If you actually knew that by buying only those things you absolutely needed and by putting your savings into War Savings Stamps you could save lives, would you do it? Take the word of the President that you do save lives when you do this.

If you will think more of saving than of spending you will be surprised to learn that there are many things which you do not need after all.

Many of our poorer citizens are undergoing real sacrifices that they may be able to show their patriotism by buying War Savings Stamps.

Save for the country's sake.

We expect, as a matter of course, that our soldiers and sailors will do as they are ordered. We oftentimes do not think it necessary to do what our Government asks us to do. Why should we not be just as prompt in our response? Our men are ordered to expose themselves to the guns of the Huns. We are asked only to save and to loan our savings to the Government. Can we refuse this request?

In England they say, "Every shilling wasted stabs a soldier in the back."

Pro-Germans probably think the War Savings campaign a foolish one. A war saver is a life-saver.

Cholera Morbus.

This is a very painful and dangerous disease. In almost every neighborhood someone has died from it before medicine could be obtained or a physician summoned. The right way is to have a bottle of Chamberlain's Colic and Diarrhoea Remedy in the house so as to be prepared for it. Mrs. Charles Eneyart, Huntington, Ind., writes: "During the summer of 1911 two of my children were taken sick with cholera morbus. I used Chamberlain's Colic and Diarrhoea Remedy and it gave them immediate relief."—Adv.

CIVILIAN POPULATION IS ALSO OUR ALLY

Separated by 3,000 miles of ocean and protected by our Navy, our civilian population can during this war continue to live in the same security as in peace times. The Hun invaders are not in our midst. We are spared the agony that came to the women and children and old men of Belgium and France and Serbia and the other over-run countries. While thus secure from harm we must not forget that the civilian populations of these desolated countries are as much our allies as are their fighting men. Let us realize more deeply their tragedies.

Read this testimony of Brand Whitlock, who as our minister to Belgium knows what it means for a land to be occupied by German troops:

"Tammes is a little mining town on the Sambre. The little church stands on the village green overlooking the river, its facade all spotted where the bullets and grapeshot splattered against it. And in the little graveyard beside the church there are hundreds of new-made graves, long rows of them, each with its small wooden cross and its bit of flowers. The crosses stand in serried rows, so closely that they make a very thick, with scarcely room to walk between them. They were all new, of painted wood, alike except for the names and the ages—thirteen to eighty-four. But they all bore the same sinister date—August 22, 1914.

"The Germans began to pillage and burn the houses, 676 of them; then they turned all the inhabitants into the street, promiscuously marching them about. It went on for hours; they were given no food or drink. During a halt they forced them to lie beneath the machine guns, then they lined them up against the church wall and performed a mock execution. About 600 men were massed in Tt. Martin's square, on the river bank, and their wives, mothers, daughters were assembled by the soldiers to witness the scene.

"They lined up their victims in three rows along the Sambre and tumbled 150 of them head over heels into the river, shoving back with their bayonets those who attempted to cling to the bank. Only four or five escaped by swimming. During this first execution the machine guns were trained on the remaining lines. When the firing had ceased that night, there were more than 400 dead; their bodies lying there, women, too and children. And the graves are there near by, in the cemetery, and the ages given are from 13 to 84."

The part that these civilians played in the war was to bring to the civilized world the realization of what it would mean for German arms to conquer. In playing their part they gave their lives in the most cruel way a beastly enemy could devise.

What part will our civilian population play in the war? Will it go along living as it did before the war, or will it glory in the opportunity to serve in the tremendous task of defeating civilization's enemy? Each individual must decide that question. He can prolong the world's agony or he can save—save and sacrifice—to the utmost of his ability and with his savings buy War Savings Stamps that there may be more money, labor, and materials to back up those who fight and die not only for us, but for all who love freedom.

BARTON MAN GORED BY HOLSTEIN BULL

W. P. Ferrel of Barton, one of the best known farmers in this community, now lies at his home in a serious condition, as the result of being severely gored and trampled by a monstrous Holstein bull which he owns.

The accident occurred Tuesday morning, with the enraged animal knocking Mr. Ferrel down, and only driven off after the victim was in an unconscious condition.

An immediate examination by Dr. Adix revealed broken ribs, a left ear almost completely severed, bad scalp and body wounds, possibly a broken shoulder and internal injuries.—Estacada News.

Acting on instructions issued by National Fuel Administrator Garfield, Fred J. Holmes, fuel administrator for Oregon has notified all coal dealers that they cannot add the extra freight charges, effective June 25, to their retail prices unless they have actually paid the charge themselves. In other words Uncle Sam is determined that the new freight rate elevation shall not be made the excuse for profiteering. Violators of the order will be punished.

Sour Stomach.

This is a mild form of indigestion. It is usually brought on by eating too rapidly or too much, or of food not suited to your digestive organs. If you will eat slowly, masticate your food thoroughly, eat but little meat and none at all for supper, you will more than likely avoid the sour stomach without taking any medicine whatever. When you have sour stomach take one of Chamberlain's Tablets to aid digestion.—Adv.
