RED CROSS ADVERTISING

The twenty-two names of business men or firms signed to the big Red Cross advertisement on the third page of this issue have shown their sympathy and patriotism again for a national cause. It is not to be supposed that the list covers every such person or firm, as it was not possible for the Red Cross committee to visit them all, and it is well known that those who are not represented are just as patriotic and liberal as the others and are making contributions in other ways.

The Outlook has received but a small sum for the space, just enough to pay for the cost of publishing the advertisement. The women of the Red Cross have raised the sum of $14, for the cause by the insertion of an advertisement that will carry the moral weight of the indorsement of every signer thereto.

MEMORIAL DAY

It is not too early to anticipate Memorial Day. Those who believe that May 30 should be celebrated as a day of sport are advertising that they will run true to form. In an eastern city an automobile race will be given where something like $30,000 will be given in prizes. In various other places events will be arranged by promoters who expect to gain a large financial return. But for the country at large, we believe, Memorial Day this year will be a day of peculiar significance. It will not be a day wholly devoted to sport, to fun and to frivolity, but a day set apart to be observed in a manner intended by those who founded the nation.

Memorial Day was instituted to commemorate the valor shown by the men who preserved the nation during the civil war. Since the Spanish-American war, the graves of the dead of that conflict also have been decorated. A beautiful custom, added to the original program, is that of strewing flowers on some stream of water, in memory of the men who were lost at sea.

This year, perhaps, more than in any other year of the nation's history Memorial Day should mean something. Each day brings to us a new list of casualties. Each day swells the total of American boys who have answered the last roll call. So this year we shall pay tribute to the men of the civil war, of the Spanish-American war and of the World war.

With a renewed sense of the obligation we owe to fighting men, we should pay an additional tribute this time to those who have died to free the world from Prussian rule. The civil war veterans are getting too old to take complete charge of the plans for the day that always has meant so much to them. In various places the fraternal orders have relieved the veterans of much of this work and have pledged themselves to perpetuate the custom. This is a movement that should grow throughout the country. And this year Memorial Day should be set apart for what it really is.

THE PRESS IN WARTIME

While every newspaper in the land is intent on giving its readers the latest and best news, and while they are all boasting of their associated and special service, there remains the fact that the biggest scoops any newspaper can score today is a correct interpretation of war news. One of the most serious menaces to the successful conduct of war by a democracy would be lethargy and a lack of imagination, in its ideal sense, in newspaper offices.

Yet any scoop in war-time that gives away information about war plans is a treasonable act, or a near relative to it. The freedom of the press and of speech is a relative freedom on which the effective prosecution of war involves of necessity, certain restrictions. And there is a field for honest criticism which cannot be surrendered without impairing the essentials of liberty and the preservation of the nation itself.

It is a generally just and proper recognition of all these principles that has maintained, and will continue to maintain, an efficient American wartime press under a virtually self imposed censorship. The American press in this national crisis, has placed itself on its honor as seldom or never before. The federal government knows, and the American public knows at least in part, what that means.

Every newspaper in this country which, in a burst of excessive zeal to present the news, or without good and sufficient excuse for its mistakes, violates the code voluntarily adopted by the American press as a whole, would immediately occupy the position of an outlaw in the estimation of the newspaper fraternity at large. The American press, considered in general is sound to the core.

The campaign against rotten eggs is progressing. Isn't the government restricting the rights and opportunities of people enough already without stopping them from making a little easy money with rotten eggs? The consumer only has to pay for them and doesn't have to eat them.

A Chicago minister says he doesn't think a street corner masher ought to be killed outright, as there may be a chance to reform him. We remember that the late Sam Jones used to say that you may be able to reform a scoundrel, but what in the name of eternity can you do with a fool?

Whenever you look at the statue of Liberty, remember that she is there to remind you to buy Liberty bonds, contribute to the Red Cross, come across with your share of the war chest money, and do all other things that are necessary nowadays.

