Mr. and Mrs. Parsons and Mrs. Maxwell Schneider accompanied Mrs. W. F. Honey on her weekly trip with goodies for the sick boys. They took plums, apples, candy and flowers. Following the visit to the hospital the party stopped in Portland where a birthday supper was given at the Millionaire's Club cafeteria by Mr. Parsons.

All members and friends of the Women's Home Missionary society are reminded of the basket picnic in connection with the business meeting to be held on the lawn at the home of Mrs. R. R. Carlson. General picnic lunches will be brought and placed together. Each one is to bring knife, fork, spoon and cup. A community sing will be a feature of the evening and a good collection of old song books and modern songs will be appreciated. The picnic is free to all and no collection will be taken. However, a mite box will be there to receive any thanks offerings. The date is August 14.

The first draft on the sugar bank comes from the trenches and the fighting lines. The boys at the front are living under trying conditions, many times in mud and water and cold. Sugar is a fuel for the body and the boys need the fuel. Sugar provides the quickest and most valuable reactions in heat and energy, therefore when the weather is severe in the trenches the sugar consumption by the troops necessarily becomes high. Think of this before you take that extra spoonful of sugar. Keep to your two pounds per month ration, or cut it lower, if you want to do your share of backing up the boys at the front.

Eat less sweet food. Put less sugar in tea and coffee and dissolve completely what you do use. Use less on cereals. Do not frost cakes. Eat less candy. Use other sweeteners, such as maple syrup, honey etc., instead of sugar for cooking and with cereals, hot cakes etc.

STATE MASTER SPENCE AT GRESHAM GRANGE

State Master C. E. Spence was a visitor at the session of Gresham Grange last Saturday evening and delivered a characteristic address on what he said was for the good of the order. It was along the lines of advice in how to build up the grange and inculcate its ideas in the farming business.

The principal necessity of the grange, he said was to increase its membership by the enrollment of the young people of the community. They will be needed in the future to carry on the work of the grange, for they are soon to become the men and women upon whom the nation must rely for its advancement; and as the nation advances the grange must keep pace with it or fall behind.

Another idea for the grangers to bear in mind is that of marketing all produce so that the producer shall get the most out of it. This is the greatest economic problem and has never been fully solved, although many attempts had been made, some of which have been successful. By co-operation with the people who have something to sell which is not produced in another district an exchange of commodities can often be made and better markets established.

Mr. Spence gave several illustrations of how this had been done by an organization for buying certain products that could not be grown at home, thus supplying their own demands and relieving a congestion elsewhere.

The other parts of the evening's program were made up of solos and grange songs. Especial mention should be made of the singing of Miss Della Towle and Mrs. W. Kettleman, which was truly excellent and called for an encore in both cases.

After the close, ice cream was served. A number of visitors were present during the open session.

WAS HE RIGHT?

"The American people will gladly make any sacrifice in consumption and in the production of foodstuffs that maintain the health, comfort and courage of the people of the Allied countries. We are in fact, eating at the common table with them."—President Wilson's message to Allied Food Controllers in London.

Almost seventy percent of the sugar consumed in this country is used in the households, so it is up to the women to make the sugar go around.

Out of the last harvest the American people by abstinence, saved 140,000,000 bushels of wheat to feed the hungry allied nations; and we are going to stay on the job and see it through.

Guarantee the soldier's ration by sticking to your own.

SIMON M. DOUGHERTY BURIED HERE TODAY

Simon M. Dougherty, a former resident of Gresham, died at his home near Snowden, Wash., on Saturday last and was buried in the Gresham cemetery this afternoon. The remains were brought to the undertaking establishment of W. H. Hamilton at Montavilla where the funeral services were held before coming here.

Mr. Dougherty was aged 69 years, 10 months and 10 days. He had been ill but a few days, death resulting from a paralytic stroke. He is survived by his widow Elizabeth Dougherty, and was the father of Mrs. A. M. Beinhof of Mapleton, Ill.; Mrs. Grace Talbot of Portland; and Mrs. Mae Newman of Mosier. He was a member of the grange.

O. A. C. PROSPECTS ARE BRIGHT FOR FUTURE

That there will be an increased attendance of young women at the Oregon Agricultural college next year is indicated by the number of inquiries received at the office of the registrar. Practically all of the dormitory rooms have been engaged, but it will be possible to accommodate all girls who wish to attend. Many men, who ordinarily would be in the College are now in some form of national service, but much interest is being shown in the Students' Army Training Corps which will be established at the College next fall and a large enlistment is expected in this organization. Those who join will be constituted members of the army of the United States.

FARM TRACTOR MAKES RECORD AT TARR RANCH

Seven interested farmers from Washington County were witnesses of a tractor exhibition on the farm of O. W. Tarr on Sunday. The Farm Tractor & Implement Co., of which Mr. Tarr is president had a tractor of the Emerson-Brantingham & Co. manufacture demonstrating its capability and usefulness in plowing and it showed its superiority over other methods in a remarkable way.

Mr. Tarr has organized his company with a view to introducing the E-B Tractor here and is carrying on these demonstrations as a means of advertising them more fully throughout the northwest.

Ask Anyone Who Has Used It.

There are families who always aim to keep a bottle of Chamberlain's Colic and Diarrhoea Remedy in the house for use in case it is needed, and find that it is not only a good investment but saves them no end of suffering. As to its reliability, ask anyone who has used it. —Adv.

It Is Just What Uncle Sam Wants

At the request of the U. S. Food Administration our Company has loaned one of our Modern Electric Ranges to be used for the Food Conservation Demonstrations now being conducted in the Liberty Temple.

Do you want any stronger approval of any cooking device than this?

Uncle Sam asked us for an Electric Range because it fills the bill better than any other Cooking Device made.
