BARRACKS BUILDING AT LENTS RADIO PLANT

Plans and specifications have been submitted to three local contractors for several buildings to be erected by the government on the grounds of the wireless station there.

They will be in the nature of a barracks, the inference being that a company of soldier guards will be placed there for protection of the plant which is the most important one in the northwest.

How to Prevent Croup.

In a child that is subject to attacks of croup, the first indication of the disease is hoarseness. Give Chamberlain's Cough Remedy as soon as the child becomes hoarse and the attack may be warded off and all danger and anxiety avoided.—Adv.

Christmas greetings came by cablegram to Mr. and Mrs. Chas Cleveland from their daughter, Miss Maude Cleveland, who is in France, working under the children's bureau of the Red Cross. A letter received a few days ago, tells of Miss Cleveland being in Paris arranging for a Christmas treat for the 500 children in the institution over which she has supervision. She expressed the wish that all contributors to the Red Cross might see the relief and cheer which is given to the suffering children. Miss Cleveland says "Don't neglect to write often to your friends in France. They need your cheering letters."

"Archibald," the pig that Harry Westell caught in the greased pig contest at the grange field day sports last summer, has just been sold to Brown at the Gresham market, and brought his young owner $17. The cost in money of raising the pig was $5, which was paid for mill feed.

A Christmas eve party was held at the home of Mr. and Mrs. S. J. Bliss at Rockwood. William Eley, manager of the Hippodrome and wife, accompanied by about a dozen others, were present. Refreshments were served accompanied with music and dancing.

The infant boy of Mr. and Mrs. S. B. Hall died on Christmas eve after an attack of stomach trouble. The funeral was held on Wednesday at the Powell cemetery, Rev. J. Montcalm Brown officiating.

GRESHAM LOCALS

Mrs. B. W. Emery entertained on Christmas day Mrs. Kathryn Naugle and Mrs. Ida Dunlap of Portland.

Mrs. C. M. Oliphant spent Christmas at Newberg as a guest at the wedding of her niece, Miss Floy Langworthy.

Will Hessel has so far recovered from his recent accident that he is able to be at the store a few hours each day. He is improving slowly but surely.

G. H. Dammier and wife have gone to Portland for the winter. They have rented their farm and dairy herd to a Mr. Heitsman who is living on the place.

Mr. and Mrs. R. W. Calkins had as guests for the week-end Mrs. Will Thompson and two children from Boise, Idaho, who were on their way to California.

Prof. Joseph Finley will meet his large chorus for practice on next Wednesday evening, Dec. 2. It is urged that all members make a special effort to be present.

Frederic and Miss Kathryn Honey are spending their vacation with their parents, Mr. and Mrs. Geo. F. Honey. Both are students at the University of Washington.

The dance advertised to take place on Monday evening in Regner's hall was a big success. It is announced that there will be another dance given there next Monday evening.

Christmas day guests at the home of Mrs. P. A. Gould were Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Look and children of The Dalles, Mr. and Mrs. H. L. Ball of Pleasant Home and Mr. and Mrs. N. O. Fuller.

H. L. St. Clair and family went to Fairview on Christmas eve, where they were the guests at dinner of Mrs. H. M. Shaw and Mr. and Mrs. Leslie St. Clair. Leslie returned to Ft. Stevens on Christmas day.

Mrs. Ray H. Todd and children, of Ridgefield, Washington, and Mrs. Ernest Peterson and children of Shaw, Oregon, are spending the holidays here visiting with relatives and friends. They were the guests on Christmas of their father, F. A. Halliday.

Richard J. Werner was confirmed as county agent of Clackamas county on Monday by the county court. There was a small opposition but the budget committee appropriated sufficient money to pay one year's salary and his situation is secure for that length of time, at least.

Mrs. H. L. Wostell entertained on Christmas day Mr. and Mrs. George Leslie, Mrs. A. Hevel and daughter Vivian. Mr. Wostell, who is running a garage in Seattle, and Mr. Hevel, who is working in a logging camp at Vincent, Oregon, were neither able to come home for Christmas.

Mrs. Etsel Jones came down from Seattle Monday and spent a few hours in Gresham. She was called here by the sickness of her uncle at Oswego, and returned to Seattle on Tuesday. She reports that Etsel is well and very busy in connection with government work at Bremerton.

Mr. and Mrs. R. F. Walters were the guests on Christmas day of Mr. and Mrs. W. B. Parsons. A special treat of the day was a sample of maple sugar, which Mr. and Mrs. Walters had received from New Hampshire. The New Englanders could vouch for the genuineness of the confection.

Christmas gifts of special interest have been received by Mrs. H. L. Wostell and daughter Helen from the former's sister, Miss Lulu Sweet, who is head surgical nurse in the Rockefeller Institute, Shanghai, China. The gifts were fur neck pieces of Siberian fox and China mink respectively.

A splendid offering was made at the Christmas exercises at the Methodist Episcopal church on Monday evening. The total collection amounted to $64.12. The largest class offering was by Mrs. St. Clair's class, which gave $24.05. The offering of the men's Bible class was $7.10 and that of the women's class $6. The money is for the relief of

A large family gathering was held at the home of Mrs. C. Merrill on Christmas, when there were present Mr. and Mrs. Max Ruhle, Mr. and Mrs. A. J. Nye and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. C. O. Merrill and two sons, Mr. and Mrs. L. G. Merrill and daughter, R. H. Stanley, Edwin Prichard, the Misses Birdine, Ethel and Olive Merrill and Romain Smith.

