HOSPITAL UNIT MAN HELD IN CONTACT CAMP

C. V. Thomas has received a letter from his son Edric of the 46th Hospital Unit, written from overseas and indicating that he has been held in a contact camp somewhere "over there." In his letter, which was written July 9, he says:

Well, I am still alive and perfectly healthy as yet. Was held in a contact camp so unable to write. The unit has gone on ahead of me and have had no pay or letters either, so hope to find them when I get with them. They are right on the job now from what I hear. Hope to be with them in a week or so. Was held back on account of being in the same stateroom on board ship with a guy who had measles.

Went through the art galleries and museums and wax works yesterday with a regiment of the police here in this city and to a movie after "tea." They are about two hundred years behind the times here.

We are in a large city so far north that we have only about two to three hours of darkness at night.

Nobility here is sure crushing the common people and filth and disease rule supreme.

Was unloading canned goods a day or two ago and handled some hominy known as the "Kickapoo" brand and put up by the Peoria Canning company. Lots of canned goods from the "States" here.

Kenneth Harvey, living near Rockwood, purchased a Ross ensilage Cutter and blower the other day at Hessels'.

MUSTARD GAS WORST

Most Horrible Invention Huns Use in War.

It Brings Tears and Causes Painful Skin Diseases Among Soldiers.

Washington.—The most dangerous kind of poison gas used by the Germans is "mustard gas," or dichlorodithiophosphide.

Mustard gas has a distinctive but not altogether unpleasant smell, more like garlic than mustard. It is heavy and oily as a liquid. It boils at 217 degrees centigrade, and thus has properties whereby it can be distributed in the form of a spray on the impact of a shell.

Mustard gas is a powerful producer of tears. After several hours the eyes begin to swell and blister, causing intense pain. The nose discharges freely, and severe coughing and vomiting ensue.

Direct contact with the spray causes blistering of the skin, and the vapor penetrates through the clothing. Gas masks, of course, do not protect against this. The symptoms are similar to pneumonia—high fever, heavy breathing and often stupor.

The damage done by mustard gas is a slow and insidious development. The breaking down of the affected tissues is slow, the height being reached from five to ten days after the burn is received. The painlessness is also a marked characteristic. Healing is slow.

Mustard gas besides being used in direct attack, is also used for "neutralization." For instance, where supplies and ammunition are being brought up, a few mustard gas shells will result in dangerous confusion and delay. A part of the infantry is "neutralized" by having food and ammunition cut down. If the shell hurts as well as neutralizes, so much the better.

The American mask to fight mustard gas is of the box respirator type. The hood is of rubber. Breathing is through the mouth, pinners shutting off the nostrils. The gas-charged air enters through the bottom of the canisters, where by means of neutralizing chemicals, it is purified. From the top of the canister the air is drawn into the lungs.

There is a one-way shutter valve in the hood, through which the air comes out. This mask is designed to last ten hours. For artillerymen the war department has made an oil suit which encloses the soldier bodily.

MULTNOMAH GRANGE IN CONTEST PROGRAM

The regular meeting of Multnomah grange will be held in the hall at Orient next Saturday, August 24. The lecture hour program is in charge of Mrs. Myrtle Hall, as captain of one of the contest teams. She has arranged for an address by Prof. S. F. Ball of Franklin high school in Portland. Besides the address, several interesting numbers of music and readings will be given. A good attendance is desired.
