Barnstormers was a nickname given to that portion of the democratic party in the state of New York which opposed the extension of slavery and supported Martin Van Buren against Lewis Cass for president in 1848. They were regarded by their opponents as too radical and one of the latter illustrated his meaning by a story of a farmer who was so greatly annoyed by an owl that he shot the bird and in so doing set fire to his barn. This was supposed to illustrate the folly of the anti-slavery democrats and give rise to the nickname. It never had any currency outside of New York.

Forty years ago, when Samuel Fawcett's paper mill at Cornwall-on-Hudson closed down, Fawcett assured his employees that they would get their back pay sometime. The other day his son appeared with a list of the former employees, and paid to them and their heirs the entire sum, with interest for the forty years.

Croup.
If your children are subject to croup get a bottle of Chamberlain's Cough Remedy, and when the attack comes on be careful to follow the plain printed directions. You will be surprised at the quick relief which it affords.—Adv.

GRESHAM LOCALS

Mrs. I. McColl left today for Corvallis where she will spend a few days with her daughter, Mrs. W. C. Belt.

F. Vandermost of Kent, Wash., arrived here yesterday for a visit with his daughter, Mrs. W. R. Gorsage, and family.

Mrs. W. R. Gorsage returned home on Wednesday last from a week's stay in Seattle, where she was called by the serious illness and death of her sister, Mrs. Benson.

Another four-minute speech will be made at the Scenograph theater tomorrow night on the subject of "What Our Country Really Needs." Attorney C. G. Schneider will be the speaker.

Mr. and Mrs. David Wolfe were in Gresham on business one day this week. Mr. Wolfe, who has been carrier on Rural Route No 1 out of Borling, has resigned his position, as the work had become too strenuous for one of his years.

Harold Wood, a Boring farmer, and Ruth M. Lingle, a school teacher living near there, were granted a wedding license at Oregon City on Tuesday. Miss Lingle is a granddaughter of Mrs. Clara Sunday formerly of Gresham but now living in Portland.

Dana S. Frame left on Wednesday for Corvallis where he will attend college for another term. His work in this vicinity as official cow tester was very satisfactory and brought about many good results. He will qualify himself for higher work in his profession.

Charles Latourell, the genial Ford agent for this territory, accompanied by Messrs. Carl Brown and Mendenhall, of Portland, left by auto for Harrisburg yesterday morning for a few days' hunting trip. They are expected home tomorrow evening with all the birds from that vicinity.

Hallie Christianson who has been running a Ford automobile service, has sold his Ford and purchased a light covered truck and fitted it up with upholstered seats and well protected from rain. He will transfer the students from Orient to and from the high school and do other hauling.

Evening Star grange will hold its annual home coming festival tomorrow. All grangers are cordially invited to attend. It will be an all day meeting and very interesting. The hall, located on the Section Line road, is easily reached by street cars from Portland or by vehicle from any direction.

County School Superintendent W. C. Alderson has just had printed at the Outlook office a full line of school report cards for all the country districts of Multnomah county. They are in two different styles, one for the grades from one to three, inclusive; the other including grades four to eight. They will be distributed to the county teachers tomorrow at a meeting in Mr. Alderson's office.

At the Baptist church on next Sunday morning, the laymen's meeting will be led by A. D. Bosserman of Portland, formerly of Gresham. Mr. Bosserman is a teacher in the Jefferson high school. He will have a worth-while message, which all are invited to hear. Rev. A. J. Ware, the pastor, will preach at 7:30 in the evening. Bible school meets at 10 o'clock.

L. L. Hiatt has purchased the Gresham picture show and will continue its operation on week nights except Sunday and Monday. Mr. Hiatt is a resident of Gresham, having a daughter in the high school, who will assist him evenings at the ticket window. He purposes to do everything possible to give this locality a show in keeping with the high ideals and progressiveness of the people. The prices will be reasonable. The serial running Saturday evenings will be continued.

