PREVENTING GRAIN SMUTS EXPLAINED

Methods by which farmers may increase their stand of grain, secure higher yield and decrease dockage, are explained in a new College bulletin written by Prof. H. P. Barss. By following the steps outlined the serious losses annually resulting in Oregon from the slipshod methods of seed treatment will be eliminated.

Grain growers are warned against using the directions printed on the labels of formaldehyde as usually supplied by druggists. These directions are for the most part out of date or not adapted to Oregon conditions.

New treatment directions are being prepared at O.A.C. for the use of druggists, in an effort to remedy this situation. In addition to this, every farmer can get his own set of directions free by writing to the Oregon Agricultural College, Corvallis.

War Gardens.

"The Home Garden" will be the subject of consideration at the Euseville Grange Saturday evening, March 30th. Prof. A. G. Bouquet of the Oregon Agricultural College will be the speaker of the evening.

Mr. Bouquet is the head of the vegetable garden department of the O. A. C., and will have some good things in store for those present. The lecture hour will be open and everybody is invited to attend whether you are a grange member or not.

Rheumatic Pains Relieved.

"I have used Chamberlain's Liniment for pains in the chest and lameness of the shoulders due to rheumatism, and am pleased to say that it has never failed to give me prompt relief," writes Mrs. S. N. Finch, Batavia, N. Y.—Adv.

MELROSE AND VICTORY.

The pie social was a good success, in spite of the fact that smelt fishing in the Sandy was so attractive as to take away some of the people who otherwise would have attended. The crowd, though not a large one, was a patriotic one, and the pie and packages brought in more than $35. Bananas and oranges were sold which netted a good profit and the grab bag was a huge success, being sold out long before the fun was over. One gift of $5 and other smaller ones, brought the total up to $51.66. This will be used to purchase material for making garments for Belgian and French children.

"It never rains but it pours" is proving true in the home of Mr. and Mrs. W. S. Wood. About three weeks ago their son Howard, who is attending high school in Portland, came down with measles, and the wards being full at the hospital, he was obliged to come home and thus expose the other members of the family. He was seriously sick but is now able to return to his work. Mr. Wood and the children all took the measles and some were very sick. Mrs. Wood is the only one who has escaped, but the continued nursing and a severe cold combined to put her off her feet. Mr. and Mrs. I. T. Wood are caring for them. Dr. Inglis has made several visits on the various members of the family.

LIBRARY NOTES.

Are you planning a war garden? In addition to the best books on gardening, the library has a splendid collection of late pamphlets from the Oregon Agricultural College. The Garden Magazine for March and April has excellent articles on vegetable gardening.

Boys who are planning to make bird houses for the Audubon society to place along the Columbia River Highway will find suggestions for designs at the library.

Books for the soldiers may be left at the library. Text books especially are wanted but all books you can spare are needed and will be gratefully received.

Subscribe for the Outlook for "the boy." It will follow him to the camp and his twice-a-week visits will be just like letters from home.

J. G. Mast, manager of the Jones' Mill company's lumber yard, has bought the residence and property directly across Powell street from the yard. He has moved into the house with his family and is making several permanent improvements.

Frank Eder has left the employ of the L. L. Kidder Hardware company for a position as tractor engineer for Spencer & Rauw, who have several hundred acres to plow, including more than one hundred for the Sundal ranch. Mrs. Godfrey Anderson, a former resident of Gresham, died in Good Samaritan hospital in Portland last Friday and was buried in Multnomah cemetery. Mrs. Anderson leaves a husband and five children, the youngest being five years old. One little girl 11 years of age is at the home of Mrs. Albert Ekstrom, who is caring for her. The little girl was brought here sick two weeks ago, but is now much improved. It was at first thought that she might be suffering with scarlet fever, but the trouble has proved to be nothing serious.

The regular practice of the Gresham Choral society will be held at the grade schoolhouse tomorrow night. The attendance of late has been interfered with by various things, much to the dissatisfaction of Mr. Finley, the efficient director. Good work cannot be done unless all take an interest and give faithful attendance. It is hoped that a large number will be on hand tomorrow night.

Miss Margaret Burke, Miss Glacy Michel and Miss Hester Thorpe, students at the State Normal, spent the Easter holidays at home. They were back to school this morning ready to take up their work again until the end of the school year in June.

Petitions are being circulated throughout Multnomah justice district for the renomination of M. M. Squire as constable.

GUSTAVE OLSON WRITES FROM SOUTHERN CAMP

August Olson of Boring has received a letter from his brother Gustave, who is in a southern camp, or was when the letter was written, which was more than a month ago. The letter was delayed in transit. He tells of a visit to Richmond and says, "It was a fine trip to that old historical city with all its statues of our Revolutionary and Civil War heroes. There seemed to be something about the city that I fancied. Perhaps it was the beautiful day, for it was the first fine day since I left Texas and there was something in the air which made me think of Oregon, although my time was too much occupied to give that much thought."

The writer gives high praise to the patriotic spirit of the city of Richmond as Red Cross and service flags were displayed in nearly all the windows. He seems to be busy and happy as he says: "I am well and fine and enjoy my time off as well as on duty." It is supposed that Gustave has sailed for France before this.

RESIGNED AS GUARDS TO HELP BUILD SHIPS

M. M. Squire and Walter C. Burch went to the city hall yesterday and resigned their positions as guards on the Bull Run pipe line. They went to work this morning at the North Portland shipyards.

Mr. Squire will have charge of the night shift of twelve hours, and both of them will have to go on duty at 6 o'clock. They will be taken to their work by automobile each evening and return home in the same way every morning.

While their resignations as guards was partly caused by the prospect of increased wages that is not their only reason for resigning as guards. The work had become irksome because of a lack of harmony, and some of the other guards were making trouble. They were at home here when off duty and the hours were shorter, but they made the change to avoid trouble that was imminent.

Mr. and Mrs. Johnson are receiving many congratulations.
