The Baptist Missionary society will meet next Thursday, May 2, at the home of Mrs. G. W. Stapleton. Mrs. E. S. McCormick, the leader, will review the book "Kiona." A program will be published later.

Mrs. H. J. Stocker has as guests her daughter, Mrs. Margaret Lawe, of Seattle, and her sister, Mrs. Fred Richie, of Prince Rupert, B. C. Mrs. Richie is a prominent worker in Red Cross and other war relief work in the province. She is seeking rest from her heavy work by a brief visit here.

Wilbur Harmon, formerly a jitney driver with the Ford Quick Service company, is now operating a cordwood camp two miles southeast of Boring. He is camping there with his family and has a crew of men working on a contract. He was a Gresham visitor yesterday on business.

Alto C. King has recently remodeled his law office at the end of south Main street, by bringing the front wall out to the sidewalk line, making a hallway to the porch. New doors and windows and completion of the garage annex, together with some changes in the approaches, have made a wonderful transfiguration of the building and its surroundings.

C. E. Osburn is making some alterations to the front of his brick building. He has taken out the wall on the north corner and replaced it with a window which will be of advantage in giving light to the showroom of the garage which is now in that part of the building since he moved the blacksmith and machinery department into the annex. Claude Stockton has been doing the work.

Sunday services will be held at the Baptist church as usual next Sunday commencing with Bible school at 10 a. m. Rev. E. A. Leonard will have charge of the morning service at 11 o'clock. WILL TRAIN SOLDIERS TO BE TECHNICIANS

Uncle Sam will train 300 soldiers of his national army in the laboratories of the Oregon Agricultural college, beginning about May 10. The men will be selected from the different camps of the country and trained to be technicians in certain important lines, notably shop work, radio or wireless operation, automobile driving, and care of machinery. They will work at their trade under the regular faculty men, but will be in charge of their regular army officers. Prof. F. H. Shepherd has been named assistant to the director at Washington, D. C., and will have charge of the training in the five northwestern states—Oregon, Washington, Idaho, Montana and Wyoming. It is expected that the work of training men in groups of 300 or more will be continuous throughout the war.

THE PACIFIC FOR TOURING

In its scenery, in its climate, in its openness to most easterners the Pacific Northwest has an asset that will be used to help win the war. The Government is already seeing to it that the lumber, shipbuilding facilities and food of the states of Oregon and Washington and of the Province of British Columbia are employed to the utmost. The vacation facilities of the region, "Our International Playground," are being represented to those who can use them by a series of advertisements in Eastern magazines. These advertisements are inserted by the Pacific Northwest Tourist association and paid for with money appropriated by the legislatures of the two states and by the Provincial parliament.

The association is advertising in a total of twenty-four magazines that circulate throughout the United States. All of the magazine advertisements are pages or half-pages. Advertising in newspapers will begin for the season next month. The newspaper advertisements will be adapted to the circumstances of the communities where they are published the same as last summer, when the people of the provinces and states immediately east of the Pacific Northwest were told of the coolness of the coast.

Winning the war is the theme of all these advertisements. A sample is one that appears in Leslie's Weekly for April 20. The lure of the country is presented by a photograph of a hard-surfaced road on which two automobiles are rounding a high rock. A mighty river stretches away as far as the eye can see. At the top and bottom are separate strips of photographs of links with golfers and trees.

With Europe closed to travelers, this summer is a favorable time to present the enticements of the Pacific Northwest on an appeal of pleasure-seeking. But instead of this the writer of the advertisement puts before the reader the real reason why the latter should come this summer to "Our International Playground." "If you are putting the maximum amount of work in your business," reads the text of the advertisement,

"and in all those win-the-war movements you are interested in, you must take a vacation. Spend it this year in the Pacific Northwest."

"Here are more forms of recreation than in any other resort region of America—in an unrivaled, cool, sunny climate; where you may breathe the pure, invigorating mountain and sea air of the world's greatest out-of-doors."

TUSCANIA SURVIVOR WRITES OF ACCIDENT

Mrs. Elmer L. Phelps, of Gresham received a letter this week from her husband, who is slowly recovering from the effects of being shipwrecked and nearly drowned, following the torpedoing of the Tuscania on February 5. Mr. Phelps is at a rest camp in England. Excerpts from his letter follow:

Just got out of the hospital. I have been in there just five weeks, wasn't able to write. Our ship torpedoed and sunk on the evening of February 5th; our life boat was the last to leave the ship, there were 50 in all, we struck a rock and threw all of us out in the ocean. There were only nine got out alive. I was badly hurt and nearly drowned the last time I went down. I wished I could see you and the children once more, but I came up and was washed ashore and landed on a big rock, and lay there until morning. The water was like ice. I was packed in on a stretcher, but am not ready by any means to give up yet. The blood came from my lungs for three days. I have to report to the doctor every morning. Oh, it was too terrible to describe. I never care to experience such a sight again. They had my name among the lost for a long time over here. When I went to the hospital I didn't have tooth brush, comb or anything. Didn't save my hat even. The Red Cross gave me a little money but it didn't go far. There is lots I would like to tell you but we are not allowed to.

FRANCE ONLY PLACE FOR MAN THESE DAYS

Gypsy Smith, one-time vagabond, the world's greatest evangelist and for the past three years a Y. M. C. A. war work secretary with the British army on the western front says: "I've been loving people all my life, but I could shoot the kaiser and feel that I was doing a favor to God. The Kaiser's God is my Devil." Gypsy Smith has been standing beside the fighting men through all the grime of the trenches, making his "machine-gun speeches" where the big guns were rival orators.

"Every enemy must be bent toward stopping the Germans," he said in New York recently. "The kaiser is a beast. His people have been fed on the belief that they must crush the British Empire, and then 'England's spawn, the Americans.' We've got to fight the war to a finish. We must put the Germans where they are in no position to do the world further harm. Germany has shamed the soul of the whole world."

"Going back?" he said. "Of course. In a hospital in England I talked with a mere boy who had been wounded four times. He was all shot to pieces. When I was leaving, after a long talk with him, I said, 'Well, sonny, where will we meet again?' His eyes flashed, 'In France, sir!' he said. 'Surely you don't want to go back to France?' I asked him. 'Ah, don't!' he said. 'Where else is there for a man these days?'"

FOUR-MINUTE SPEAKERS GO WITH MR. ALDERSON

Mention was made in the Outlook of the patriotic entertainment given at Orient by the pupils of the eighth grades from various schools of the county. The contest four 4-minute speakers—of whom six were to be selected—was won as follows: Genevieve Bates of Gilbert was first, with Edgar Sloop of Orient second. The others were Lillian Beemer, Pleasant Valley; Violet Carrell, Powell Valley; Maurice Brown, Gresham; Sam Harlow, Troutdale. County Superintendent W. C. Alderson took these pupils in charge and has had one of them accompany him each night this week at a public athering and took them all with them to the West side on Thursday night. He has been conducting these meetings every night this month, except Sunday nights, visiting every school district. Public speakers from Portland and children from the various schools furnished the entertainments. These meetings began at Gresham on April 1, and will finish at Corbett on the evening of the 30th.

Nature Cures, the Doctor Takes the Fee. There is an old saying that "Nature cures, the doctor takes the fee," but as everyone knows you can help Nature very much and thereby enable it to effect a cure in much less time than is usually required. This is particularly true of colds. Chamberlain's Cough Remedy relieves the lungs, liquefies the tough mucus and aids in its expectoration, always the cough and aids Nature in restoring the system to a healthy condition.—Adv.
