would take the big Montavilla route is confirmed but it is expected that he will relinquish it soon for a different position in the service.

It is rumored further that the post-office at Troutdale will also be discontinued and all of its territory west of the Sandy river except the four miles transferred to Gresham will be served from Montavilla. This rumor cannot be confirmed but it is not likely that either the Fairview or Troutdale postoffices will go out of existence at once, as it is the policy to get the rural routes working smoothly before any radical changes are made.

There will be some confusion for a short time but the carriers are learning their new territory and expect no difficulties after the first few days.

Several errors were made last issue in the distances from one point to another on the two rural routes from Gresham which will be effective next Monday. The following were on route A:

The first error was in the direction after leaving Melrose corner. It should read "east, south, east and south." The last word read "north" which was wrong.

After leaving Jones' corner the next paragraph should read: "Westerly one and two-tenths, six-tenths to Kane's place."

The next paragraph should read: "North seven-tenths, westerly two and nine-tenths to the Andrews road."

One paragraph was left out entirely, reading: south-westerly and north-westerly to Fosgren's corner, one and two-tenths miles."

The following errors were made in describing route 4:

After leaving Tilleson's corner the paragraph should read: "South six-tenths, east three and one-tenth, south one-tenth, east seven-tenths." "South to Anderson road, eight-tenths; west seven-tenths, south two-tenths, to Anderson station, nine-tenths."

After leaving Hevel's corner the next paragraph should read: "West two-tenths, north five-tenths, west seven-tenths, north two-tenths to railway."

PHEASANT SEASON WILL OPEN MONDAY

Next Monday morning the open season for shooting pheasants and grouse will begin. Those of us who would like to turn over at daylight and take another nap will expect to be kept awake. It is somewhat fortunate that October 1st doesn't come on Sunday for the peace of mind of those who have been out late on Saturday night.

According to the game law, only male pheasants may be killed, with five birds representing a day's bag limit. All quail and female pheasants are protected.

On the same day, the season on ducks and geese begins, ending January 15, while the shooting of snipe, plover, coots, rails and other shore birds extends from October 1 to December 15.

All hunters must have regular licenses, costing $1.50 for residents and $10. for non-residents.

From all indications, fewer pheasants will be killed in this locality than formerly, as the birds are not as plentiful as a few years ago, and many of the former local shot-gun artists are now either manipulating the new Springfield rifles or machine guns, or working in other parts of the Northwest.

Market Hours Change.

On and after October 1, the Gresham Meat Market will close at 6:30 o'clock. After November 1, the closing hour will be 6 o'clock. Residence phone, 793.
