LUSTED

Fay Tombling and his uncle, William Strack of Sandy, went to southern Oregon on a business trip. Jake Hossner accompanied them.

The fires that have been causing so much trouble in the neighborhood are about all out.

E. N. Hamilton, who has been working for the P. R. L. & P. Co., for the past year and a half, is now working for the Cameron Lumber company at Bull Run.

Mrs. G. Lusted is enjoying a vacation at the seaside.

Miss Marie Dollowitch, who has been taking a vacation at home for three weeks, returned to her work in Portland last Monday.

Theodore Neibauer is selling his farm implements and will quit farming on account of ill health. He has rented his farm to his nephew, Irvin Neibauer, who will take charge of the crops. The former will go to the hot springs for the summer.

W. B. Davies was taken suddenly sick last Monday night. Dr. Geo. Inglis of Gresham was called and at this writing the patient is much improved.

PLEASANT HOME

A very pleasant birthday surprise party was given on James McGinnis at Gresham Saturday evening, July 13. Everybody had a fine time. A luncheon was served with ice cream and cake.

Thomas Hale is driving a tractor at the Sun Dial ranch.

Mrs. L. Zahn visited home folks over Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. Dillion, of Portland, visited Sunday with Mr. and Mrs. I. C. Denny.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Caddy visited Mr. and Mrs. John Ickler Sunday.

POWELL VALLEY

Mrs. Carl Nelson will give a lawn party on Thursday evening, July 25, for the benefit of the Red Cross. Ice cream and cake and coffee will be served. All are invited.

COTTRELL

H. D. Griffin, clerk of the board of relief for Multnomah county, is enjoying a brief vacation at his summer home at Cottrell.

BORING MAN GETS IN TROUBLE FOR REMARKS

I. H. Pippes, a rancher of Boring, will have a hearing before U. S. Commissioner Drake in Portland Friday, for alleged violation of the modified espionage act. He is reported to have vigorously denounced the government at the time of being solicited for War Savings Stamps, and is charged with saying, "The government has done nothing for me, and I do not propose to do anything for it." Federal authorities came up Tuesday and arrested him, and he will be tried under that provision of the constitution which says it shall be an offense for any person to use "disloyal, profane, scurrilous language about the form of government and constitution of the United States."—Oregon City Courier.

ESTACADA BOY HURT WORKING IN FIELD

The local exemption board Wednesday received notice that Oliver Hendren, one of the class 1 registrants selected to leave here with the increment for Camp Lewis on the 24th, was seriously injured by getting his legs mixed up with the sickle of a mowing machine, which he was operating in a hay field recently. His limbs were so badly lacerated that he will be unable to answer the call at this time, and a substitute will be taken in his place. He lives at Estacada.

Don't delay buying that Blue Flame oil stove, the price will surely advance. See L. L. Kidder Hdw. Co.

Doing Good.

Few medicines have met with more favor or accomplished more good than Chamberlain's Colic and Diarrhoea Remedy. John F. Jantzen, Delmore, Sask., says of it, "I have used Chamberlain's Colic and Diarrhoea Remedy myself and in my family, and can recommend it as being an exceptionally fine preparation."—Adv.

BIG JACK KNIFE IN TOMMY'S KIT

BEHIND THE BRITISH LINES IN FRANCE, June 12.—Every soldier in the British army in France is provided by the government, as part of his overseas kit, with a jack-knife.

The military jack-knife is built for service. It has only three parts—a big blade of Sheffield steel, a can-opener, and a "marlin-spike." The whole thing snaps into a solid steel or bone handle four inches long, which is provided with a ring so that it can be hung to the belt.

The can-opener is an indispensable part of the provision for a soldier's well being at the front. Several important items of his daily menu are supplied to him in sealed cans.

The Sheffield blade has numerous uses too obvious to need mention, but it is noticeable that Tommy Atkins frequently uses it for the purpose of eating in preference to the table knife in his kit.

The knife-blade is also used constantly as a wood-cutter. In the trenches the lighting of a brazier is frequently a difficult operation owing to the vital necessity of avoiding smoke. The Germans have a strong antipathy to smoke, and the sight of it rising from the British trenches arouses in them disturbing evidences of envy, hatred, malice and uncharitableness. It is well, therefore, to avoid smoke. So the wood for the brazier must be split up into thin sticks and shavings, and for this purpose the official jackknife is the ideal instrument.

When the soldier is withdrawn from the trenches it is his first duty to make himself and his belongings clean and presentable for inspection. Tommy bangs his coat on a peg and "shaves" it with the knife blade.

The marlinspike attachment is useful for prying open wooden boxes, for cleaning stones and mud out of the horses hoofs, for adjusting belts and harness. Braziers for the trenches are made from biscuit tins punched full of holes to admit a draught.

The Germans were, for a long time greatly puzzled by the marlinspike attachment which they found on every British prisoner's jack-knife. They made great capital out of a story that it was used to gouge out the eyes of German wounded. In the official report of the British Prisoners of War Commission, several instances of this fable are recorded.

Captain Beaman testified before the commission that he was berated by a German Colonel for permitting his men to use their marlinspikes on the eyes of German wounded. Captain Browne told the commission of listening to a Uhlán major who was giving a lecture and who exhibited a British jack-knife, showing the marlinspike attachment and describing it as for torturing German prisoners. The story appears to have been deliberately cooked up by the German military authorities for the consumption of their troops.

UNDERWATER SEARCH FAILS OF ITS OBJECT

Up to yesterday noon, no sign of the body of Engineer William Murray, who perished in the freight wreck at River Mill on Thursday of last week, had been found and the supposition that the remains were still in the cab of the locomotive has proven false.

A professional, deep-sea diver with proper equipment spent a day or two on the scene early this week, having gone to the bottom of the Clackamas and examined the cabs of both locomotives.

The coat of the dead engineer was found a few days before in the drift wood near the grating of the nearby dam, but it is supposed this coat had been hanging on a hook in the engine cab at the time of the accident. It is now believed the body has floated from the wreckage and will be found near the dam within a few days, as due to the coldness of the water, it would require several days for the remains to come to the surface.

GARFIELD READY FOR BUMPER PRUNE CROP

With a liberal government established prune price awaiting their products this fall, the prune growers of Garfield and other nearby sections are looking ahead to netting a profit.

All growers are now giving their attention to their driers, which this year will be taxed to capacity, with a number of them being enlarged, including that of Walter Snuffin which is being doubly increased by the addition of three more tunnels and the Crawford brothers making similar provisions.

Mr. Snuffin spent a day in Portland this week in the interests of that district's growers, buying a thousand or more additional prune picking boxes, which means that hundreds of pickers will be employed this fall in harvesting the crop.

Huts in Porto Rico. Three Y. M. C. A. huts have been erected at Camp Las Casas, near San Juan, Porto Rico, where Porto Ricans are being trained for service.

STRONG "outside connections" are fundamentally important to any bank that seeks to serve its community well. City terminals and markets must be kept in constant touch so that business men and farmers, shippers and manufacturers can cooperate to the best interests of themselves and their Government.

No financial institution in this community has more advantageous outside connections than we have in the numerous correspondents with which we transact our commercial business in the various large cities of this state and country.
