STREET MARKETS.

Several eastern cities, among them Fort Wayne and Indianapolis, are considering closing the city markets which are operated somewhat like those of Portland, because of the high prices charged by farmers who dispose of produce there.

It is asserted that the producers at nearly every street market ask even higher prices than the retail stores. For native produce this phenomenon is noticed in Portland to some extent and the city commissioners are making some sort of an investigation.

When "the mora in russet mantle clad walks o'er the dew of yon high eastern hill" the last musician, who has worked at his profession through the long night, retires and the rattle of the milkman's wagon takes the place of his song.

Perhaps someone will suggest that we compare the patriotism of our soldiers with that of the shipyard strikers in Portland, but we won't do it. The soldiers risk all for their country with no hope of reward but the strikers are gouging at the nation.

More than half a million shirts are being made each month at one shirt factory for the soldiers but, nevertheless, when the American soldier gets within hailing distance of the Germans he may have difficulty in keeping his shirt on.

Petrograd is completing plans for a democratic congress, the cable reports. And then the democratic congress must get busy and create a lot of postoffices on the American plan with as little delay as possible.

Freedom of speech, freedom of thought, freedom of the press—these are all cardinal doctrines. What about freedom of work? Isn't an open shop as vital as the open mouth, the open mind and the open column?

Up to the present writing, no tender-hearted person has deemed it proper to ask for contributions for the relief of those distillers in Peoria and Kentucky who lost their jobs on September 8.

There was nothing in that story about the kaiser putting a price on the head of the first American captured. Perhaps Bill wouldn't offer what was regarded as union wages for the job.

Here we've been at it for two years trying to say something that would hurt the kaiser's feelings and he hasn't even ordered us to stop his paper. P. S. He hasn't subscribed for it yet.

Wednesday's dispatches indicate that old man Haig is celebrating the advent of autumn by giving the Hindenburg line in Belgium a shakeup that makes jaw teeth chatter in Berlin.

As we understand things, the reason for so many strikes consists of 50 per cent downright worthlessness and 50 per cent downright treachery.

That Russian Kerensky is a glut-ton for trouble. In the midst of all that Russian tumult he pauses long enough to marry an actress.

The women, judging by their actions to date aren't going to have anything to be ashamed of when the war becomes history.

Well, if the Pacific Coast league fails to leave that pennant in Oregon, perhaps our soldier boys may win one from Germany.

That announcement of a reduction in sugar prices may have been a typographical error.

The trouble with floating labor is that it's so often floating when it should be working.

Prices of medicines are advancing. You can't even get sick in comfort these days.

large quantities of very small potatoes in the war gardens, and these the bunnies will relish, and they will likewise thrive on the corn, bean and pea stalks or vines. But the best feed, and one that can be grown in any back yard or vacant lot is Eureka clover. Twenty-five feet square of this plant will feed a good many bunnies. It is perennial, need be planted but once, and yields immense quantities of a forage so rich in nutriment that no grain need be fed with it. At one time I was feeding 300 hares on this forage, and they did better and grew faster than when other feeds were used, such as clover or alfalfa hay, vetch, corn, cabbage, etc.

Those who may be interested may learn more by addressing Mr. McCoy, as above, or may see the remainder of his letter at this office.

THE MELANCHOLY DAYS.

"The melancholy days have come The saddest of the year."—Emerson.

The cricket, the locust and the tree toad are singing their last songs of summer—their swan songs. It is, after all, a popular error to say that any of them sing, even a little bit.

The cricket and the locust are instrumentalists, and their music may be likened to that made by a saw file and a pair of tongs, but not quite so loud.

The tree toad, as we have seen him, attains a length of nearly two inches. His song is a croak that ceases if one even places a hand on the tree in which he is hidden.

He rarely begins his tune until after sundown and his monotonous music—he knows only one tune—continues through the night after the cricket and the locust have gone to sleep.

When "the mora in russet mantle clad walks o'er the dew of yon high eastern hill" the last musician, who has worked at his profession through the long night, retires and the rattle of the milkman's wagon takes the place of his song.

McNARY'S ATTITUDE ON REVENUE BILL

Following the passage in the senate of the two billion dollar war revenue bill, and while awaiting the final action of the conferees with respect to the adjustment of all differences in the measure as it passed the two branches of congress, Senator Charles L. McNary made a public statement in which he said:

"I voted for the revenue bill upon its final passage as the war cannot be fought without money; yet, I hoped that a greater portion of the revenue could have been collected from those colossal institutions which are enjoying the fruits of the war and are thriving upon the enormous expenditures made necessary by this world conflict. I would not advocate a revenue policy that would disturb or frighten business nor would I support a measure that considers the profeters too tenderly.

"The only objection I have to the bill now in conference is that it did not bear down more heavily upon the reapers of large war profits. For example, the Dupont Powder Company made annually from 1913 to 1915 inclusive profits amounting to five million dollars while in 1916 its profits climbed to the stupendous sum of eighty-two millions. The United States Steel Corporation made in the year preceding our entrance into the war sixty-three millions of dollars and based upon the first six months of the current year it is estimated that its profits for 1917 will rise to the unprecedented figure of five hundred millions. Many other similar examples could be cited though these are of the larger class.

"One excellent result obtained in the senate was striking from the bill the provision relating to table taxes—those upon tea, coffee, sugar and the like. Every dollar now paid is a dollar and accumulated interest less to pay in the future by the long and distressing process of taxation, which eventually falls upon the shoulders of the great mass of the people. A failure sufficiently to tax great profits, which are an accompaniment of war, and an over-issuance of bonds, brings about inflation, increase in cost of living and commercial distress following the arrest of war, and for these plain reasons I supported every effort to impose a heavy load of taxation upon those thriving institutions which are enjoying a harvest of profits above the dream of avarice."

Captured White Sparrow.

The white sparrow which has been seen now and then in Tompkinsville Park, Tompkinsville, S. L., was caught yesterday and the reputations of several men have been saved. When these persons, one of them the editor of a local newspaper, had told of seeing the bird, they had been met with gibes.

The sparrow, which had pink eyes and yellow bill and legs, flew into Empire Hall through a window and was captured by Stephen Hanure, 12 years old. He gave the bird to Daniel Driscoll, a real estate agent of Brooks street, who put it in a cage to show to doubters. The Albino sparrow will be released a few days hence.—New York World.

SANDY PHYSICIAN GOES TO PORTLAND

Dr. B. B. Bacheider, who has practiced as a physician in Sandy for about two years has sold his business to Dr. Alfred Williams, of Portland, who for the past few weeks has been employed at the Sandy drug store. Dr. and Mrs. Bacheider, accompanied by a nephew, Kenneth Thompson, and R. S. Smith, of Sandy, left Wednesday for a trip across the mountains to attend the Round-up at Pendleton. Mr. Smith returned this week and the rest of the party will spend some time in eastern Oregon before returning to Portland, where Dr. Bacheider will continue his practice.