A splendid program was enjoyed by about fifty people on Thursday afternoon at the home of Mrs. J. N. Clanahan, on the occasion of the meeting of the Baptist Missionary society. Among other good things were several vocal selections by Prof. Joseph Finley. Mrs. Finley was his accompanist.

Services will be held as usual at the Methodist Episcopal church next Sunday, when the newly appointed pastor, Rev. J. M. Brown, will preach both morning and evening. Sunday school will convene at 10 o'clock and Epworth League at 6:30. All are invited to these services.

The Women's Home Missionary society will meet next Wednesday, October 10, with Mrs. R. R. Carlson, who will be assisted by Mrs. R. H. Todd and Mrs. W. R. Kern. Mrs. A. Dowsett will have charge of the program, further notice of which will be given.

Prof. Joseph Finley, of Portland, has been elected conductor of music in the Gresham grade school and has already commenced his duties.

Principal Elmer F. Goodwin and wife entertained at dinner last night Rev. A. C. Brackenbury and wife and James Sterling and wife.

Mrs. James Elkington has been appointed head of the Liberty Loan committee for Gresham and vicinity.

Ancient Rites.
"But, my dear," said his wife, after he had complained about the dinner the new cook had served, "you know during these terrible times it is necessary that we make great sacrifices."

"Oh, of course," he agreed, "but what I object to is that cook insists in making hers in the form of burnt offerings."

Prepared.
She: "I'm just waiting for my husband to complain about my extravagance this month."

Her Neighbor: "Ready to give him an argument, eh?"
She: "You bet I am. By mistake his golf-club checks came to the house and I've got 'em."

Safety First.
Dentist (to patient who is opening his purse): "No, don't bother to pay me in advance."
Patient: "I'm not. I was only counting my money before you give me gas."

Give It the Best.
"Tell me about the flag," he said, as I was putting him to bed.
"And why men wave their hats and cheer whenever it is drawing near?"

And so we stopped undressing then to talk about the time when men were facing cannon shot and shell to serve the flag we love so well. I told him of the men who died in frozen wood and countryside long years ago in battles grim to keep a flag like that for him. I told him all about the stars. The spotless white and crimson bars. And what they dreamed of and they sought. As bitterly they bled and fought.

"Let no one tell you as you grow that nothing to the flag you owe. Let no one whisper that it means But pleasant days and peaceful scenes. And merely calls to mind a land Where wealth abounds on every hand, Because no more that flag will fly.

When men for it refuse to die. And it may be," said I, "that you must some day serve that banner, too. And then if such a day should come That sounds again the stirring drum And blows once more the martial life. Be not a slave to peaceful life. As they were men, you be a man And give that flag the best you can."

This country's government, called a confederation, was not permanent until the adoption of the Constitution in 1789. The articles of confederation under which the revolutionary war was fought provided that "congress shall have power to adjourn at any time within the year, and to any place within the United States, provided that no period of adjournment be for a longer duration than the space of six months." From December, 1776, to January, 1785, the continental congress met at eight different places, viz: Philadelphia, Baltimore, Lancaster, Pa.; York, Pa.; Princeton, N. J.; Annapolis, Md.; Trenton, N. J., and New York. From 1776 to 1785 the congress met at Philadelphia three different times, and it met at New York from 1785 to 1789.

PROTECTION

Against Burglary Against Fire Against Decay

Once your house is properly painted it is insured against decay. Decay is just as destructive as fire.

Paint, to serve its real purpose, must protect—a pleasing effect is only a by-product. Buy your house paint with this thought in mind, then you will think about quality as well as color.

SWP

has in it the staying, weather-resisting properties that give a house protection. It has wonderful covering power, it holds its color and it everlastingly sticks to its job. It is real insurance. It insures protection from the elements; it insures value in your property; it insures beauty and distinction.

There is a special Sherwin-Williams product for every surface around the home—Mar-not for floors, Flat-Tone for walls, Porch and Deck Paint for outside floors, etc. Tell us what you want to paint and we will sell you the best for your purpose.