Sometimes it looks as if when the primary pot begins to simmer a lot of fellows will shake their heads and say to their convictions: "You take a vacation for about three months; here's where I go batty."

The weather man may have to be interned if he lets the rain last too long. Still, nobody gets a grouch when the weather man falls down on a probably-frost-protect-the-tender-plants prediction.

After the Liberty statute is unveiled next Sunday we can turn our attention to other more or less important matters. The candidates will all know where to head in at by that time.

Just think what a fine time the liberty bond coupon clippers will have next month. But think of the Red Cross before then and divide your interest with it.

If Mr. McAdoo really said that a democrat didn't look any better to him than a republican, we'll bet that he wasn't comparing Wilson and Roosevelt.

No one knows where the Hun will strike next, but we are of the opinion that the Sammys will make him strike a trot for the other side of the Rhine.

Gresham would like to see one of the British tanks. It is said that they are not at all like the tanks we sometimes saw about two years ago.

Some of the retailers don't appear to have the information possessed by Mr. Hoover of the decreasing price of wheat flour substitutes.

An election without the spoils of the candidates before the voting begins would be like a circus without the peanuts and red lemo.

Taking German out of the curriculum seems to be the most effective way of teaching American school pupils patriotism.

Uncle Sam has a job waiting for every defeated aspirant for public office where many of them can be of more service.

In planting your pole beans be sure to plant them right side up. Otherwise how would you get your poles to the vines?

Mr. Hoover says the prices of substitutes do not justify any advance in bread prices, but we are paying it, anyhow.

The service performed by many party workers for their candidates often proves to be a mere labor of love.

Maybe some of the fellows thought that $640,000,000 appropriation was for airgraft instead of aircraft.

A lot of candidates will find out tomorrow that there weren't enough votes to go round.

A movie picture of Sunday's exercises at the fountain might help to win the war.

Sedition is not going to be as safe a sport as it once was.

Proper Food for Weak Stomachs.
The proper food for one man may be all wrong for another. Every one should adopt a diet suited to his age and occupation. Those who have weak stomachs need to be especially careful and should eat slowly and masticate their food thoroughly. It is also important that they keep their bowels regular. When they become constipated or when they feel dull and stupid after eating, they should take Chamberlain's Tablets to strengthen the stomach and move the bowels. They are easy to take and pleasant in effect.—Adv.

POOL THE POOLPLAYERS

The order to make a census of farm laborers suggests something:

Pool the labor resources of the country.

That is the idea of the powers that be to solve the shortage of labor.

They seem to think that much of the labor of this country has not been pooled.

Watch the Portland pool rooms and the pool tables.

That is where much of the potential labor is pooled every day.

If those fellows who have been pooled there had to work half as hard in the field as they work around the pool tables, the farmers would never have to call for help to plant or cultivate or harvest their crops.

But those are the classes of men who never work.

They are strangers to any steady job.

They never know what a hoe or plow handle feels like.

If they were carried to a farm it would require all of the farmers' time to keep them at work.

They are too busy with the pool tables to enlist in the National Guard.

They are too busy with the pool tables to take the cue to go over the top with other Americans.

They are too busy with the pool tables to buy liberty bonds or thrift stamps, or help the Red Cross and Y. M. C. A.

Like the fly, they toil not neither do they spin anything but a pool ball, but they wear good clothes, they attract the eye of the damsels, they manage to get enough to eat.

Oh, yes, the "labor" of the country has been pooled, all right—two much of it. Look at the loafers in the city pool halls and see.