Dr. and Mrs. George Inglis entertained on Christmas with a 5-o'clock dinner. The house was tastefully decorated with Christmas greenery and the table was beautiful in its dainty appointments. Mysterious place cards were at the places, which gave, not the name of the guest, but some descriptive statement. Each was obliged to guess the riddle and find his or her own place. The guests were Mr. Wm. Light, of Troutdale; Mr. and Mrs. Merritt Mauer and children, of Portland; Mr. and Mrs. C. I. Raker and son Ellsworth, Miss Miriam Inglis, of Toledo, and Miss Emma Johnson.

GRAND OPERA COMING TO THE AUDITORIUM

What will no doubt constitute the supreme musical-theatrical event of the season in Portland is the announced week engagement at the Municipal Auditorium, beginning Monday, January 7th, of the San Carlo Opera company, that splendid organization made famous a few years back by such singers as Nordica, Campanari, Alice Nielsen and others of prominence. The San Carlo company numbers more than one hundred members, and there are some twenty of the most distinguished European and American stars among this total. Other noteworthy features of the company are a large and brilliant singing chorus and a complete symphony orchestra.

In the coming Portland engagement eight different productions will be given, with almost entire change of cast for each opera, while the magnificent scenic and costuming effects carried by the company permit of the operas being presented upon a plane of metropolitan splendor. Another feature that should appeal strongly to all who love grandeur and beauty in musical art, is the matter of prices which, owing to the immense seating capacity of the city's new big playhouse, will be of the popular character, no seat costing more than two dollars and ranging down as low as fifty cents.

Among the notable singers coming are Manuel Salazar, the sensational Spanish tenor; Elizabeth Amsden, late leading soprano of the Chicago Opera; Mons. Joseph Royer, new French baritone from the Paris Opera; Mme. Edvige Vaccari, coloratura, of Florence, Italy; Signor Giuseppe Agostini, dramatic tenor, former co-star with Caruso at the Metropolitan, New York, and many others.

Local opera enthusiasts desiring to attend the performances may have their tickets set aside by mailing their orders to Wm. Adams, care Auditorium, Portland, designating what price seats are preferred, ($2, $1.50, $1, 75c, 50c) and adding the government war tax of ten per cent to their remittances. The regular public seat sale opens Wednesday, January 2d, at Sherman & Clay's Music store, 315 Morrison street. The operas announced are: Monday, January 7, Aida; Tuesday, the double bill—Cavalleria Rusticana and Pagliacci; Wednesday, Lucia Di Lammermoor; Thursday matinee, Martha; Evening, Faust; Friday, La Gioconda; Saturday matinee, Tales of Hoffman; evening, Il Trovatore.

TWO GRESHAM STORES ARE BROKEN INTO

Two Gresham business houses, that of S. E. Palmquist and the Sanitary Meat Market, were entered by burglars sometime during last night and a quantity of goods stolen from each place.

Palmquist's harness store was entered from the rear by simply unlocking the back door. About $30 worth of automobile gloves and a suitcase were taken and probably a few other things that have not been missed yet.

The Sanitary Market was easily entered from the front, as Mr. Delt, the proprietor had left the front door open on account of the air circulation needed, and had simply used a wire screen door which was fastened on the inside. The screen was cut and the rest was easy. Among the articles missing are some hams, cheese, two buckets of lard and several big round steaks.

So far there is no clue as to the burglars, but the sheriff's office was notified and a lookout is being made for them.

A WORD OF PRAISE FOR GOOD WORK WELL DONE

Portland, Dec. 20.
Editor Outlook:—I am just in receipt of a copy of your Christmas Number, and it is indeed a splendid paper—chuck full of news and patriotism, nicely and tastefully printed and well edited—a paper that would be a credit to any city. When it comes to questions of temperance, religion, morals and all things that appeals to the best in mankind, the Outlook can always be relied upon to be on the right side.

I deem the prosperity and substantial growth, together with the moral standing of your beautiful little country town, to be largely due to the efforts of your wide awake and up-to-date paper, which is run by efficient and competent men. Long may the Outlook live and prosper and continue to be a power and influence for good in the city of Gresham and all Multnomah county.

Wishing you a prosperous New Year, I remain your respectfully,
A. L. KEENAN.

Remember the Wheatless and Meatless Days and keep them wholly.

FLOOD DOES GOOD JOB IN CLACKAMAS

It's an ill wind and an ill rain that brings forth no good, and last week's heavy rainfall and flood did one good job when it tore out the fish rack in Eagle Creek and we hope it did the same for the salmon rack at Clackamas.

We truly hope that those racks are now well afloat and headed towards the Pacific and that no successors will be builded in their places.

For a time it was rumored that the River Mill hatchery would be engulfed and no large amount of effort would have been made by the residents of this section to save it, for between the hatchery and the racks, salmon fishing in the nearby streams is almost a thing of the past. We suggest that the honorable fish authorities, both federal and state, try the experiment of leaving the Clackamas river and Eagle Creek open for a year, thereby, during this season of high cost of fish products, allowing the home angler a chance to catch his home supply of salmon and steel head.—Ectacada News.

A Happy New Year

Another year has rolled around—a year that has brought changed conditions that we did not expect.

The loyal American adapts himself to these changes when they are to the interest of his country. We believe Eastern Multnomah has few citizens that are not loyal and we want to congratulate you Mr. Loyal American Citizen for the way you have come through in all the requirements asked of you thus far.

May this New Year bring peace and prosperity to all. We want to thank our patrons for their patronage during the past and hope to merit their continued patronage during the new year.

Sincerely

L. L. Kidder Hardware Co.
