Henry Zeuger, who has been employed at the Beaver State Motor company's factory, enlisted a few days ago in the aviation corps.

Watch for the announcements in Friday's Outlook of the Red Cross festival to be held in Gresham on Hallowe'en. It will be a great event.

Elgin Kirkwood, the Portland Railway Light & Power company's agent at the Mt. Hood depot, is entertaining his brother Nelson from Michigan.

John N. Houser and wife of Albany, old neighbors of Mr. and Mrs. Oscar Thoren at Newport, have been the guests for a few days of the Thorens.

A recent night letter from Emerson Brown to his parents, Mr. and Mrs. O. J. Brown, announced the moving of his squadron to the Mincola Aviation camp, New York.

The Ladies' Aid society will meet at the home of Mrs. C. E. Risher on tomorrow afternoon. Mrs. O. A. Eastman and Mrs. G. W. Stapleton will assist Mrs. Risher in serving luncheon at the close of the afternoon. All women are welcome.

Lee Merrill was at home for an hour last night with his mother, Mrs. C. Merrill. Lee came down from American Lake to take the first degree in a Portland Masonic lodge. He expects to take the second and third degrees in Tacoma but will hold his membership here.

Fred H. Crane, Jr., who is at Camp Withycombe with his company, received word on Friday that he had been commissioned a second lieutenant. Word was also received by the commanding officer to have all the troops in readiness for transportation to Charlotte, N. C., on Friday next.

Mrs. C. Taylor and son Eugene, who have been for the past month at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Cathey, will go soon to Blaine, Oregon, where the Taylors have a home-stand. Later they will go to Newberg, to make their home on a farm, which Mr. and Mrs. Taylor have recently bought.

Mrs. A. H. Brown and two children have moved into Chas. Cleveland's bungalow on Hood avenue. Mr. Brown, who is a railroad man in Colorado, was here for a few weeks to see the family settled, but has returned to his work. The move to the lower altitude was made in the interest of the health of the elder son.

William Childers, rural carrier on route A, was required to take another examination on Saturday last to qualify himself for his new position. He is now the carrier of a motor route, as distinguished from a horse route, and is in a new classification with an increased salary. As he had no opposition the examination was a mere matter of form.

Miss Minnie Palmquist visited at the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Palmquist, over Sunday. Miss Palmquist is employed as waitress in the small diningroom of the Portland hotel. Other over-Sunday guests at the Palmquist home were Mrs. Naomi Reynolds of Portland, a sister of Mrs. Palmquist, and the former's daughter, Mrs. Rich of Anchorage, Alaska.

A. W. Metzger's merchandise store was entered through the back door sometime last night and two or three watches, a few pocket knives, several scissors and some cigars taken. The door was unlocked with a skeleton key. Two suspicious-looking men were seen on the streets late last night who have not been seen today. So far there is no clue to either the burglars or the missing goods.

COUNTY AGENT'S HELP IN BUYING HORSES

The U. S. War department has recognized the economy and convenience of county agent co-operation in buying its war horses. At a horse sale arranged by C. C. Cate, county agent of Jackson county, at Medford last week, nine head of cavalry horses were bought at $135 per head, and twelve artillery horses at $165 each. There was no commission and the growers received just what the government had to pay.

A still larger sale was arranged by R. A. Ward, county agent of Crook county, at Redmond on October 17 and 18. Since the uncertainty of making a sale to the Government on account of the high standards required, Mr. Ward arranged to have buyers of horses for other purposes present in considerable number from Idaho, Oregon and Washington. All good animals that failed to qualify for the army were sold at public auction to the highest bidder. Thus farmers and other horse men were justified in bringing in all good and merchantable stock to the sale, and about 500 head were on hand.

This practice has proved a great advantage over the commission method in which a good deal of profit went to middle men and considerable trouble and uncertainty attended the sale.