WILL DISCONTINUE GERMAN LANGUAGE

Gresham, Ore., May 14, 1918. TO THE GRESHAM PUBLIC:—

Recently we were notified by a representative of the town council that the use of the German language in our public worship must be discontinued. The main reason given is that a few people have a hatred against anything which in the least way is connected with the enemy of our country. We have discussed the matter and have come to the following conclusions. In such action we see an injustice done to loyal Americans and a transgression of our country's laws and therefore an un-American act. In worshipping our God we have peaceably gone our own way without molesting anyone, and, as citizens, we have earnestly and conscientiously strived to be loyal and patriotic in a way befitting Christians and Americans. What may be said in disrepute as regards the use of the German language or the actions of German-speaking people elsewhere does not apply to us and does not find us guilty. But since it has been so decreed we have decided to comply with the request of the council for the sake of peace and harmony in our own community. We reserve the right, though, to conduct the coming Sunday service with the celebration of communion in the German language because arrangement for these services had been made prior to this matter.

Signed by the church council of the Zion Evangelical church.

A Splendid Record Achieved.
H. W. Snashall, president of the Farmers Mutual Fire Relief Association, reports the association has broken all former records in 1917. The annual statement shows 383 new members gained, 17 fire losses paid, members paying $4911; $1,036,677 of income written, one assessment levied, and $700 invested in liberty bonds during the year. The association is entering its 14th year, and has over 4000 members carrying $4,250,000 insurance. It has made an annual saving of over 50 per cent to its members. At the annual meeting in January Andrew Brugger of Gresham was re-elected director for the ninth year. Farmers desiring to join may obtain information from H. W. Snashall, Gresham, R. A. or Herman Loeding, secretary, 409 Stock Exchange Bldg., Portland.—Adv.

CATHOLICS IN THE ARMY.

The Northwestern Christian Advocate in its issue of March 20, published a most comprehensive tabulation of denominational population in fifteen camps and cantonments. These figures disproved the Roman Catholic claim that 35 to 40 per cent of the American soldiers are Catholics. The Northwestern now reports three additional camps and adds: "Comparing the Methodists and the Roman Catholics, with these added figures, the Methodist Episcopal church has a total of 69,425; the Roman Catholic, 86,159. This gives the Methodist Episcopal church, on the basis of 381,967 men, a population of 18.1 per cent, and the Roman Catholic, 22.5 per cent. By the reports thus far obtained there is but a fraction over two per cent difference between the two churches; and were all the branches of Methodism considered, the percentage would go beyond that of the Roman Catholics. We have repeatedly stated that the Roman Catholic church (in this country) was loyal to the cause of the allies and was displaying commendable patriotism. No responsible churchman has denied them this. There has been an absence of boasting on the part of the denominations, but because of this fact it is unfortunate that our Roman Catholic brethren should arrogate to themselves an unusual degree of patriotism, particularly since they base that claim upon figures that have thus far been disproved."—P. C. Advocate.

The Parent-Teacher association had their last business meeting for the season on Friday evening in the Red Cross rooms. A silver tea was held in connection with it, and friends came in making the attendance about sixty. Over $8.00 were taken in, to be used in expenses of the juvenile fair to be held in the fall. The annual election of officers resulted as follows: president, Mrs. A. D. Kendall; vice president, Mrs. Frances Fox; secretary-treasurer, Mrs. Janet Grant; directors, Mrs. Wm. Crawford and Mrs. Geo. Lumsden.

The Pleasant View schoolhouse could hardly hold the crowd that attended the Red Cross entertainment Saturday evening. B. G. Skulason, from Portland, made the address of the evening, and his talk was considered even better than when he was at Troutdale. A service flag with three stars was dedicated in honor of the boys in the war from the community. About $35 was realized from the supper and cakes, including a Red Cross cake, auctioned afterward. Some of the cakes were given back and auctioned again. The money cleared will be sent to headquarters in Portland. Several attended from Troutdale.

Mrs. Geo. Milks of Bay City, Oregon, returned to her home Saturday after a week's visit here with her sister, Mrs. Wm. Cummins.

There will be a called meeting of the Troutdale Ladies' Aid on Wednesday, May 22, at the church sewing room, to make comfort kits for our soldier boys.

Born, Saturday evening, to Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Cummins at the Good Samaritan hospital, a son.

Mrs. L. A. Harlow has been appointed head of the second Red Cross drive in this district.
